Says It Needs No New Defense Plans Or Economic Nudge

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—President Eisenhower rates America as history's most powerful nation. He says it needs no giant new defense programs or any massive economic shot in the arm from the federal government.

The President ended a cross-country speaking tour on that note Monday night—a nine-day trip billed by the White House as non-political. Today he flies back to Washington to prepare for putting on his political gloves in a stretch-drive effort to elect the Nixon-Lodge ticket.

Friday evening Eisenhower will address a nationwide television audience from a rally in Philadelphia. A week from Wednesday he will be in New York for another major political address which will be carried coast-to-coast on both radio and TV. He may make additional speeches.

Eisenhower, a native Texan, got a roaring welcome to Houston from a police-estimated crowd of 300,000. He carried Texas in 1952 and 1956, and the backers of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, hope the President's great popularity will keep the state in the Republican column Nov. 8.

Nixon's rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, has been hammering throughout the campaign at his contention that U. S. prestige has slipped abroad during the Eisenhower administration. He says America is strong militarily but needs to be stronger, and that the Soviet Union is outpacing this country in rate of economic growth.

Eisenhower said at Rice University: "If we, today, look at ourselves in true perspective, we see a great nation—the most powerful the world has seen, with a confident, virile people, a vigorous, expanding economy."

Estimate Covers Rest Of Year

Dag Requests $66 Million For U.N.-Congo Operation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold today laid before the General Assembly a budget of $66 million to finance the U. N. Congo operation for 1960.

The long-awaited estimates cover the period from July, when the U. N. operation began, to the end of the year. An additional $100 million or more is expected to be requested later for the 1961 budget.

The Congo costs already have been the subject of hot debate in the assembly's 99-nation Budgetary Committee, where Soviet bloc delegates have announced they will not contribute anything to what they call the "dirty role" of the United Nations in the Congo.

The secretary-general has indicated that the funds should be raised by assessments on the member nations on the same scale as their regular budgetary assessments.

Soviet Bloc Expected To Press Cuban Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet bloc was expected to press in the U.N. steering committee today for quick General Assembly debate on Cuban charges that the United States is mounting a large-scale invasion against Fidel Castro's regime.

With the Soviet Union, Romania and Bulgaria all members of the 21-nation committee, the Communists were seen certain to push hard for speedy debate of the charges in a plenary assembly session instead of in the political committee, the normal U. N. procedure.

In a memorandum accompanying the aggression charges, Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa cited the three Americans executed recently for their part in an anti-Castro expedition that landed in Cuba's Oriente province. He also claimed that arms had been dropped in central Cuba by a four-engine plane with U.S. markings.

The memorandum said Cuban authorities had reliable information that a large-scale U.S. invasion against Cuban soil would be launched soon.

New Decree Orders 167 More Seized

Only 213 Now Left Untouched, Most Of Which Are Small

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government today confiscated the most valuable remaining American-owned firms in Cuba to retaliate for the United States embargo on most exports to Cuba.

A new nationalization decree ordered the seizure of 167 firms, leaving 213 American companies untouched. Most of those still not in government hands are comparatively small, and U.S. officials estimate their value at probably no more than $25 million.

This is exclusive, however, of the $85 million Moa Bay Mining Co., which was not confiscated although it has been controlled by the government under intervention for months. There was no explanation for why Moa Bay was not seized outright.

The confiscation order covered most of the $250 million in American property left here. Before Castro's government started its wholesale seizures, American citizens were estimated to have owned or controlled a billion dollars worth of property in this island nation of six million people.

The latest government decree cited Washington's recent embargo on all American exports to Cuba except food and medicine. The decree called the embargo "exceptional aggressiveness" and "designed to strangle our economy."

Notable exceptions to the newest nationalization included the Moa Bay Mining Co., an $85 million nickel and cobalt operation in Eastern Cuba.

Among the firms nationalized were Sears Roebuck, Woolworth's and the operating firm for the U.S. government's Nicaro nickel plant, which has a $110 million book value.

Also still untouched was the big U. S. Navy base at Guantanamo, on the east coast, which the United States holds on a perpetual lease. Castro has said he would, at some future date, demand that the United States give up the base. But he said he would make his demand through legal channels, possibly meaning he would go to the World Court.

Like the American owners of other properties seized previously by the Castro regime, owners who lost their holdings today are expected to get no compensation.

A Castro decree provides that compensation will be paid out of a percentage of the proceeds from Cuban sugar sold in the

Nixon Blasts Downgrading By Kennedy

Says Democrat Not Prepared To Cross Our New Frontiers

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today there are new frontiers ahead for America, but Sen. John F. Kennedy is not prepared to cross them.

The Republican presidential nominee told a crowd police estimated at 5,000 persons in Marietta, Ohio, that his Democratic rival is "dangerously downgrading" the United States by saying that it has lost prestige in the world.

Noting Kennedy's "new frontiers" campaign slogan, Nixon said these frontiers exist. But he said the Democrats offer the country nothing new for the future.

"They are going to try to ride across these new frontiers in the same old jallopies that were broken down in 1953 and useless now," he said.

"Yes, there are new frontiers, but they will not be crossed by downgrading this country and weakening it."

Nixon was greeted by a small crowd when he got off his campaign train in Williamstown, W. Va., to drive to Marietta for his first speech of the day.

The Republican nominee said the voters will be deciding in the Nov. 8 election whether they are going to pay higher prices for everything they bought. If his opponent is elected, Nixon said, prices and taxes will go up.

Defense Chief Hits Talk U.S. 'Second Rate'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. said today any claim that United States military power is "second rate is simply not supported by the facts."

The Cabinet member, in a speech which his aides said was nonpolitical, stated among other things: "We have, I believe, every right to deeply resent the many implications now current that we are dissipating" the nation's defensive strength.

Gates said the Soviet Union knows the United States is a first-rate military power, and he used what appeared to be a reference to the U2 spy plane incident to support his statement.

Raid Hearings Are Postponed

Legion Defendants' Cases Receive Delay

Scheduled hearings for a steward and doorman at the Chester American Legion Post 121, cited in a Friday night raid for liquor violations, were postponed Monday night for two weeks.

Kiszczak was charged Friday night when Mayor Collins, a patrolman and two persons deputized as special officers entered the veterans club to check on reported illegal sales of whisky. Police said the doorman hindered immediate entry of the club.

A delay was also granted in a hearing before Squire Eugene Allison for Ray Gilliland of Carolina Ave., steward of Post 121 who was charged by the mayor with illegal possession of liquor.

The continuance was requested by Atty. Jordan on behalf of Gilliland and also by the mayor who said he wished more time for himself and City Solicitor Ruth Cox Turner to study the case. The hearing was also re-set for Nov. 7.

Police said two partially filled fifths of whisky and an unopened bottle were found at the club.

Mayor Collins, who vowed a "cleanup" of Chester when he took office, led the visit to the club with Patrolman Clarence Lennens and Alvin Arner Jr. and Don Chaney, city residents who were deputized just prior to the visitation.

Kennedy Rips At GOP Rival On Education

Says Nixon Raised False Issue To Beat U.S. Aid To Schools

IN ILLINOIS WITH KENNEDY (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy campaigned in Chicago suburbs today with a charge that Richard M. Nixon raised a false issue to defeat federal aid to education.

The Democratic candidate said the false issue is a fear that federal controls would go along with federal funds.

Kennedy made the charge in a speech prepared for delivery at a shopping center in Carpentersville. It was one of many stops planned in a 14-hour motorcade of an area heavily populated with young families.

Kennedy said Nixon, his Republican opponent, could have passed in the Senate last February a bill providing federal funds for school construction and teachers' salaries. The Senate tied 44-44 on the issue. The Vice President may vote to break the tie.

"But he did not vote," Kennedy said, "and then he made his position clear. He voted to break another tie and prevented reconsideration of the measure.

"His explanation was that he feared federal control—I say Mr. Nixon has deliberately raised a false issue—has created a political bugbear—to defeat federal aid to education."

Kennedy said the U.S. government already makes payments to 3,300 local school districts where federal activities have created population jams, "and no one has made a single complaint that federal controls resulted."

There has been no federal control, either, in the long-standing program to help colleges through land grants and similar devices, Kennedy said, and that any any-rate Congress could write explicit safeguards into any school aid bills it might enact.

Salem Council Passes Income Tax Ordinance

SALEM, Ohio (AP)—City Council Monday night unanimously passed an ordinance calling for a tax of one-half of one per cent on income earned in the city, beginning next Jan. 1. A previous income tax ordinance passed by council Aug. 21 was vetoed by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, who said the yield would be in excess of the amount needed.

The new ordinance calls for the tax to be in effect for one year. The old one called for the tax to become effective Oct. 1 and last for 15 months. The city will receive an estimated $150,000 from the tax under the new ordinance.

Girl, 16, Cited In Wreck Of Station Car

Rogers Driver Hurt In Another Mishap Reported By Patrol

A Northside Ave. girl received minor injuries when her station wagon veered off Dewey Ave. Ext. and overturned down an embankment Monday afternoon, while a Rogers area man was hurt in a Route 7 mishap last night.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the girl lost control on a curve, and the 1952 vehicle went off the roadway and down the hillside some 30 feet.

The girl, a senior, apparently tried to grab at some items on the front seat when they began sliding at the curve, and momentarily lost control of the vehicle, the family reported. The vehicle received heavy damage.

The girl was cited under the Juvenile Code for traveling at a speed in excess of road conditions, the patrol said.

Harry Falkner, 25, of Rogers R. D. 1 suffered a cut of the right cheek when his 1955 coach veered off Route 7 about 3 miles south of Rogers at 9:15 p. m. and struck guardrails.

Delay Granted 4th Defendant In Gas Thefts

Acting Municipal Judge Robert A. Kapp today ordered a continuance until Nov. 4 at 10 a. m. in the preliminary hearing for James Ronald Glover, 104 Church St., Chester, one of 4 men facing charges so far in connection with alleged theft of huge quantities of gasoline from a River Rd. "tank farm."

Glover was released under $1,500 bond last Friday afternoon after he had been jailed on a charge of theft of 500 gallons of gasoline Wednesday from the American Oil Co. terminal.

Atty. Kapp is sitting in place of Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who is on a week's vacation. He said the hearing for Glover was continued with the consent of both the prosecution and the defense.

Atty. George A. Aronson, appeared today as counsel for Glover, while Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper was present to represent the state. Glover's hearing had been set for 9:30, but after an hour's delay the continuance was arranged.

Meanwhile, Robert Wright of Glenmoor and James H. Martin, 2021 Chester Ave., Wellsville, were released Monday after Atty. Edgar T. Darcy of Lisbon posted cash bonds of $1,500 for each man.

The two yardmen at the terminal entered not guilty pleas yesterday and waived preliminary hearings in Municipal Court. They were bound over to the Grand Jury by the acting judge on charges they stole 2,000 gallons of gasoline from the terminal last Wednesday. The

State Needs Acreage Near Westgate For W. 4th Relocation

A tentative offer of $11,046 for a small tract of land needed for the city expressway was given the Board of Education by State Highway Department representatives at a special meeting Monday night.

Van J. Anderson, right-of-way supervisor for the department's Division 11 headquarters at New Philadelphia, said the 1.391 acres is needed primarily for the relocation of present W. 4th St. Ext. on the east side of Westgate School.

During the discussion, Anderson revealed the department expects to open bids for construction of the new freeway from the city limits in California Hollow to W. 3rd St. on Nov. 28.

The tentative offer for the school property includes $8,340 for land at $6,000 an acre, $500 for damages and $2,206, a contractor's estimate for replacement of the present gas meter house which must be relocated.

The department also would pick up the bill for relocating gas lines, Anderson told the board.

Because Samuel W. Brown and James B. Moss were unable to attend, the board declined any formal action, but Leo C. Lawrence, president, C. Walter Ashbaugh, vice president, and James Lowe indicated the offer was "a fair one." Formal action is expected at the Nov. 7 meeting.

Anderson said he could only make a tentative offer since final approval must be obtained from his superiors.

Even if the board and the highway department agree on terms, a "friendly" court suit will be instituted to settle the case, the representative said.

Board members indicated the highway department's original offer of $8,950 was unacceptable, primarily because of the allowance per acre was below the original cost and the amount allowed for the meter house was insufficient.

The original offer included $5,500 per acre for the land, $800 for the meter house and $500 in damages. Supt. Ralph W. Betts said the $800

Police Raid 3 Weirton Bars

Proprietors Face Possession Charges

WEIRTON — Police raided three taverns Monday night, operating on search and seizure warrants signed by two patrolmen acting on special orders of Chief Joseph Rodak.

Patrolmen arrested the tavern operators shortly after 8 and charged them with illegal possession of alcoholic liquors.

They are George Reveaux, 56, of George & Kay's Tavern on Cove Rd., Raymond Lemsky, 37, of the ElDorado Cafe on Freedom Way, and Ann Myers, 44, of Ann's Place on Pennsylvania Ave.

All posted $250 bonds and are scheduled for hearings in Municipal Court Wednesday.

The warrants were signed by Patrolmen Don Mentzer and William Proffitt on orders of Chief Rodak, who said police will continue the crackdown on teen-age violations and enforce tavern closing hours.

"We won't tolerate any of these liquor violations," Chief Rodak said. "The men were instructed to make arrests whether on or off duty upon sight violations," he added.

Irondale Man Jailed On Numbers Charges

Marion Spires of Irondale was arrested at 6:30 a. m. at 4th and Main Sts., police said.

Spires had an envelope in his possession which contained several of the slips, police said. Officers said he had been under surveillance for some time.

Winter-Like Weather To Continue Tonight

Much colder weather is forecast for the East Liverpool area tonight as Old Man Winter continued a preview of what's to come. He's not due officially until Dec. 21.

Snow flurries and squalls provided unseasonable weather Monday and tonight the mercury will dip to a low of 28 to 32 degrees for a "freeze or frost." It will be warmer Wednesday.

Ohio Valley residents shivered as they observed cars coming through covered with snow. They apparently had been in the lake counties where an inch or two of snow fell. Some northern Pennsylvania counties got 6 inches.

Temperatures remained in the upper 30's yesterday but brisk winds added to the chill. Today's high will be milder with a range of 44 to 48 expected.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the presidential nominee, was due about 4 p.m. today on a special campaign train after a whistle-stop tour across southern Ohio.

Lodge is to introduce Nixon tonight at a national television appearance at 8 p. m. from Cincinnati Gardens.

There has been no indication yet from Nixon or his aides on the subject of the special telecast speech, except that it might be a major address.

Hamilton County Republicans said they were set to give Nixon and Lodge an enthusiastic boost, drumming up crowds for the Cincinnati Gardens rally and for motorcades in Greater Cincinnati.

Lodge was scheduled for a noon television appearance (Ruth Lyons, WLW-TV). Ninety minutes

NEW YORK (AP)—The Estonian sailor who fled from Soviet Premier Khrushchev's liner Baltika says the West should "demand more from the Kremlin and yield less to false maneuvers."

Viktor Jaaminets, in his first formal speech since being granted political asylum here, told delegates to the Assembly of Captive European Nations Monday: "Many tremble behind the Iron Curtain waiting for deeds of men from among you and your friends."

Rogers Driver Hurt In Another Mishap Reported By Patrol

A Northside Ave. girl received minor injuries when her station wagon veered off Dewey Ave. Ext. and overturned down an embankment Monday afternoon, while a Rogers area man was hurt in a Route 7 mishap last night.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the girl lost control on a curve, and the 1952 vehicle went off the roadway and down the hillside some 20 feet.

The girl, a senior, apparently tried to grab at some items on the front seat when they began sliding at the curve, and momentarily lost control of the vehicle, the family reported. The vehicle received heavy damage.

The girl was cited under the Juvenile Code for traveling at a speed in excess of road conditions, the patrol said.

Harry Falkner, 25, of Rogers R. D. 1 suffered a cut of the right cheek when his 1955 coach veered off Route 7 about 3 miles south of Rogers at 9:15 p. m. and struck guardrails.

Delay Granted 4th Defendant In Gas Thefts

Acting Municipal Judge Robert A. Kapp today ordered a continuance until Nov. 4 at 10 a. m. in the preliminary hearing for James Ronald Glover, 104 Church St., Chester, one of 4 men facing charges so far in connection with alleged theft of huge quantities of gasoline from a River Rd. "tank farm."

Glover was released under $1,500 bond last Friday afternoon after he had been jailed on a charge of theft of 500 gallons of gasoline Wednesday from the American Oil Co. terminal.

Atty. Kapp is sitting in place of Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who is on a week's vacation. He said the hearing for Glover was continued with the consent of both the prosecution and the defense.

Atty. George A. Aronson appeared today as counsel for Glover, while Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper was present to represent the state. Glover's hearing had been set for 9:30, but after an hour's delay the continuance was arranged.

Meanwhile, Robert Wright of Glenmoor and James H. Martin, 2021 Chester Ave., Wellsville, were released Monday after Atty. Edgar T. Darcy of Lisbon posted cash bonds of $1,500 for each man.

The two yardmen at the terminal entered not guilty pleas yesterday and waived preliminary hearings in Municipal Court. They were bound over to the Grand Jury by the acting judge on charges they stole 2,000 gallons of gasoline from the terminal last Wednesday. The

Police Raid 3 Weirton Bars

Proprietors Face Possession Charges

WEIRTON — Police raided three taverns Monday night, operating on search and seizure warrants signed by two patrolmen acting on special orders of Chief Joseph Rodak.

Patrolmen arrested the tavern operators shortly after 8 and charged them with illegal possession of alcoholic liquors.

They are George Reveaux, 56, of George & Kay's Tavern on Cove Rd., Raymond Lemsky, 37, of the ElDorado Cafe on Freedom Way, and Ann Myers, 44, of Ann's Place on Pennsylvania Ave.

All posted $250 bonds and are scheduled for hearings in Municipal Court Wednesday.

The warrants were signed by Patrolmen Don Mentzer and William Proffitt on orders of Chief Rodak, who said police will continue the crackdown on teen-age violations and enforce tavern closing hours.

"We won't tolerate any of these liquor violations," Chief Rodak said. "The men were instructed to make arrests whether on or off duty upon sight violations," he added.

School Board Gets $11,046 Offer On Land

State Needs Acreage Near Westgate For W. 4th Relocation

A tentative offer of $11,046 for a small tract of land needed for the city expressway was given the Board of Education by State Highway Department representatives at a special meeting Monday night.

Van J. Anderson, right-of-way supervisor for the department's Division 11 headquarters at New Philadelphia, said the 1.391 acres is needed primarily for the relocation of present W. 4th St. Ext. on the east side of Westgate School.

During the discussion, Anderson revealed the department expects to open bids for construction of the new freeway from the city limits in California Hollow to W. 3rd St. on Nov. 29.

The tentative offer for the school property includes $8,340 for land at $6,000 an acre, $500 for damages and $2,206, a contractor's estimate for replacement of the present gas meter house which must be relocated.

The department also would pick up the bill for relocating gas lines, Anderson told the board.

Because Samuel W. Brown and James B. Moss were unable to attend, the board declined any formal action, but Leo C. Lawrence, president, C. Walter Ashbaugh, vice president, and James Lowe indicated the offer was "a fair one." Formal action is expected at the Nov. 7 meeting.

Anderson said he could only make a tentative offer since final approval must be obtained from his superiors.

Even if the board and the highway department agree on terms, a "friendly" court suit will be instituted to settle the case, the representative said.

Board members indicated the highway department's original offer of $8,950 was unacceptable, primarily because of the allowance per acre was below the original cost and the amount allowed for the meter house was insufficient.

The original offer included $5,500 per acre for the land, $900 for the meter house and $500 in damages. Supt. Ralph W. Betts said the $500

Winter-Like Weather To Continue Tonight

Much colder weather is forecast for the East Liverpool area tonight as Old Man Winter continued a preview of what's to come. He's not due officially until Dec. 21.

Snow flurries and squalls provided unseasonable weather Monday and tonight the mercury will dip to a low of 28 to 32 degrees for a "freeze or frost." It will be warmer Wednesday.

Ohio Valley residents shivered as they observed cars coming through covered with snow. They apparently had been in the lake counties where an inch or two of snow fell. Some northern Pennsylvania counties got 6 inches.

Temperatures remained in the upper 30's yesterday but brisk winds added to the chill. Today's high will be milder with a range of 34 to 48 expected.

Nixon, Lodge Join Forces To Kick Off Stretch Drive

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Republican standard-bearers join forces here today for their first public appearance since the June convention, to kick off the campaign stretch drive.

Henry Cabot Lodge, the vice presidential nominee, arrived just before midnight Monday night and stepped out of his chartered plane into a swarm of college-age greeters.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the presidential nominee, was due about 4 p.m. today on a special campaign train after a whistle-stop tour across southern Ohio.

Lodge is to introduce Nixon tonight at a national television appearance at 8 p. m. from Cincinnati Gardens.

There has been no indication yet from Nixon or his aides on the subject of the special telecast speech, except that it might be a major address.

Hamilton County Republicans said they were set to give Nixon and Lodge an enthusiastic boost, drumming up crowds for the Cincinnati Gardens rally and for motorcades in Greater Cincinnati.

Lodge was scheduled for a noon television appearance (Ruth Lyons, WLW-TV). Ninety minutes

Some Reports Exaggerated

Corruption Rumors Mar Superhighways Program

The United States is pouring huge sums into a highway program designed, ultimately, to let you whiz from coast to coast without a stop light. How well are the taxpayers' billions being spent? This is the first of four articles based on nearly five months' investigation of the project.

By BEM PRICE
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is now engaged on the colossal task of building 41,000 miles of superhighways at $1 million a mile.

For many months now, this massive, four-year-old project has been plagued by rumors of widespread mishandling and corruption.

After nearly five months of on-the-spot investigation across the nation, the findings indicate that some reports of the program's troubles have been exaggerated.

But they also indicate that, around the edges, the project is sometimes beset by politics and profiteering, folly and fraud.

And so is the 44-year-old federal-state program for building, primary, secondary and urban roads.

In most cases, excellent highways are being built at an apparently reasonable cost.

And once the superhighways are completed—in 1975 if all goes well—you'll be able to zip from coast to coast at 60 or 70 miles per hour without encountering a stop light.

Nevertheless, the programs are afflicted by problems ranging from simple ineptitude to brazen frauds—and taxpayers are footing the bill.

Every time you buy a gallon of gas you contribute four cents to the federal government's share of highway building costs. You pay an equal amount, or more, in state gas taxes.

Due to the vastness of the great federal program, even five months investigation could not cover the details in every state. Facts disclosed in one state, however, could apply to many. Much of what has been going on in the highway programs is already known to Congress. Further investigation by federal or congressional agents with subpoena power may disclose additional troubles.

Meantime, what has this reporter's survey turned up?

One land-buying scandal in Indiana has already been highly publicized. Two others of even greater scope appear to be brewing in Massachusetts and Florida.

In New Mexico a $1-million road began crumbling before it was half completed. At least four other roads in New Mexico are in "distress" though they are less than three years old.

These are only a few examples. There is, additionally, the $176-million federal bureaucratic goof which resulted in the building of 800 bridges too low to permit passage of certain defense equipment, including some missiles and tank field maintenance vehicles.

Two road-building programs across the nation are involved.

The first began in 1916 and under this program the federal government matches state road funds on a 50-50 basis. Currently the federal government is conrtibuting $925 million a year to this program.

The special "superhighway" program began in mid-1956. Under this program the federal government reimburses the states at the rate of 90 cents for each dollar spent.

These superhighways are designed to standards believed necessary to handle traffic in 1975. Fifteen years from now there will be an estimated 111 million vehicles on the roads, compared to 73 million now.

Upon completion, the superhighways are expected to carry about 20 per cent of the nation's traffic and will connect 90 per cent of all cities over 50,000 population.

Since July 1, 1956, about $3.5 billion, including $3 billion in federal funds, has been spent on the superhighway program.

In that same period $6.5 billion, including $3.4 billion in federal monies, has been spent by the states and federal government on the primary, secondary and urban road program.

At present the expenditure of another $5 billion for superhighways has been authorized, while $3 billion has been earmarked for primary, secondary and urban roads.

The federal contribution for this future construction will be $5,916,700,000 of the $8,065,900,000 total.

What has it all bought and what is it buying?

To date, 3,692 miles of superhighways have been built with federal financial participation to 1975 high-speed standards and an additional 3,139 miles of existing primary roads have been improved to meet needs of the 1960s.

Additionally, work is under way on 4,690 miles and rights-of-way are being acquired for 10,092 miles.

These figures do not include the several thousand miles of toll expressways incorporated into the interstate system but financed by the states alone without federal participation.

As for the primary, secondary and urban road program, approximately 100,000 miles have been built or improved in the past four years. Contracts have been signed for work on an additional 26,000 miles.

Mental Health Society Awaits Beaver Dinner

Gilbert C. Bacon of Pittsburgh, regional sales manager of the E. L. Bruce Co., will speak at the Beaver County Mental Health Society's annual dinner Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Park United Presbyterian Church in Beaver.

A special feature will be a tribute to Dr. Alfred E. Chadwick, whose term of office expires. Dr. Chadwick has been president six years since the founding of the society. There will be choral selections by the Dixmont Chorus, a group of about 25 patients for the hospital, an election of a third of the board members and recognition of volunteers.

Bacon, married and the father of two teenage daughters, has been a volunteer at Mayview State Hospital since March 1955. At present, he spends one night a week at the hospital working with regressed patients.

Work Session Staged At Boy Scouts' Center

LISBON — Sixty-five men, Scouters and Explorers attended the first work day at Camp McKinley Sunday to prepare the camp for winter, according to Bennet D. Taylor, Columbiana Council Scout executive.

Strackbein will discuss the serious threat facing the pottery industry as a result of imports of foreign products. Harry L. Gill, editor of The Potters Herald, pointed out the IBOP "has spent thousands of dollars over the years seeking a fair tariff to protect the jobs of its members."

Ike's Adviser Raps Theory Of Recession

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's chief economic adviser said today that economic facts do not "sustain the theory that we are heading into a recession" despite the summer dip in the nation's production.

"I think the American economy is today in a good position to make another major advance," said Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

His speech was prepared for the convention of the Iowa Bankers Association in Des Moines, but the White House distributed text to newsmen in advance.

Though couched in nonpolitical terms, the address furnished ammunition for Republican replies to the charges of Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, that GOP economic policies have contributed to unemployment and a slowdown in national growth.

Kennedy has not contended that the country is in a recession, though he has declared the recent lag in expansion calls for vigorous government action to stimulate credit and investment.

Some economists have gone much further, contending that the business indexes indicate a recession is coming or has actually arrived.

Saulnier took swipes at both positions. Much of the recession talk rests on the "shoddiest foundation of fact," he said, "and much of it is sheer speculation."

Predicting that the next decisive trend of the economy will be upward, he rejected policies based on easy money and deficit spending.

"I want to make it quite clear that this outlook depends on the continuance of sound and constructive economic and financial policies," the White House economist said.

Saulnier said recession talk "is currently having some retarding influence on our economy," by tending to cause businessmen and consumers to delay planned spending.

"But it is not an easy thing to talk an economy into a recession, and I honestly don't think it is going to happen to us this time," he said.

House Unit Checks U.S. On Prestige Poll Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee staff is checking whether the government has made and kept secret an overseas poll of opinions on U.S. prestige.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of a House Government Information subcommittee, directed the inquiry at the U.S. Information Agency (USIA).

His action followed a CBS radio report Monday that a secret poll made by the agency showed overwhelming belief in other countries that Soviet military strength will surpass that of the United States within 10 years.

Today, the New York Times quoted reliable sources abroad as saying a survey report by the USIA's research division found an almost unanimous belief that the Soviet Union is the leading military power.

George V. Allen, head of the USIA, declined to comment on the broadcast report or to say whether such a poll had been made.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, has made a campaign issue of what he calls declining U.S. prestige abroad. Both he and Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., have asked the USIA about any polls showing such a trend, but agency officials have replied that no recent poll on the subject has been made.

The White House last week denied a story in the Washington Post that a presidential committee on U.S. information activities had reported a decline in U.S. prestige.

The CBS broadcast said a government report compiled by the USIA research division in August contains the information about which Fulbright had asked.

The broadcast said the report gave the Soviet Union a slight edge in opinions of which country is stronger today and an overwhelming margin on relative strength in 1970. The broadcast said that despite Soviet gains, however, the report shows a general belief the United States will still have a strong retaliatory ability that will deter Soviet aggression.

He had planned also to tour by car through adjoining Campbell County, Ky., but cancelled it Monday in order to be at the suburban Oakley railroad station for Nixon's arrival.

With Nixon on the train were Mrs. Nixon and three Eisenhower Cabinet members—Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton, Attorney General William P. Rogers and Arthur Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare.

They will take a motorcade tour over a 10-mile route to their downtown hotel (Sheraton - Gibson) where the Republican Party and reporters reserved a total of 250 rooms.

The Cincinnati Gardens normally seats 15,000 persons for sports events, but capacity is expected to nudge near 20,000 for the rally.

A seat at the rally is on a first-come, first-served basis. Before Nixon's appearance, plans are for entertainment by Les Paul and Mary Ford, and Tony Pastor's orchestra.

In Oxford, Ohio, a Young Republicans club has sponsored a fleet of buses to bring an estimated 400 Miami University and Western College students to Cincinnati for the rally.

Republican officials said Nixon and Lodge plan a conference after the rally to chart their plans for the last two weeks of the campaign.

Lodge is expected to leave after the conference.

Nixon is to stay overnight and continue early Wednesday aboard his campaign train, heading to upstate Ohio, starting with Middletown, and including stops at Dayton, Springfield, Columbus, Marion, Lima and Toledo.

Many of the firms nationalized today had been under government control for some time, and the confiscation was only a formality. These included the Nicaro Nickel Co. and such top luxury hotels as the Riviera, Hilton, Capri and Nacional.

The government also has taken over operation of the Moa Bay Co., so its confiscation is only a formality to be taken when Castro needs something else to present to his people as a retaliatory action against the United States.

Also confiscated under the decree issued at dawn were the Cuban properties of the Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Westinghouse, General Electric, the Minimax chain of supermarkets, Reynolds International Aluminum, the Railway Express Agency, the Havana racetrack and Havana's only armored car service.

The confiscation also took in companies operating in the drug, automobile, mining, oil, insurance cosmetics, poultry, construction, bedding, sewing machine, machinery, clothing, textile and other fields.

The government had been operating many of these firms for some time, but this latest decree brings them under outright government ownership.

Parkersburg Blaze Kills 6

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Fire ripped through a frame home in the cold early hours today, taking the lives of a 47-year-old mother, four of her children and an infant granddaughter.

Dead are Mrs. McWilliams, a mother of fourteen; 12-year-old Patricia Ann, and three of her brothers, Robert Newton, 10, Johnny Michael, 9, and Billy Joe, 8, and 3-month-old Brenda Lee King.

Mrs. McWilliams was taking care of the baby, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. William King, were working. The rest of the McWilliams family are away from home.

McWilliams, a hauling firm employe in this Ohio River city, told firemen he awoke and screamed for help. Then he picked up the two children and ran from the flaming structure, described by firemen as poorly constructed.

He was suffering from burns and shock, but the boy and girl were not hurt.

The blaze was confined to the inside of the home, but it's cause was not determined immediately. State and city inspectors were to probe the debris later today.

Dead are Mrs. McWilliams, a mother of fourteen; 12-year-old Patricia Ann, and three of her brothers, Robert Newton, 10, Johnny Michael, 9, and Billy Joe, 8, and 3-month-old Brenda Lee King.

Mrs. McWilliams was taking care of the baby, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. William King, were working. The rest of the McWilliams family are away from home.

McWilliams, a hauling firm employe in this Ohio River city, told firemen he awoke and screamed for help. Then he picked up the two children and ran from the flaming structure, described by firemen as poorly constructed.

He was suffering from burns and shock, but the boy and girl were not hurt.

The blaze was confined to the inside of the home, but it's cause was not determined immediately. State and city inspectors were to probe the debris later today.

$550 Damage Listed For Cars In Collision

Damages of about $550 resulted when autos of a Glenmoor motorist and one from Midland were involved in an accident Monday at 12:50 p. m. on Route 68 a mile west of Midland.

The Rochester barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police reported that James Veglia, 24, of 13 Hillcrest Manor, Midland, attempted to pass a stopped tractor-trailer truck and hit the car of Stanley K. Curtis, 44, of Glenmoor, who was going in the opposite direction. The truck had halted to turn into a gas station.

Diggers Go Hunting

PRINEVILLE, Ore. (AP) — The first day of deer hunting season forced postponement of two funerals in this town of about 3,800. Nearly all the able-bodied men went hunting, which left nobody to dig graves.

Double-Talk On Disarmament

Just about any political candidate runs the risk of being accused of talking out of both sides of his mouth during the long course of his campaign. But Sen. John F. Kenndy pulled off a real feat in Milwaukee Sunday night by doing the double-talk trick within the scope of a single speech—and not once, but on several points.

The subject was disarmament and peace. The Democratic nominee accused his rival of offering nothing more in the effort for world peace than "more committees and more conferences."

BUT IN HIS OWN five-point program, Sen. Kennedy promised to establish an arms control research institute and to begin planning for conversion of the American economy from war to peace.

Now "institute" and "planning" may mean something special to Mr. Kennedy, but to us they mean "more committees and more conferences." If the senator's criticism of Vice President Nixon's program is valid, then it applies with equal validity to his own program.

Actually the criticism is not valid. While bureaucracy is an ogre ever to be watched, it is impossible to mold strategies representing 180 million people that will be effective in a life-and-death struggle between two international power blocs without some sort of provision for the pooling of available talents in a discussion of a variety of approaches.

On that score, Mr. Nixon has revealed a good deal more detailed thinking on who should make up the committee and what they would confer about than his rival. About all Sen. Kennedy appears to have decided to date is the name for his committees.

AT ANOTHER POINT in the Milwaukee address, the Democratic nominee accused Mr. Nixon of fostering a disarmament program that "does not grapple with the real nature of the Communist threat to peace."

Yet one of the five points on the Kennedy list proposed establishment of a system to protect the United States "against the growing danger of accidental war."

We submit that when Sen. Kennedy—or anyone else—suggests that a president of the United States can solve the problems of world peace by devising systems that will control in advance not only the deliberate but also the happenstance actions of the Reds in the Kremlin, he is not coming to grips with the real nature of the Communist threat. He is talking through his hat.

BUT SEN. KENNEDY'S biggest blooper of the evening in Milwaukee dealt with Point 1 in his five-pronged program.

Having accused the Eisenhower administration of virtually ignoring disarmament during the last eight years, permitting "the deathly arms race" to continue "through indifference and failure," the young man from Massachusetts declared that he would start on the road to disarmament by building United States defenses so powerful that the Soviet Union will know that peace is its only alternative.

In truth, the best way to deal with the Communists is from a position of strength. But Sen. Kennedy's charge of failure against th Eisenhower administration is inconsistent with his own starting-point proposal, because the policy he advocates is the policy that has been in effect throughout the Eisenhower years.

UNTIL THE COMMUNISTS show a sincere willingness to disarm, it would be suicidal for the United States to maintain anything less than the best military establishment on earth. And until the Communists accept "open skies" or some other effective inspection system, it cannot be assumed that they are sincere about disarmament.

If Sen. Kennedy can come up with a "New Frontier" idea for converting the Communists into sincere disarmament-seekers, he will have a platform plank that will be exclusive with him.

On the other hand, as long as he advocates a continuation of the Eisenhower policy of approaching disarmament from a position of strength, he should avoid the contradiction of terming that policy a failure.

Three-Sheeting The World

It is fitting and proper that in the last fortnight of a national election we should all have the feeling that everything stationary and much of that which moves bears election advertising.

There is little propriety about the location of this material. It is displayed on people and trees with impartiality. Every vacant lot is an open invitation for a cluster of signs to set up housekeeping. Auto bumpers, windows, front yards, front windows, bicycles, utility poles, sidewalks and even the sky, itself, must bear the brunt of the electioneering process at the lowest level of political enterprise.

It is built on the psychology of command. "Vote for Jones," it orders curtly, and that's the size of it.

THE IDEA is simplicity, itself. The voter will vote for someone, and in the moment of truth in the voting booth he may be likely to vote for the candidate whose name has been hammered home oftenest.

Higher up, of course, there are issues. But to the very extent that the issues are higher up, the candidates lower down are without benefit of issues. All they have recourse to is repetition of their name, with picture if they think they are photogenic, and perhaps with a spatter of cryptic information — Veteran, Churchgoer, Experienced, Reliable, Dependable, Honest.

One day perhaps not far in the future, if the United Nations continues to go and grow, electioneering will become international. If Khrushchev doesn't think of it, someone else will think of it — vote Red China into U.N. membership and make the secretary-general run in an international election, with 850 million Chinese and a quarter of a billion Russians, plus a few hundred million satellites stuffing ballot boxes.

THEN THE WORLD will really be three-sheeted, the way it seemed to be three-sheeted when it was time for the circus to come to town. The circus sheets were works of art.

Modern political advertising is stark and drab by comparison, even when it's flossied up with luminous paint. "Vote for Jones," it says. But Jones never appears in crimson tights on the back of a broad white horse, with a bespangled lady putting the horse through its paces. The decision then would depend on something subtler than repetition. We'd vote for the girl and the horse, with Jones as intermediary.

Political advertising would be brighter and electioneering would be better.

New Frontiers: Scenery from old TV "westerns" used as a backdrop for a 1960 picture.

Forward-looking Leadership: Wearing one blindfold instead of two.

An Informed Public: Any group of citizens hearing both candidates supposedly favoring candid answers to questions about the international situation saying, "I cannot discuss that issue at this time."

Odd Facts

The modern automobile contains about as many light bulbs as one of our homes, the average this year per auto being about 26 lamps. One American "luxury" car has 41 lamps — including four headlamps; four lamps for parking, turning, and braking; one dome light inside; one luggage compartment light; once license light; two backup lights; two reading lights; two "courtesy" lights that illumine when the doors are opened; one radio light; one engine light; and 22 instrument panel and indicator lights.

The Scary Season

Bridges Tries Statesmanship Approach

By Victor Riesel

There are Red sales in the sunset over San Francisco Bay. A group of sophisticated businessmen and militant labor leaders are gambling that the United States soon will be doing business with Mao Tze-tung's China —Quemoy and Matsu or no.

Victor Riesel

That, in informed waterfront circles, is the real significance of the featherbed-killing pact between the millionaire West Coast shippers and that ardent friend of the Soviet Union, longshoreman chief Harry Renton Bridges.

Money is what the port facility operators are gambling with — more than $30 million which they are throwing into the West Coast Longshoremen's Union automation kitty to help dockwallopers displaced by machines. As for the ultra left-wing Harry Bridges, it's his reputation he's jeopardizing.

In the national excitement over his union's permitting the Pacific Coast shippers to be the first to set their own work rules, it has been overlooked that Bridges has also signed a six-year no-strike pledge.

THIS IS unprecedented. The last time there was any concession even remotely resembling such pacifism, the word also came from Harry Bridges.

That was during World War II before Russia declared the cold war on us.

Bridges urged the CIO to pledge not only not to strike during the war but for five years after it ended. Then, of course, he wanted to help the Soviet Union.

Now he and the shippers have much in common. For some years now they have pushed for commercial links with Peiping.

Resolutions urging trade with China have been passed by the national longshoremen's conventions with greater regularity than the bong of Big Ben in London. Nor have shippers' spokesmen been less insistent.

There was, for example, the following in the columns of the "Pacific Shipper's" last year-end edition:

THERE WAS a "national drift towards establishing commercial relations" with mainland China, the shipping industry weekly asserted.

"The movement appears to be making headway slowly. . . . One can still see, but only rarely, such nonsensical statements as the one that trade with Red China would constitute 'proof that the United States has embraced the Communist philosophy'. . . . The past year was a good one for the cause of China trade. . . .

"We seek a gradualistic approach first through commerce and then, possibly, to the establishment of diplomatic relations of some sort, on up to admission to membership in the U.N."

If this should occur, the Pacific ports will be operating with high speed efficiency. They will be ready to offer customers the swiftest "turn about" and the lowest costs because the heaviest financial burdens spring from the loading problem.

Thus, ships from Red China, Japan, and the rest of the Orient too will not be tempted to go through the Canal to Gulf and Atlantic ports. That is the reasoning.

Nor will Bridges and his comrades in the union suffer. They will have the money and the jobs to keep the hard core of the union either working or in chips.

That core is 15,000 strong. And life will be easier for them.

MACHINES and automatic loading in containers will take a load off their backs, literally. They are getting older. Most of them have been with Bridges since the mid-'30s.

Nor will they have to worry about younger newcomers joining the union. The "casuals," the part time longshoremen, will be eliminated. This will give Bridges continued power in his union.

There will be no need to contend with youthful fireeaters, such as he once was on the Embarcadero.

Harry Bridges is discovering, too, that even for the militants time does not stand still. He will be 60 years old next July. It's time for statemanship, not muscle.

So with one eye on the Far East and another on the nearby docks, Bridges, of all people, becomes the first national union chief to say to the employers officially — bring on all your labor-saving machinery. Now there's a dialectic for you.

Two Main Themes

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The presidential candidates have followed two man themes from the beginning of the campaign. This is Nixon's: Kennedy is a young novice on a man's errand. This is Kennedy's: Look out for Nixon.

Their problem has been how to say the same thing differently. Now that the campaign is entering its final two weeks Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy are finding no trouble at all in expressing themselves.

Kennedy started on his beware-of-Nixon program last July 15 in his acceptance speech by saying the vice president's political career has often "seemed to show charity toward none and malice for all."

Nixon laid the groundwork for picturing Kennedy as an immature and not too clear-headed youngster in his own acceptance speech on July 28. He accused his opponent then of being "rash and impulsive" for suggesting President Eisenhower might have expressed regrets to Russia for the U2 spy plane episode.

The political conventions were hardly history before Kennedy—on Aug. 1—was accusing Nixon of a "lack of basic beliefs." This may have nettled Nixon who said Kennedy was "following the low road."

He said he would never "indulge in personalities" although some of the things he has been saying about Kennedy since look mighty personal.

Their first TV debate on Sept. 27 was almost a study in the brotherhood of man, with Nixon politely agreeing with Kennedy (for which Republicans criticized him) and Kennedy treating Nixon like a highly respected old comrade from the Senate.

They got moving by the time of the second debate on Oct. 7. Apparently stung by the complaints from his own ranks, Nixon's first words were, "First of all, I don't agree with Sen. Kennedy."

Pretty soon he was accusing Kennedy of "woolly thinking" on the islands of Quemoy and Matsu. He must have liked the word "woolly" to describe Kennedy. He has repeated it.

By the fourth debate on Oct. 21 Nixon went a step beyond his earlier remarks. He said Kennedy's ideas on handling Fidel Castro's Cuba were "probably the most dangerously irresponsible recommendations that have been made in the campaign."

Kennedy, for some reason best known to himself and his advisers, contented himself with saying little beyond suggesting Nixon was being "inaccurate."

This mildness and restraint was just a passing phase. With the campaign heading toward a finish, look at what they've been saying these past few days.

Nixon has accused Kennedy of being "woolly and fuzzy" in his thinking on Castro, of making "immature, rash and dangerous" statements, and of offering "impulsive leadership." He described Kennedy as a man who doesn't "know the situation and who says one thing today and another thing tomorrow."

Just in case anyone might suspect he was running out of things to say, Nixon predicted: "These are the two weeks in which people make up their minds. Whatever has happened up to this point, you haven't seen anything yet."

Kennedy has gone beyond calling Nixon inaccurate. He accuses him of "distortions" and said the Republican party can count on Nixon "to lead its wrecking crew on Social Security."

And the senator, complaining that Nixon wants to limit a fifth TV debate to a discussion of Cuba instead of a broad discussion on domestic and foreign affairs, said: "This is another indication of the fact that he would rather debate with mimeograph machines and telegrams than face to face."

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

City Council announced that the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction Co. would contribute $20,000 toward the proposed improvement of Pennsylvania Ave. and also pay part of the cost of improving other streets covered by its system in return for a 25-year franchise.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Seventy-eight births and 31 deaths occurred in East Liverpool during a five-week period, Mrs. Ruth Cramer, registrar of vital statistics, reported.

A rally of Italian Republican voters in Wellsville was held in the Sons of Italy Hall, with James Viola as chairman.

TEN YEARS AGO — East Liverpool High's cross country team finished its season undefeated by tipping Beaver High at Beaver.

Police Chief H. R. Dustman of Wellsville issued a warning that youths, along with their parents, would be called before the mayor if caught using "beanshooters."

The grizzly bear has lived in North America for a million years.

Issues, Personalities

By David Lawrence

Is There Need For A Change Or Not?

Everybody would like to know how the presidential election will turn out — and there is one simple question the answer to which could prove a real guide to the result.

David Lawrence

This correspondent has asked that question lately of several highly placed Democrats who favor Sen. Kennedy.

It is as follows: "If President Eisenhower were running for reelection this November, what would happen?"

Ten out of the 10 Democrats answered that question thus: "Eisenhower would win in a walk."

If that judgment is correct—and the public opinion polls on Eisenhower popularity do confirm it — then another question naturally arises: "If Eisenhower can stand on his own record and win, why can't the vice president do likewise?"

THE COMMENT immediately changes.

The reply made by the same Democrats is that Mr. Eisenhower "can't transfer his popularity to anyone else," and that it is the Eisenhower personality which would be foremost in the contest.

The trouble with such an answer is that it does not explain why the record made by President Eisenhower in his national and international policies — which is today the whole basis for Mr. Nixon's campaign — would be repudiated by the electorate if someone else runs on it while it would be upheld if the President himself were the candidate.

This writer cannot agree that Mr. Eisenhower would win the election if his policies are really as unpopular today and as destructive of America's "prestige" and progress as Sen. Kennedy says they have been during the past several years.

The Democratic nominee has insisted in his speeches in the last few days that he has not been attacking Mr. Eisenhower personally but only his "leadership."

Sen. Kennedy, therefore, is plainly asking the voters to repudiate the Eisenhower "leadership."

How do the American people really feel about the Eisenhower administration?

Has it been as unsatisfactory as the Democratic campaign speakers declare it to be?

Obviously Vice President Nixon hasn't made the decisions on Cuba or on the Summit conferences or on the problems that have arisen in Asia, the Middle East and Africa which supposedly have "lowered America's prestige."

These are Eisenhower policies, just as also on the domestic side—whether it be housing or legislation about schools or medical care or the unemployment issue — the chief executive has been responsible.

IF THE PROTEST against the Eisenhower administration is as widespread as the Democratic campaign speakers, from the top of the list down, claim it is, then how can it be asserted so positively that, if Mr. Eisenhower were running, he would "win in a walk"?

It's true that "Ike" is popular and that he is a military hero but in 1952 many observers, including this writer, who had favored "Ike" rather than Sen. Robert Taft for the nomination, said after the election that the protest vote against the Truman administration on "Korea, corruption and communism" was so heavy the negative tide would have swept even Mr. Taft into office, perhaps not by as big a majority but by a comfortable margin of electoral votes.

The electorate tends to "vote against" things rather than in favor of personalities.

When times are good, the vote is "against change" of administration and in favor of continued prosperity.

A good example occurred in 1928. Al Smith of New York, a Roman Catholic, had been elected governor of New York three times by overwhelming majorities, yet in the presidential race he lost his own state, not on the religious issue but on the prosperity issue which favored the Republicans.

As between the shy, undramatic personality of Herbert Hoover as a candidate in that campaign and the well-liked and widely known personality of Al Smith, the Democratic nominee could have won his own state of New York in any contest based on personality alone.

IF ISSUES rather than personalities count more, the quandary of 1960 still remains.

Why do the political experts say that President Eisenhower could "win in a walk" but that his policies, national and international, when championed by his own vice president will be rejected by the American people?

Why will the press of Great Britain, France and Italy, as well as of the Soviet Union, surely say, if Nixon is defeated, that the Eisenhower administration's "leadership" has been given a vote of "no confidence" by the people of the United States?

The American people have before them today exactly that question: Do they approve or disapprove the Eisenhower record of nearly eight years during a critical time in world history?

A vote for the Democratic nominee is certainly a vote for change in policies and leadership, while a vote for the Republican nominee is a vote of approval of the Eisenhower policies and for continuity of administration.

All the arguments in television debates and in stump speeches will not alter that fundamental fact about the current campaign.

Avoiding The Needle

By Truman Twill

This is the time of year I tell people how to avoid leaf-raking and, every fourth year, how to keep their blood pressure down in politics. Suppose we take politics first, this being the quadrennial election year.

The way you keep your blood pressure down is not to let it rise. You say to yourself,, "I will not let this so-and-so needle me into losing my temper. I will stay calm, cool and collected if it kills me. I will let him drool through his whole repertorie of hogwash from Slop to Slime and not yap a dissenting word."

Then you make yourself as comfortable as you can under circumstances that would make a saint swear like a teamster and keep smiling. You pay no attention to the lies, slurs, misrepresentations, distortions, malicious falsehoods and slanders.

Instead of reacting like flint to steel, you keep your promise to yourself not to give off sparks. You think of yourself as a feather pillow being bombarded by a tiny baby with little fistfuls of peach fuzz — you refuse to admit you can be hurt.

You pretend the unearthly stench of the knot-head"s foul prevarications is Chanel No. 555 and that you love every whiff from the Stygian caves of the monster's putrid reasoning. You say to yourself, "I will be objective, I will be objective, I will be objective. I will be like a brave white man undergoing unspeakable torture by the Apaches. I will be like the turtle that retracts its neck. I will have twice the patience of Job. A thousand years from now when they write the history of freedom's survival in the face of malicious adversity, it will be written large that old You Know Who Foxed 'em by smiling through his tears while they poured molten lead into his ears and burned out his eyes with glowing sticks."

It works. You smile. You refuse to let them needle you. They finally knock it off and crawl back into the woodwork they came out of. And you totter off to bed, trying not to notice you have the herky-jerky motions of a mechanical man who has been stood out in the weather. You fooled the so-and-sos, all right. You're still telling yourself this when you wake up at 3:30 a.m. because your head is splitting and your memory is playing back all the low spots of the nonsense spewed out by the crumbbums who thought they could needle you, ho, ho, ho.

As to how to avoid leaf-raking, that's easier. You do not rake leaves. Some people try to make this seem like a hard thing to do —not to rake leaves. They want to know how to get rid of the leaves if you don't rake them and they don't blow away.

That's their problem. They should ask themselves why they resent leaves. What traumatic experience in their childhood makes them think leaves had to be destroyed? What's their guilt complex?

Why can't they say, 'I will not let leaves needle me into losing my composure. I will stay calm, cool and collected about leaves if it kills me"? With leaves there would be no waking up in the night with a head aching from anger, as there is when you shrug off political poison as if it were nothing, just nothing at all.

Double-Talk On Disarmament

Just about any political candidate runs the risk of being accused of talking out of both sides of his mouth during the long course of his campaign. But Sen. John F. Kenndy pulled off a real feat in Milwaukee Sunday night by doing the double-talk trick within the scope of a single speech—and not once, but on several points.

The subject was disarmament and peace. The Democratic nominee accused his rival of offering nothing more in the effort for world peace than "more committees and more conferences."

BUT IN HIS OWN five-point program, Sen. Kennedy promised to establish an arms control research institute and to begin planning for conversion of the American economy from war to peace.

Now "institute" and "planning" may mean something special to Mr. Kennedy, but to us they mean "more committees and more conferences." If the senator's criticism of Vice President Nixon's program is valid, then it applies with equal validity to his own program.

Actually the criticism is not valid. While bureaucracy is an ogre ever to be watched, it is impossible to mold strategies representing 180 million people that will be effective in a life-and-death struggle between two international power blocs without some sort of provision for the pooling of available talents in a discussion of a variety of approaches.

On that score, Mr. Nixon has revealed a good deal more detailed thinking on who should make up the committee and what they would confer about than his rival. About all Sen. Kennedy appears to have decided to date is the name for his committees.

AT ANOTHER POINT in the Milwaukee address, the Democratic nominee accused Mr. Nixon of fostering a disarmament program that "does not grapple with the real nature of the Communist threat to peace."

Yet one of the five points on the Kennedy list proposed establishment of a system to protect the United States "against the growing danger of accidental war."

We submit that when Sen. Kennedy—or anyone else—suggests that a president of the United States can solve the problems of world peace by devising systems that will control in advance not only the deliberate but also the happenstance actions of the Reds in the Kremlin, he is not coming to grips with the real nature of the Communist threat. He is talking through his hat.

BUT SEN. KENNEDY'S biggest blooper of the evening in Milwaukee dealt with Point 1 in his five-pronged program.

Having accused the Eisenhower administration of virtually ignoring disarmament during the last eight years, permitting "the deathly arms race" to continue "through indifference and failure," the young man from Massachusetts declared that he would start on the road to disarmament by building United States defenses so powerful that the Soviet Union will know that peace is its only alternative.

In truth, the best way to deal with the Communists is from a position of strength. But Sen. Kennedy's charge of failure against th Eisenhower administration is inconsistent with his own starting-point proposal, because the policy he advocates is the policy that has been in effect throughout the Eisenhower years.

UNTIL THE COMMUNISTS show a sincere willingness to disarm, it would be suicidal for the United States to maintain anything less than the best military establishment on earth. And until the Communists accept "open skies" or some other effective inspection system, it cannot be assumed that they are sincere about disarmament.

If Sen. Kennedy can come up with a "New Frontier" idea for converting the Communists into sincere disarmament-seekers, he will have a platform plank that will be exclusive with him.

On the other hand, as long as he advocates a continuation of the Eisenhower policy of approaching disarmament from a position of strength, he should avoid the contradiction of terming that policy a failure.

Three-Sheeting The World

It is fitting and proper that in the last fortnight of a national election we should all have the feeling that everything stationary and much of that which moves bears election advertising.

There is little propriety about the location of this material. It is displayed on people and trees with impartiality. Every vacant lot is an open invitation for a cluster of signs to set up housekeeping. Auto bumpers, windows, front yards, front windows, bicycles, utility poles, sidewalks and even the sky, itself, must bear the brunt of the electioneering process at the lowest level of political enterprise.

It is built on the psychology of command. "Vote for Jones," it orders curtly, and that's the size of it.

THE IDEA is simplicity, itself. The voter will vote for someone, and in the moment of truth in the voting booth he may be likely to vote for the candidate whose name has been hammered home oftenest.

Higher up, of course, there are issues. But to the very extent that the issues are higher up, the candidates lower down are without benefit of issues. All they have recourse to is repetition of their name, with picture if they think they are photogenic, and perhaps with a spatter of cryptic information — Veteran, Churchgoer, Experienced, Reliable, Dependable, Honest.

One day perhaps not far in the future, if the United Nations continues to go and grow, electioneering will become international. If Khrushchev doesn't think of it, someone else will think of it — vote Red China into U.N. membership and make the secretary-general run in an international election, with 650 million Chinese and a quarter of a billion Russians, plus a few hundred million satellites stuffing ballot boxes.

THEN THE WORLD will really be three-sheeted, the way it seemed to be three-sheeted when it was time for the circus to come to town. The circus sheets were works of art.

Modern political advertising is stark and drab by comparison, even when it's flossied up with luminous paint. "Vote for Jones," it says. But Jones never appears in crimson tights on the back of a broad white horse, with a bespangled lady putting the horse through its paces. The decision then would depend on something subtler than repetition. We'd vote for the girl and the horse, with Jones as intermediary.

Political advertising would be brighter and electioneering would be better.

The Once Over

Expanding Economy: More men employed at higher pay under shorter hours to explain the difficulty to making both ends meet.

Specter of Depression: A ghost writer in a white bed-sheet giving a green light to slump, and making a lot of people feel blue.

Broader Educational Opportunities: Larger coffee urns in more elaborate school kitchens.

Offensive for Freedom: Use of more powerful "mikes" and more careful TV lighting.

Woolly Thinking: Any opinion held by the other fellow.

Dangerous Complacency: Any man not yelling for a tow-car because of a rattle in the automobile door.

Pioneer Spirit: An American in 1960 not sitting down on an escalator or demanding foam-rubber pillows to sit on while fishing.

Sense of Urgency: Displaying maximum perspiration in yelling hysterically for every American to be jittery on a 24-hour-a-day basis.

New Frontiers: Scenery from old TV "westerns" used as a backdrop for a 1960 picture.

Sound Dollar: Three dimes, two nickels and a couple of pennies in search of a dozen eggs.

Forward-looking Leadership: Wearing one blindfold instead of two.

An Informed Public: Any group of citizens hearing both candidates supposedly favoring candid answers to questions about the international situation saying, "I cannot discuss that issue at this time."

THREE MICE that made 5,000-mile outer-space trip are reported none the worse for trip. Maybe so, but they got pretty exhausted up there trying to find a hole in a nose cone.

Sweet Music

District barbershop quartet singing has moved another note up the competitive scale as the result of the Heathertones showing in international competition at Detroit.

The quartet, affiliated with the local chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., finished fifth among 45 entrants.

The Heathertones rightfully take their place with the male singers who have brought recognition to the East Liverpool district.

The modern automobile contains about as many light bulbs as one of our homes, the average this year per auto being about 26 lamps. One American "luxury" car has 41 lamps — including four headlamps; four lamps for parking, turning, and braking; one dome light inside; one luggage compartment light; once license light; two backup lights; two reading lights; two "courtesy" lights that illumine when the doors are opened; one radio light; one engine light; and 22 instrument panel and indicator lights.

The Scary Season

Bridges Tries Statesmanship Approach

By Victor Riesel

There are Red sales in the sunset over San Francisco Bay. A group of sophisticated businessmen and militant labor leaders are gambling that the United States soon will be doing business with Mao Tze-tung's China—Quemoy and Matsu or no.

Victor Riesel

That, in informed waterfront circles, is the real significance of the featherbed-killing pact between the millionaire West Coast shippers and that ardent friend of the Soviet Union, longshoreman chief Harry Renton Bridges.

Money is what the port facility operators are gambling with — more than $30 million which they are throwing into the West Coast Longshoremen's Union automation kitty to help dockwallopers displaced by machines. As for the ultra left-wing Harry Bridges, it's his reputation he's jeopardizing.

In the national excitement over his union's permitting the Pacific Coast shippers to be the first to set their own work rules, it has been overlooked that Bridges has also signed a six-year no-strike pledge.

THIS IS unprecedented. The last time there was any concession even remotely resembling such pacifism, the word also came from Harry Bridges.

That was during World War II before Russia declared the cold war on us.

Bridges urged the CIO to pledge not only not to strike during the war but for five years after it ended. Then, of course, he wanted to help the Soviet Union.

Now he and the shippers have much in common. For some years now they have pushed for commercial links with Peiping.

Resolutions urging trade with China have been passed by the national longshoremen's conventions with greater regularity than the bong of Big Ben in London. Nor have shippers' spokesmen been less insistent.

There was, for example, the following in the columns of the "Pacific Shipper's" last year-end edition:

THERE WAS a "national drift towards establishing commercial relations" with mainland China, the shipping industry weekly asserted.

"The movement appears to be making headway slowly. . . . One can still see, but only rarely, such nonsensical statements as the one that trade with Red China would constitute 'proof that the United States has embraced the Communist philosophy'. . . . The past year was a good one for the cause of China trade. . . .

"We seek a gradualistic approach first through commerce and then, possibly, to the establishment of diplomatic relations of some sort, on up to admission to membership in the U.N."

If this should occur, the Pacific ports will be operating with high speed efficiency. They will be ready to offer customers the swiftest "turn about" and the lowest costs because the heaviest financial burdens spring from the loading problem.

Thus, ships from Red China, Japan, and the rest of the Orient too will not be tempted to go through the Canal to Gulf and Atlantic ports. That is the reasoning.

Nor will Bridges and his comrades in the union suffer. They will have the money and the jobs to keep the hard core of the union either working or in chips.

That core is 15,000 strong. And life will be easier for them.

MACHINES and automatic loading in containers will take a load off their backs, literally. They are getting older. Most of them have been with Bridges since the mid-'30s.

Nor will they have to worry about younger newcomers joining the union. The "casuals," the part time longshoremen, will be eliminated. This will give Bridges continued power in his union.

There will be no need to contend with youthful fireeaters, such as he once was on the Embarcadero.

Harry Bridges is discovering, too, that even for the militants time does not stand still. He will be 60 years old next July. It's time for statemanship, not muscle.

So with one eye on the Far East and another on the nearby docks, Bridges, of all people, becomes the first national union chief to say to the employers officially — bring on all your labor-saving machinery. Now there's a dialectic for you.

Two Main Themes

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The presidential candidates have followed two man themes from the beginning of the campaign. This is Nixon's: Kennedy is a young novice on a man's errand. This is Kennedy's: Look out for Nixon.

Their problem has been how to say the same thing differently. Now that the campaign is entering its final two weeks Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy are finding no trouble at all in expressing themselves.

Kennedy started on his beware-of-Nixon program last July 15 in his acceptance speech by saying the vice president's political career has often "seemed to show charity toward none and malice for all."

Nixon laid the groundwork for picturing Kennedy as an immature and not too clear-headed youngster in his own acceptance speech on July 28. He accused his opponent then of being "rash and impulsive" for suggesting President Eisenhower might have expressed regrets to Russia for the U2 spy plane episode.

The political conventions were hardly history before Kennedy—on Aug. 1—was accusing Nixon of a "lack of basic beliefs." This may have nettled Nixon who said Kennedy was "following the low road."

He said he would never "indulge in personalities" although some of the things he has been saying about Kennedy since look mighty personal.

Their first TV debate on Sept. 27 was almost a study in the brotherhood of man, with Nixon politely agreeing with Kennedy (for which Republicans criticized him) and Kennedy treating Nixon like a highly respected old comrade from the Senate.

They got moving by the time of the second debate on Oct. 7. Apparently stung by the complaints from his own ranks, Nixon's first words were, "First of all, I don't agree with Sen. Kennedy."

Pretty soon he was accusing Kennedy of "woolly thinking" on the islands of Quemoy and Matsu. He must have liked the word "woolly" to describe Kennedy. He has repeated it.

By the fourth debate on Oct. 21 Nixon went a step beyond his earlier remarks. He said Kennedy's ideas on handling Fidel Castro's Cuba were "probably the most dangerously irresponsible recommendations that have been made in the campaign."

Kennedy, for some reason best known to himself and his advisers, contented himself with saying little beyond suggesting Nixon was being "inaccurate."

This mildness and restraint was just a passing phase. With the campaign heading toward a finish, look at what they've been saying these past few days.

Nixon has accused Kennedy of being "woolly and fuzzy" in his thinking on Castro, of making "immature, rash and dangerous" statements, and of offering "impulsive leadership." He described Kennedy as a man who doesn't "know the situation and who says one thing today and another thing tomorrow."

Just in case anyone might suspect he was running out of things to say, Nixon predicted: "These are the two weeks in which people make up their minds. Whatever has happened up to this point, you haven't seen anything yet."

Kennedy has gone beyond calling Nixon inaccurate. He accuses him of "distortions" and said the Republican party can count on Nixon "to lead its wrecking crew on Social Security."

And the senator, complaining that Nixon wants to limit a fifth TV debate to a discussion of Cuba instead of a broad discussion on domestic and foreign affairs, said: "This is another indication of the fact that he would rather debate with mimeograph machines and telegrams than face to face."

Issues, Personalities

By David Lawrence

Is There Need For A Change Or Not?

Everybody would like to know how the presidential election will turn out — and there is one simple question the answer to which could prove a real guide to the result.

David Lawrence

This correspondent has asked that question lately of several highly placed Democrats who favor Sen. Kennedy.

It is as follows: "If President Eisenhower were running for reelection this November, what would happen?"

Ten out of the 10 Democrats answered that question thus: "Eisenhower would win in a walk."

If that judgment is correct—and the public opinion polls on Eisenhower popularity do confirm it — then another question naturally arises: "If Eisenhower can stand on his own record and win, why can't the vice president do likewise?"

THE COMMENT immediately changes.

The reply made by the same Democrats is that Mr. Eisenhower "can't transfer his popularity to anyone else," and that it is the Eisenhower personality which would be foremost in the contest.

The trouble with such an answer is that it does not explain why the record made by President Eisenhower in his national and international policies — which is today the whole basis for Mr. Nixon's campaign — would be repudiated by the electorate if someone else runs on it while it would be upheld if the President himself were the candidate.

This writer cannot agree that Mr. Eisenhower would win the election if his policies are really as unpopular today and as destructive of America's "prestige" and progress as Sen. Kennedy says they have been during the past several years.

The Democratic nominee has insisted in his speeches in the last few days that he has not been attacking Mr. Eisenhower personally but only his "leadership."

Sen. Kennedy, therefore, is plainly asking the voters to repudiate the Eisenhower "leadership."

How do the American people really feel about the Eisenhower administration?

Has it been as unsatisfactory as the Democratic campaign speakers declare it to be?

Obviously Vice President Nixon hasn't made the decisions on Cuba or on the Summit conferences or on the problems that have arisen in Asia, the Middle East and Africa which supposedly have "lowered America's prestige."

These are Eisenhower policies, just as also on the domestic side—whether it be housing or legislation about schools or medical care or the unemployment issue — the chief executive has been responsible.

IF THE PROTEST against the Eisenhower administration is as widespread as the Democratic campaign speakers, from the top of the list down, claim it is, then how can it be asserted so positively that, if Mr. Eisenhower were running, he would "win in a walk"?

It's true that "Ike" is popular and that he is a military hero but in 1952 many observers, including this writer, who had favored "Ike" rather than Sen. Robert Taft for the nomination, said after the election that the protest vote against the Truman administration on "Korea, corruption and communism" was so heavy the negative tide would have swept even Mr. Taft into office, perhaps not by as big a majority but by a comfortable margin of electoral votes.

The electorate tends to "vote against" things rather than in favor of personalities.

When times are good, the vote is "against change" of administration and in favor of continued prosperity.

A good example occurred in 1928. Al Smith of New York, a Roman Catholic, had been elected governor of New York three times by overwhelming majorities, yet in the presidential race he lost his own state, not on the religious issue but on the prosperity issue which favored the Republicans.

As between the shy, undramatic personality of Herbert Hoover as a candidate in that campaign and the well-liked and widely known personality of Al Smith, the Democratic nominee could have won his own state of New York in any contest based on personality alone.

IF ISSUES rather than personalities count more, the quandary of 1960 still remains.

Why do the political experts say that President Eisenhower could "win in a walk" but that his policies, national and international, when championed by his own vice president will be rejected by the American people?

Why will the press of Great Britain, France and Italy, as well as of the Soviet Union, surely say, if Nixon is defeated, that the Eisenhower administration's "leadership" has been given a vote of "no confidence" by the people of the United States?

The American people have before them today exactly that question: Do they approve or disapprove the Eisenhower record of nearly eight years during a critical time in world history?

A vote for the Democratic nominee is certainly a vote for change in policies and leadership, while a vote for the Republican nominee is a vote of approval of the Eisenhower policies and for continuity of administration.

All the arguments in television debates and in stump speeches will not alter that fundamental fact about the current campaign.

Avoiding The Needle

By Truman Twill

This is the time of year I tell people how to avoid leaf-raking and, every fourth year, how to keep their blood pressure down in politics. Suppose we take politics first, this being the quadrennial election year.

The way you keep your blood pressure down is not to let it rise. You say to yourself, "I will not let this so-and-so needle me into losing my temper. I will stay calm, cool and collected if it kills me. I will let him drool through his whole repertorie of hogwash from Slop to Slime and not yap a dissenting word."

Then you make yourself as comfortable as you can under circumstances that would make a saint swear like a teamster and keep smiling. You pay no attention to the lies, slurs, misrepresentations, distortions, malicious falsehoods and slanders.

Instead of reacting like flint to steel, you keep your promise to yourself not to give off sparks. You think of yourself as a feather pillow being bombarded by a tiny baby with little fistfuls of peach fuzz — you refuse to admit you can be hurt.

You pretend the unearthly stench of the knot-head's foul prevarications is Chanel No. 555 and that you love every whiff from the Stygian caves of the monster's putrid reasoning. You say to yourself, "I will be objective, I will be objective. I will be like a brave white man undergoing unspeakable torture by the Apaches. I will be like the turtle that retracts its neck. I will have twice the patience of Job. I will not let these vermin make me squirm even though they writhe under my collar and wriggle into my nose and ears. I will keep my chin up high. I will keep my eye glued on the horizon. I will sneer at the lions when they romp into the Coliseum. A thousand years from now when they write the history of freedom's survival in the face of malicious adversity, it will be written large that old You Know Who Foxed 'em by smiling through his tears while they poured molten lead into his ears and burned out his eyes with glowing sticks."

It works. You smile. You refuse to let them needle you. They finally knock it off and crawl back into the woodwork they came out of. And you totter off to bed, trying not to notice you have the herky-jerky motions of a mechanical man who has been stood out in the weather. You fooled the so-and-sos, all right. You're still telling yourself this when you wake up at 3:30 a.m. because your head is splitting and your memory is playing back all the low spots of the nonsense spewed out by the crumbums who thought they could needle you, ho, ho, ho.

As to how to avoid leaf-raking, that's easier. You do not rake leaves. Some people try to make this seem like a hard thing to do—not to rake leaves. They want to know how to get rid of the leaves if you don't rake them and they don't blow away.

That's their problem. They should ask themselves why they resent leaves. What traumatic experience in their childhood makes them think leaves had to be destroyed? What's their guilt complex?

Why can't they say, "I will not let leaves needle me into losing my composure. I will stay calm, cool and collected about leaves if it kills me"? With leaves there would be no waking up in the night with a head aching from anger, as there is when you shrug off political poison as if it were nothing, just nothing at all.

The East Liverpool Yacht Club started preparations over the weekend for the winter season.

A work party of members Saturday removed the docking and secured the walkways. The club is located on the West Virginia side of the Ohio River, below the Chester Bridge.

John Falone of Glenmoor, commander, said the 13-man work party removed the 300-feet of docking in two sections. A tractor was used to pull the sections onto the bank on skids. The docks then were covered with plastic. The walkways have been secured to the banks with cable.

Falone said another work party will meet Saturday at 1 p. m. to complete other work. He said a general membership meeting will be held soon.

Plans are being made to work on the club's houseboat during the winter. Regular trustee meetings will be held the first Sunday of each month at 7:30 p. m.

Cadillac

First of a thousand happy hours!

Forgive him if he takes the long way home today.

For the temptation is always great when the day is fine—and the car is Cadillac—and the name on the title is yours.

The first thing he senses, as he glides out onto the boulevard, is comfort. The car is so generous in its interior dimensions that he can really relax.

And what a wonderful outlook he has on the world about him! Wherever he looks, he finds himself surrounded by a panorama of vision.

Then, as the miles float by, the car's brilliance in motion begins to unfold.

Cadillac's improved power steering, he finds, has taken the last degree of effort out of handling. Its great new engine is a veritable symphony of controlled power and precision. And its new ride is smooth and quiet almost beyond belief.

And the wonder of it is that, if he is like most owners, he'll enjoy more than a thousand such delightful hours before a single year has passed.

In fact, it is doubtful that, in all the world of possessions, there is another that provides its owner such lasting pleasure—in such constant measure—as a new Cadillac car.

Have you thought of someday adding a Cadillac to your happiness?

This is the perfect season—and an early order will assure you a full year with the current model.

30 To 90 Days Seen For Repair Of Blast Furnace

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — It will take 30 to 90 days and $750,000 to $1½ million to repair a ruptured blast furnace at the Detroit Steel Corp.'s Portsmouth Division, says A. E. Reinhard, general manager of the suburban New Boston plant.

The 1,400-ton blast furnace ruptured below the tap hole Friday while workmen were castng molten pigs. No one was injured but 200 tons of molten pig iron poured out of the six-foot V-shaped break and piled up on railroad tracks below.

The damaged blast furnace, in operation seven years, is the newer and larger of two at the plant. Reinhard said the company has a sufficient supply of pig iron on hand to run open hearth furnaces for 90 days. Open hearth furnaces convert pig iron into steel.

30 To 90 Days Seen For Repair Of Blast Furnace

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — It will take 30 to 90 days and $750,000 to $1½ million to repair a ruptured blast furnace at the Detroit Steel Corp.'s Portsmouth Division, says A. E. Reinhard, general manager of the suburban New Boston plant.

The 1,400-ton blast furnace ruptured below the tap hole Friday while workmen were casting molten pigs. No one was injured but 200 tons of molten pig iron poured out of the six-foot V-shaped break and piled up on railroad tracks below.

The damaged blast furnace, in operation seven years, is the newer and larger of two at the plant. Reinhard said the company has a sufficient supply of pig iron on hand to run open hearth furnaces for 90 days. Open hearth furnaces convert pig iron into steel.

Gasoline Firm Plans Station

Razing of two East Liverpool landmarks is scheduled to begin within a week to make way for a new service station at the junction of St. Clair and Lincoln Aves.

George F. Bright, local realtor, said the former property of the First Church of the Nazarene and the former Bradfield property, now an apartment house, have been purchased by the Humble Oil division of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey as the site for a new station.

The former church building was purchased from Mrs. Iris Lyle and the apartment house from Nick Jameson of Baltimore, former city resident. Both transactions were handled by Bright.

C. S. Christy is expected to start demolition within a week, Bright said, clearing the triangular tract for the station estimated to cost $50,000.

The lost measures 32 feet at the front and 120 feet across the rear with 150-foot frontage on Lincoln Ave. and 155 feet on St. Clair Ave.

According to Bright, Humble Oil just started operations in the state this year. Its nearest station now is in Youngstown where another is under construction. It operates many stations in the West.

Cuyahoga, Lake Counties Report Employment Hike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Non-manufacturing employment in Cuyahoga and Lake counties increased 5,600 in the two months to Oct. 1, but employment in manufacturing was 2,900 less than on Aug. 1, the Ohio State Employment service's area office reports.

Skilled workers and employes of long seniority are being laid off for the first time since the recession of two years ago, Donald P. Smith, OSES area director said Monday. Unemployment, while down 700 in the Aug. 1-Oct. 1 period, is 12,100 more than on Oct. 1, 1959, Smith said.

Total jobless in the two-county area on Oct. 1 stood at 41,000, or about 5 per cent of the area labor force, with about 22,000 of these on unemployment compensation rolls, Smith added.

The Oct. 1 employment figure of 695,800, while up 2,800 from Aug. 1, is about 7,600 under a year ago, if the 1959 figure is adjusted for the effects of the steel strike, the OSES director said.

Smith said a survey by his office showed 313 employers plan to hire about 400 workers—all in non-manufacturing — during the next two months but expected to decrease their employment after the Christmas holidays by nearly twice that number.

Trustees Receive 2 Bids On Garage

Two bids for construction of a 20-x-50-foot extension of the township garage in LaCroft were opened by the Liverpool Township trustees at a special meeting Monday night.

Adkins Lumber Co. entered the apparent low bid of $2,025 while Potters Construction Co. bid $2,678. The bids were taken under consideration. The contract probably will be awarded at the regular meeting Friday night at 7:30 at City Hall.

The building is needed to house additional township equipment.

In other business, the trustees accepted an offer from Fred Propst to remove some trees along the 40 & 8 Rd. for $40. The road, which connects with St. Clair Township off the Campground Rd., is being widened.

Richard Ferebee of 6th Ave. LaCroft was issued a permit to open the street for a water line and Delmas Sanford, a plumber, was given a permit to open 325 feet of Adler St. for a water line.

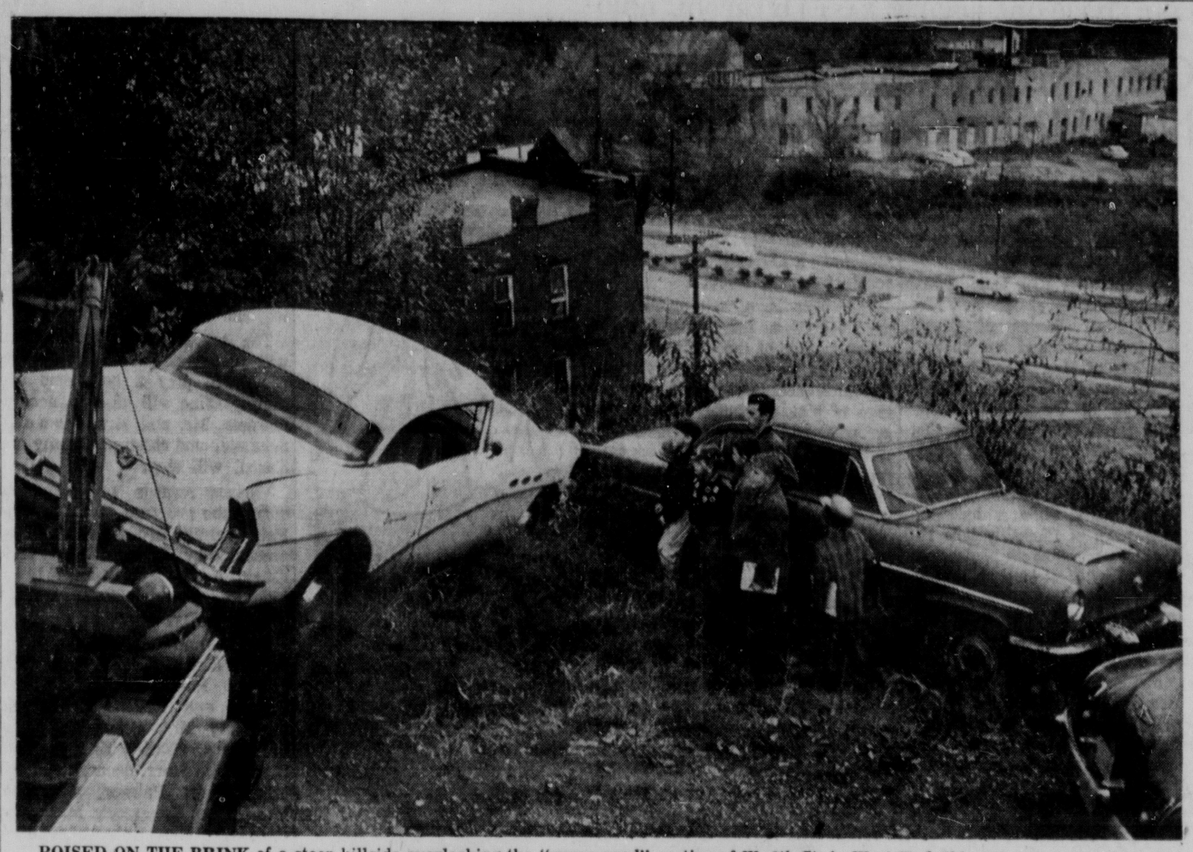
Cites New Jail Need

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The Butler County grand jury has echoed the judgment of some previous panels saying the county needs a new jail. In a report in Common Pleas Court Monday, the jury said "every citizen of Butler County should go through the county jail and find out for themselves how inhumane and unchristianlike we are in not providing decent housing, bathing facilities and proper penal quarters for our prisoners."



POISED ON THE BRINK of a steep hillside overlooking the "super-road" section of W. 8th St. in West End, this auto came to a halt just short of the grade after the brakes failed Monday afternoon at 3:35. Mrs. Jo Ann Brady, 20, of Canton told police the brakes failed as she drove down grade on Florence St. The auto crossed W. 9th St., crashed through a barricade and came to a halt against a parked car on the brink of the embankment 40 feet below W. 9th, police said. Mrs. Brady escaped unhurt.

House Blaze Seen 'Hottest'

The fire which caused an estimated $7,000 loss at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Campbell, 1703 Smithfield St., late Monday morning generated the most heat of any blaze for sometime, firemen said today.

Although the flames were confined to the downstairs of the two-story frame, the heat was so intense it blistered the paint upstairs and melted plastic draperies from the rods, firemen said. Two windows were broken by firemen but the remainder cracked under the heat, they added.

Although the entire downstairs was in flames, Mrs. Campbell managed to phone the fire department, which also was notified by a neighbor.

Mrs. Campbell was burned on the hands when the fire started. Firemen said she was filling a cigarette lighter when the fluid spilled. Attempting to wipe off the lighter with a rag, she apparently flicked the wheel and the spark ignited the rag and the fluid on her hands. The rag fell on the davenport which also caught fire.

After throwing water on the fire and believing it to be extinguished, Mrs. Campbell went upstairs to treat her hands and returned to find the livingroom in flames.

The girls will get hearings on delinquency Thursday at 1 p. m. One was turned over to the County Welfare Department and the other is being held in the detention room at the County Jail.

THE REVIEW

ing, the vice president launched a fresh attack on Kennedy's contention that the United States has lost prestige in the world.

"The truth of the matter is that Sen. Kennedy has been trying to win this election by recklessly downgrading the United States," Nixon said. "He has done this with misleading statements, with misrepresentations, with half truths."

The Republican nominee said in excerpts of an address for a Marietta, Ohio, campaign appearance: "I do not believe that the people of the United States will support a man who offers no constructive programs of his own but has based his major campaign theme on playing politics with America's prestige by running it down."

Nixon was cheered on in his uphill efforts to win Ohio's 25 electoral votes and West Virginia's 12 by reports that he is leading in the contest for Pennsylvania's 32.

The news was not so cheerful for him in Ohio and West Virginia, both reported leaning to Kennedy. But the GOP nominee hoped to make some hay with a major, nationally televised speech in Cincinnati tonight.

Loses New Trial Bid

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edward Schwartz, 56, Cincinnati carpenter, has lost his bid for a new trial in U.S. District Court on a charge of making a false bomb report. Judge John Druffel denied Schwartz's motion Monday. Schwartz faces a one-year sentence and $1,000 fine on conviction for telephoning Delta Airlines last Labor Day and saying explosive was in the baggage of a passenger.

Gold On London Market Jumps To $38.36 An Ounce

LONDON (AP)—The price of gold on the London bullion market opened at $37.80 an ounce today and quickly jumped to $38.36.

Monday's closing price was $37.80.

The rush to buy gold, which began last week, persisted despite official denials that the United States plans to increase its bullion price of $35 an ounce.

The price of gold on the London market is fixed by five companies that handle the metal.

"So far today there are not a great many firm orders. Everyone is on tenterhooks, waiting to see which way the wind blows," said a spokesman for one of the firms.

"One big buyer coming on to the market could send the price soaring to the peak of $40.60 touched last week—or even beyond.

"On the other hand, one big seller would be enough to send the price down sharply."

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 27-year-old rubber worker indicted Oct. 14 for the sex-slaying of a 1-year-old girl was committed to Lima State Hospital Monday for 30 days' observation. Ronald G. Fenton, of Lakemore, was committed by Common Pleas Judge Stephen C. Colopy on a defense motion.

Fenton was indicted on two charges of first-degree murder in the slaying of little Joanne Starcher last Aug. 11. He is tentatively scheduled for trial Dec. 5.

Gasoline Firm Plans Station

Razing of two East Liverpool landmarks is scheduled to begin within a week to make way for a new service station at the junction of St. Clair and Lincoln Aves.

George F. Bright, local realtor, said the former property of the First Church of the Nazarene and the former Bradfield property, now an apartment house, have been purchased by the Humble Oil division of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey as the site for a new station.

The former church building was purchased from Mrs. Iris Lyle and the apartment house from Nick Jameson of Baltimore, former city resident. Both transactions were handled by Bright.

C. S. Christy is expected to start demolition within a week, Bright said, clearing the triangular tract for the station estimated to cost $50,000.

The lost measures 32 feet at the front and 120 feet across the rear with 150-foot frontage on Lincoln Ave. and 155 feet on St. Clair Ave.

According to Bright, Humble Oil just started operations in the state this year. Its nearest station now is in Youngstown where another is under construction. It operates many stations in the West.

Cuyahoga, Lake Counties Report Employment Hike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Non-manufacturing employment in Cuyahoga and Lake counties increased 5,600 in the two months to Oct. 1, but employment in manufacturing was 2,900 less than on Aug. 1, the Ohio State Employment service's area office reports.

Skilled workers and employes of long seniority are being laid off for the first time since the recession of two years ago, Donald P. Smith, OSES area director said Monday. Unemployment, while down 700 in the Aug. 1-Oct. 1 period, is 12,100 more than on Oct. 1, 1959, Smith said.

Total jobless in the two-county area on Oct. 1 stood at 41,000, or about 5 per cent of the area labor force, with about 22,000 of these on unemployment compensation rolls, Smith added.

The Oct. 1 employment figure of 695,800, while up 2,800 from Aug. 1, is about 7,600 under a year ago, if the 1959 figure is adjusted for the effects of the steel strike, the OSES director said.

Smith said a survey by his office showed 313 employers plan to hire about 600 workers—all in non-manufacturing — during the next two months but expected to decrease their employment after the Christmas holidays by nearly twice that number.

Trustees Receive 2 Bids On Garage

Two bids for construction of a 20-x-50-foot extension of the township garage in LaCroft were opened by the Liverpool Township trustees at a special meeting Monday night.

Adkins Lumber Co. entered the apparent low bid of $2,025 while Potters Construction Co. bid $2,670. The bids were taken under consideration. The contract probably will be awarded at the regular meeting Friday night at 7:30 at City Hall.

The building is needed to house additional township equipment.

In other business, the trustees accepted an offer from Fred Prepst to remove some trees along the 40 & 8 Rd. for $40. The road, which connects with St. Clair Township off the Campground Rd., is being widened.

The trustees also voted to purchase insulating material from Wanner Brothers Co. for $168.34 to cover the ceiling of the East fire station.

Richard Ferebee of 6th Ave. LaCroft was issued a permit to open the street for a water line and Dolmas Sanford, a plumber, was given a permit to open 325 feet of Adler St. for a water line.

Cites New Jail Need

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The Butler County grand jury has echoed the judgment of some previous panels saying the county needs a new jail. In a report in Common Pleas Court Monday, the jury said "every citizen of Butler County should go through the county jail and find out for themselves how inhumane and unchristianlike we are in not providing decent housing, bathing facilities and proper penal quarters for our prisoners."

POISED ON THE BRINK of a steep hillside overlooking the "super-road" section of W. 8th St. in West End, this auto came to a halt just short of the grade after the brakes failed Monday afternoon at 3:35. Mrs. Jo Ann Brady, 20, of Canton told police the brakes failed as she drove down grade on Florence St. The auto crossed W. 9th St., crashed through a barricade and came to a halt against a parked car on the brink of the embankment 40 feet below W. 9th, police said. Mrs. Brady escaped unhurt.

House Blaze Seen 'Hottest'

The fire which caused an estimated $7,000 loss at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Campbell, 1703 Smithfield St., late Monday morning generated the most heat of any blaze for sometime, firemen said today.

Although the flames were confined to the downstairs of the two-story frame, the heat was so intense it blistered the paint upstairs and melted plastic draperies from the rods, firemen said. Two windows were broken by firemen but the remainder cracked under the heat, they added.

Although the entire downstairs was in flames, Mrs. Campbell managed to phone the fire department, which also was notified by a neighbor.

Mrs. Campbell was burned on the hands when the fire started. Firemen said she was filling a cigarette lighter when the fluid spilled. Attempting to wipe off the lighter with a rag, she apparently flicked the wheel and the spark ignited the rag and the fluid on her hands. The rag fell on the davenport which also caught fire.

After throwing water on the fire and believing it to be extinguished, Mrs. Campbell went upstairs to treat her hands and returned to find the livingroom in flames.

The girls will get hearings on delinquency Thursday at 1 p. m. One was turned over to the County Welfare Department and the other is being held in the detention room at the County Jail.

THE REVIEW

ing, the vice president launched a fresh attack on Kennedy's contention that the United States has lost prestige in the world.

"The truth of the matter is that Sen. Kennedy has been trying to win this election by recklessly downgrading the United States," Nixon said. "He has done this with misleading statements, with misrepresentations, with half truths."

The Republican nominee said in excerpts of an address for a Marietta, Ohio, campaign appearance: "I do not believe that the people of the United States will support a man who offers no constructive programs of his own but has based his major campaign theme on playing politics with America's prestige by running it down."

Nixon was cheered on in his uphill efforts to win Ohio's 25 electoral votes and West Virginia's 12 by reports that he is leading in the contest for Pennsylvania's 32.

The news was not so cheerful for him in Ohio and West Virginia, both reported leaning to Kennedy. But the GOP nominee hoped to make some hay with a major, nationally televised speech in Cincinnati tonight.

Loses New Trial Bid

CINCINNATI (AP) — Edward Schwartz, 56, Cincinnati carpenter, has lost his bid for a new trial in U.S. District Court on a charge of making a false bomb report. Judge John Druffel denied Schwartz's motion Monday. Schwartz faces a one-year sentence and $1,000 fine on conviction for telephoning Delta Airlines last Labor Day and saying explosive was in the baggage of a passenger.

Gold On London Market Jumps To $38.36 An Ounce

LONDON (AP)—The price of gold on the London bullion market opened at $37.80 an ounce today and quickly jumped to $38.36.

Monday's closing price was $37.80.

The rush to buy gold, which began last week, persisted despite official denials that the United States plans to increase its bullion price of $35 an ounce.

The price of gold on the London market is fixed by five companies that handle the metal.

"So far today there are not a great many firm orders. Everyone is on tenterhooks, waiting to see which way the wind blows," said a spokesman for one of the firms.

"One big buyer coming on to the market could send the price soaring to the peak of $40.60 touched last week—or even beyond.

"On the other hand, one big seller would be enough to send the price down sharply."

Fenton was indicted on two charges of first-degree murder in the slaying of little Joanne Starcher last Aug. 11. He is tentatively scheduled for trial Dec. 5.

Explorers Club Will Conduct Hunt For Bouquet Campsites

Plans to search for campsites of Col. Henry Bouquet in Columbiana County were outlined at a meeting of the Aboriginal Explorers Club Monday night with Richard S. Thompson, 2212 Ohio Ave.

Thompson, club secretary, reported on his research on the "orderly book" of Col. Bouquet's expedition against the Indians in 1764. According to the log, the force led by Col. Bouquet made three camps in the county.

Camp 6 was located near Negley, according to the records, Camp 7 near West Point and Camp 8 near Gavers. Thompson said Bouquet left Pittsburgh in October 1764 with a force of 1,500 men, marching 130 miles into Indian territory.

It took the force 3 weeks to reach Coschocton, during which time they camped 16 times. Each camp was recorded as a number.

The club has obtained a metal detector which will be used in the search. The sites will be excavated if possible. Ray Simoni will operate the equipment.

Harry M. Cline of Hillcrest, Wellsville, reported on a trip to the Seneca Indian Reservation in Pennsylvania and New York. He displayed "squaw corn" given him by a member of the tribe. He also viewed Cornplanter's grave. Color slides of the trip were screened.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I make sure that the leftover paint in a can will remain fresh and will not harden?

A. This will not occur if the can is sealed airtight. To do this, replace the cover as tightly as you can, turn the can upside down momentarily, then right-side up again. Enough paint will flow around the edges of the cover to make it airtight, and the paint acts as a self-sealer.

Q. How can I remove black scuff marks, dabs of crayon, and pencil lines from a waxed floor?

A. Rub over these with a little self-polishing floor wax. The wax dissolves the marks and blends with the rest of the floor without leaving a bare spot. You can use this remover on asphalt and other tile floors.

City Newlyweds Establish New Home On Avondale St.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Thompson are residing at 731 Avondale St. following their marriage Sept. 30 in the Bradshaw Ave. Church of Christ.

The bride was Miss Marilla Jean Virden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Virden of Cornell Ave., Glenmoor, and her husband is the son of Mrs. Mae Thompson of Avondale St., and Brady E. Thompson of Calcutta.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon. The torso-length bodice, embroidered with seed pearls and sequins, featured a Sabrina neckline and short sleeves. Lace medallions were appliqued on the bouffant skirt and she wore long mitts of nylon illusion.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place by a queen's crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink rosebuds, white carnations and baby breath tied with satin streamers. Observing the traditions, she carried the handkerchief which her sister, Mrs. Alfred Laneve, carried at her wedding.

Miss Carol Sue Virden, her sister's maid of honor, wore a gown of pale green Chantilly lace and nylon net over taffeta. A cape covered her strapless bodice and a lace peplum was featured on the bouffant skirt. She wore a hat of matching nylon net and carried a white muff trimmed with pink rosebuds and satin streamers. She received a strand of cultured pearls from the bride.

Fred Woodburn, step-brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The mother of the bride chose a black and white sheer dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother was attired in steel blue taffeta with black accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

A reception for 100 was held at the DAV Hall in West Point. A four-tier cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple, centered the bride's table. A pink, white and silver color scheme was used on the tables and throughout the room. A crystal punchbowl and matching appointments were used on the buffet table.

Aides were Mrs. Nona Elliott, Mrs. Wanda Dunn and Mrs. Vida Allison, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Martha Thayer, Mrs. Pearl Lonkert and Mrs. Sara Tatgenhorst.

Out-of-town guests were from Baltimore and Kitzmiller, Md.; Halloway, Lisbon, Cleveland, Chester, Newell and Follansbee.

Explorers Club Will Conduct Hunt For Bouquet Campsites

Plans to search for campsites of Col. Henry Bouquet in Columbiana County were outlined at a meeting of the Aboriginal Explorers Club Monday night with Richard S. Thompson, 2212 Ohio Ave.

Thompson, club secretary, reported on his research on the "orderly book" of Col. Bouquet's expedition against the Indians in 1764. According to the log, the force led by Col. Bouquet made three camps in the county.

Camp 6 was located near Negley, according to the records, Camp 7 near West Point and Camp 8 near Gavers. Thompson said Bouquet left Pittsburgh in October 1764 with a force of 1,500 men, marching 130 miles into Indian territory.

It took the force 3 weeks to reach Coschocton, during which time they camped 16 times. Each camp was recorded as a number.

The club has obtained a metal detector which will be used in the search. The sites will be excavated if possible. Ray Simoni will operate the equipment.

Fund Drive's Mercantile Phase Begins

The second phase in the Community Fund campaign opened today with 34 workers in the Mercantile Division setting out to contact an estimated 2,000 employes and executives in 215 of the area's larger business establishments.

Headed by Donald B. Baxter, commercial sales representative for the Ohio Power Co., the division will solicit from eight commercial classifications. These will include larger retail stores, automotive concerns, insurance offices, construction companies, hotels and taverns, printing and photography firms, financial institutions and food stores.

Working supplies already have been issued to volunteers through five section Leaders, and include pledge cards, the familiar "red feathers" for donors to wear, posters for display on company bulletin boards and folders explaining the purpose of the drive. The folder, which includes a brief story concerning each of the six agencies participating in the Community Fund, also points up this year's drive slogan — "United At Home to Help Our Own".

In many larger business firms, employers held "store personnel meetings" this morning to emphasize the importance and the value of the fund and the agencies it serves. Chairman Baxter appeared at the meeting held in the D. M. Ogilvie store to explain procedures and objectives of the "Red Feather Kid Award" being given to firms who qualify for the "Hi Honor Club". Open to all firms employing five or more, the 2-foot-high "Kid" will go to establishments where 80 per cent or more employes give a minimum of $6 each to the fund.

Baxter's interest in Community Fund activities stems from his service with two fund agencies. He has worked several years in Boy Scouting and is immediate past chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board.

He is active, too, in other community organizations — a member and past president of the Lions Club; has served as chairman of the Red Cross campaign, and is now co-chairman of the Civic and Community Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. He and his family are members of the Trinity Presbyterian Church, where he serves as superintendent of the Youth Department and as an elder and member of the Session.

Section leaders and team captains assisting in the Mercantile Division include:

Delmas Sanford, Thurman Allen, Floyd Stansbury, Ted Robinson and Robert Gessford.

Richard Emmerling, A. L. White, Gordon Starkey, Harold Driggs, Robert Milby, Robert Sylvies, Gerald Gerber, Jack Gibson, E. H. Seiferth and Charles Haney.

Advice By The Pocketful

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Did there ever live a wife who didn't enjoy looking through her husband's pockets?

It is highly doubtful—not if she really loved him.

If you bring up this question at a social gathering, some lady is bound to declare in ringing tones: "I have been married 20 years, and never went through my husband's pockets once. Why, I wouldn't think of doing such a thing!"

When you hear a woman make a flat statement like that, you can figure, in most cases, that she ought to go right home and wash her mouth out with soap, her husband doesn't have any pockets or she never cared enough about him to look through his pockets.

The average husband may have been a green-eyed suitor during courtship, but after marriage he tends to take his wife for granted. When she objects to this, he tells her in wondering surprise, "Why shouldn't we take each other for granted? Didn't I stand up before the preacher man with you and make all them big vows? Didn't you make all them big vows, too?"

That settles the matter for him. The donning of the marital harness ends his doubt of her. Now and then he is startled into wonder by some feminine whim she demonstrates, but he decides philosophically that all women are like that. His basic curiosity about his wife is satisfied when she decides to spend her life with him.

The fact he has her love is enough for him.

He wouldn't think of secretly going through the handbag she carries in order to find clues to her inner life and her way of thinking.

Ask him why, and he'll probably reply: "It never occurred to me. If she has anything on her mind, she'll tell me—and not just once, either."

"Anyway, it would take a day to paw through all the junk she carries. The only thing I can't see is how a girl her size and weight can pack around all that trash without breaking her back."

But a woman, no matter how much her husband loves her, never quite loses her all-enveloping curiosity about him. She wants to know everything about him—from the callous on the sole of his foot to the dandruff in his thinning scalp.

Since a husband's grunts aren't very communicative, she likes to go through his pockets. "I had to empty them so I could send your suit to the cleaner," she explains carefully.

It isn't—after the first few years—that she mistrusts him and expects to find a love note proving he has a secret girl friend. It's just that the contents of his pockets tell her things about him she wants to know.

Does she find three packs of cigarettes? That means it's time for her to lecture him again on smoking too much.

What about this invitation to a friend's party next Tuesday? He had forgotten to tell her. They'd have missed it—if she hadn't decided to send his suit to the cleaners.

Why is he carrying these antiacid tablets? Is he afraid he's getting an ulcer and doesn't want to admit it? She'll insist he go to the doctor for a checkup.

A wife is a natural detective. The pockets of her husband tell her 101 little things about him that Sherlock Holmes couldn't guess—because she looks with the careful eyes of love.

The time for a husband to worry is when his wife quits going through his pockets. It might well mean she had lost her curiosity about him—and that's the worst sign of all.

For a woman who isn't curious about a man can hardly be in love with him.

Fire Hits Bakery At $175,000 Loss

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — The Vogelmann Bakery in downtown Newport was destroyed by fire Monday night, causing damage estimated unofficially at $175,000.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately. Grease and lard gave impetus to the blaze, firemen said. At times, the flames shot upward 200 feet.

The fire was held to the bakery, as firemen poured water on nearby buildings.

The rear portion of the roof collapsed, the walls on one side bulged, and the fire fighters could do little other than hold the flames to the one property.

An added danger was eliminated by a crew of Union Light, Heat and Power Co. workers who tied off electric lines. Fire Capt. Melvin Whisner said the wires carried at least 2,000 volts near the bakery.

One firemen was reported to have been injured slightly.

Thousands Still Off Jobs Despite Settlement At GE

NEW YORK (AP) — Several thousand workers are still off the job at various General Electric Co. plants around the country, despite the settlement of a three-week strike.

GE said full production and a return to work in most of the 55 struck plants could be expected by the end of the week. Some plants were partially idle because of shortages of materials, and because production lines take several days to get back into full swing.

The strike of about 7,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) was settled last Saturday after agreement was reached on a three-year contract, which included an immediate 3 per cent wage increase.

Workers were scheduled to return Monday, but pickets marched outside some GE plants. Many IUE men refused to cross the picket lines.

About 12,000 employes, mostly IUE production workers, at two plants in Lynn, Mass., and one in Everett, Mass., refused to cross picket lines of the American Federation of Technical Engineers, which represents about 1,100 draftsmen and planning men.

He served as school superintendent from 1913 until his retirement in 1942. The Board of Education honored him in 1950 by naming a junior high school after him.

Lodge Proposes U.N. Fund Project To Avert Tensions

DETROIT (AP) — The United Nations should "undertake a program, solidly financed, to prevent international tension and also to eliminate economic and social shortcomings in underdeveloped countries," Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice-presidential candidate said here Monday.

Lodge, a former U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, made his proposal in a speech at a ceremony inaugurating United Nations Week in Detroit. It was one of a series of speeches Lodge made in his campaign tour of the Wayne County area.

Lodge called on the United States to help expand U. N. efforts toward a better world with "active support and initiative."

He said the U. N. program should be a followup to what he called the provenly successful International Geophysical Year, the World Refugee Year and President Eisenhower's food-for-peace program.

Such efforts, he said, would strengthen the United Nations against the "brazen attempts" of the Communists to destroy the world organization.

Fund Drive's Mercantile Phase Begins

The second phase in the Community Fund campaign opened today with 34 workers in the Mercantile Division setting out to contact an estimated 2,000 employes and executives in 215 of the area's larger business establishments.

Headed by Donald B. Baxter, commercial sales representative for the Ohio Power Co., the division will solicit from eight commercial classifications. These will include larger retail stores, automotive concerns, insurance offices, construction companies, hotels and taverns, printing and photography firms, financial institutions and food stores.

Working supplies already have been issued to volunteers through five section Leaders, and include pledge cards, the familiar "red feathers" for donors to wear, posters for display on company bulletin boards and folders explaining the purpose of the drive. The folder, which includes a brief story concerning each of the six agencies participating in the Community Fund, also points up this year's drive slogan — "United At Home to Help Our Own".

In many larger business firms, employers held "store personnel meetings" this morning to emphasize the importance and the value of the fund and the agencies it serves. Chairman Baxter appeared at the meeting held in the D. M. Ogilvie store to explain procedures and objectives of the "Red Feather Kid Award" being given to firms who qualify for the "Hi Honor Club". Open to all firms employing five or more, the 2-foot-high "Kid" will go to establishments where 80 per cent or more employes give a minimum of $6 each to the fund.

Baxter's interest in Community Fund activities stems from his service with two fund agencies. He has worked several years in Boy Scouting and is immediate past chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board.

He is active, too, in other community organizations — a member and past president of the Lions Club; has served as chairman of the Red Cross campaign, and is now co-chairman of the Civic and Community Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. He and his family are members of the Trinity Presbyterian Church, where he serves as superintendent of the Youth Department and as an elder and member of the Session.

Section leaders and team captains assisting in the Mercantile Division include:

Delmas Sanford, Thurman Allen, Floyd Stansbury, Ted Robinson and Robert Gessford.

Richard Emmerling, A. L. White, Gordon Starkey, Harold Driggs, Robert Milby, Robert Sylvies, Gerald Gerber, Jack Gibson, E. H. Seiferth and Charles Haney.

Won't Go Down As Greatest . . .

The 1960 edition of the East Liverpool football team won't go down as the greatest in the school's history, but it has more scrap and desire than any Blue and White outfit we have watched on the local gridiron for some time.

It is a close-knit outfit and the harmony and morale among the players is high.

It was displayed again Friday in the Potter dressing room after ELHS had defeated Struthers, 28-0.

Glenn Mays, the Potter guard who was ejected from the game following a brief brawl, told coach Lou Venditti when asked if he was tossed out: "Yes I was thrown out," but he quickly added, "Two of them (meaning Struthers players) had Kenny (Cunningham) down and I had to help him out."

Mays did too, wading into an unidentified Struthers player as both teams broke into a free-for-all.

This incident demonstrates that the 1960 squad is a team, playing for one another. They all went to bat for their quarterback, who took quite a beating.

BETTER lighting at the scoreboard end at Patterson Field might help pass receivers. Only one home game remains, but it is an important one with Alliance. Several lights are burned out on the last pole which lights the south end zone.

End Mike Geon, who missed a pass, brought the situation to attention after Friday's game. Mike wasn't making excuses, but said the ball was hard to see in that end of the field. There is quite a dark spot, especially in the left corner of the end zone.

THREE touchdown passes Friday gave Cunningham a total of 10 for the season. His batting average for passes completed stands at a very respectable 56 per cent.

In 108 attempts, he has completed 61 and should shoot over the 1,000-yard mark Saturday against Steubenville Central.

Through his passing, East Liverpool has gained 941 yards. Craig O'Neil, Cunningham's replacement, completed a pass against Struthers for 20 yards.

Palestine Back Gains Ground . . .

RON McLAUGHLIN of Beaver Local is still the district's scoring leader, but there has been some shuffling among the other top TD makers.

McLaughlin scored one touchdown in Beaver Local's 20-14 victory over Fairfield-Waterford to give him 16 touchdowns and 14 conversion points for a total of 110.

Wellsville's Roger Ours, shut out by Salem, slipped from second place into third and Jerry Bush of East Palestine moved into the runnerup spot.

Ours has 68 points, but Bush added two touchdowns and now shows 74.

Another big jump was made by Lisbon's Rick Bowling who has been running wild on the gridiron these past two weeks.

Bowling pulled into fourth place by scoring three touchdowns in his team's victory over Louisville. This gave him 9 TD's for the season and two extra points for 56. In his last two games he has scored 8 touchdowns and 48 points.

Rounding out the top six are Ron Janovec of Salem with 52 and Larry Webber of Fairfield-Waterford with 42.

East Liverpool's Cunningham has 40 points.

	TD's	Con.	Total
McLaughlin (BL)	16	14	110
Bush (E. Palestine)	10	14	74
Ours (Wellsville)	9	14	68
Bowling (Lisbon)	9	2	56
Janovec (Salem)	8	3	52
Webber (F-W)	6	6	42

Allen Hits On 18 Of 26 . . .

BERNIE Allen had his best day passing against the top ranked Iowa Hawkeyes. In 26 attempts, the East Liverpool quarterback completed 18 for 164 yards.

He passed for one Purdue touchdown, scored one himself and booted two extra points. Although his performance was outstanding, Purdue dropped a 21-14 thriller to the Hawkeyes.

NICK MUSURACA, the Denison star scored two touchdowns as the Big Red rolled over Mt. Union 31-0.

Each Pirate Gets $8,417 From Series

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, baseball's latest team of destiny, finally have reached the point where they can pocket the profit of the World Series monies. One full share of destiny was worth $8,417.94, before taxes.

That was the figure announced Monday by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick. A full share of the losers' pool amounted to $5,214.64 for the New York Yankees.

The Bucs' bucks totaled $286,500.82 that was split into 33½ full shares divided among 38 persons — Manager Danny Murtaugh, players, coaches, their trainer and clubhouse attendant—and 12 cash awards totaling $4,500, divided among the bat boy, clubhouse assistants, the groundkeeper part-time players and batting practice pitcher Virgil Trucks.

The Yankees split their over-all take of $191,000.95 into 35 1-3 full shares, divided 41 ways and 11 cash awards totaling $6,750.

Thirty per cent of the players' pool is divided among the first division teams in the two leagues —the runners-up getting 15 per cent, the third-place clubs collecting 10 per cent and the fourth-place finishers getting 5 per cent.

That broke down to a full share of $1,527.75 for the Milwaukee Braves, $991.39 for the St. Louis Cardinals and $501.58 for the Dodgers, who placed two-three-four behind the Pirates in the National League. In the American, the Baltimore Orioles' full share was $1,564.68, the White Sox' $935.00 and the Cleveland Indians' $494.31.

OSU's Ferguson Holds Big 10 All Games Point Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Bruising Bob Ferguson of Ohio State maintained his Big Ten all-games football scoring lead this week by making two touchdowns in the 34-7 romp over Wisconsin last Saturday.

Ferguson now has nine touchdowns for the season and a total of 54 points. The Buckeye junior has a 12-point lead over runnerup Wilburn Hollis of Iowa. Hollis has seven touchdowns.

Tied for third are Jim Tiller of Purdue and Sandy Stephens of Minnesota, each with six touchdowns for 36 points.

A pair of kicking specialists who also play and score touchdowns follow the top four. Jim Rogers of Minnesota is fifth with 32 points on three touchdowns, one field goal and 11 extra points. Purdue's Bernie Allen has 30 points on two touchdowns, two field goals and twelve conversions.

Hungarian Grid Players Told To Love Opponents

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungarian footballers were told today they should learn to love their opponents, not call them dirty names.

The newspaper Nepsport said a Communist society expected certain rules of "human togetherliving" to be honored and those who broke them should be "re-educated."

Nepsport said it was all to frequent for one player tackling another to say "How are you, you . . ."

And for the other to reply: "I'm fine, you . . ."

The paper added far too many footballers who had been fairly tackled "played the moribund toreador like third-rate actors, writhing on the ground in sham agony while watching the referee through their fingers."

West Virginia Opens Duck, Geese Season

CHARLESTON (AP) — Hunters began firing away at duck, geese, brant and coot in West Virginia as the first section of split seasons on the waterfowl began.

The duck and coot hunt will close at sunset Nov. 5. It will reopen at noon Dec. 6 and extend to sunset next Jan. 7.

Geese and brant may be taken until sunset Nov. 14, with the second half of the season extending from noon Dec. 6 to sunset Jan. 7.

The shooting will be limited from a half hour before sunrise to sunset. The daily bag and possession limits have been set at three and six, respectively, for ducks; six and twelve for coots; two and four for geese, and eight and eight for brant.

Iowa Remains No. 1 Team With Ole Miss In Second

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Iowa continued as the No. 1 football team in the country for the second straight week in The Associated Press ratings today—and this time the Hawkeyes won going away.

When they took over as top kick last week, they nosed out Mississippi by just two points.

This week, they compiled 458 points to 395 for the Rebels. Thirty-four members of the 48-man voting board placed the Hawkeyes first. Nine others had Mississippi in first place and five awarded the No. 1 spot to Syracuse, which finished back in third place with 355 points.

The points were figured in the usual order of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second place and so on down the line. All told, only 19 teams received votes.

There was little change from last week's ratings because only one team in that first 10 lost. Purdue, which had held down the 10th spot, fell before Iowa, 21-14, and as a result bounced out of the select company.

Michigan State, on the basis of its 35-0 victory over Indiana, elbowed its way into the No. 10 position.

The leaders with first place votes in parentheses:

1.	Iowa (34)	458
2.	Mississippi (9)	395
3.	Syracuse (5)	355
4.	Navy	290
5.	Missouri	283
6.	Minnesota	267
7.	Baylor	191
8.	Ohio State	172
9.	Washington	76
10.	Michigan State	41

Others receiving votes included: Tennessee 37, Arkansas 15, Rice 11, Auburn 10, Purdue, Duke and Oregon State, 8 each; New Mexico State 5 and Kansas 2.

Free Sub Rules Will Be Used In Gator Bowl Game

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Gator Bowl football game Dec. 31 will be played under free substitution rules.

George Olsen, general manager of the Gator Bowl Association, today announced the plan to hold the game between college teams under professional rules.

"We would expect a more wide open offensive game with the players doing their specialties," Olsen said.

Several coaches have been outspoken this fall against the so-called wild card substitution rule which permits one player to enter at any time but still generally restricts entry and makes it necessary to coach players on both defense and offense.

Quality Of Student Athlete Reaches New All-Time High

By DAVID M. NELSON
Head Football Coach
University of Delaware (Written for The Associated Press)

Football in 1960 is a better game in every respect than at any time during its history.

The regulations of the conferences and other governing bodies have made the conduct of the game and the academic and eligibility requirements commensurate with the institutional setting.

This, coupled with pressure for better scholars brought about by the great influx of students and the sputnik influence, has brought the quality of the student athlete to an all-time high.

The actual playing and conduct of football is superior to anything we have known in the past because of time, money and effort.

Great coaches and players of the past would be outstanding and successful in this era but the number of men of equal quality is far greater today.

The modern coach has more assistants, spends the entire year with the game, has a single assignment and has access to information never available to former coaches. The enormous number of periodicals, manuals, books and clinics enable the coach in the smallest school to keep in step with the latest ideas in all aspects of the game.

There was a time, before television, game movies and clinics when a coach could use an offensive or defensive idea for several years without ever changing. Today a new idea, or the remedy for it, is spread over the entire country within a year.

A successful defense, or offense, seen on television will have the minds of all the coaches in the country working on a method to break it.

Lady Boosters See EL-Struthers Game On Screen

Movies of the East Liverpool-Struthers game and a talk by Coach Lou Venditti highlighted a meeting of the Potter Ladies Booster Club Monday night in the YMCA.

Brief business was conducted by Mrs. Alma Hall, president. The club is selling sofa pillows and hassocks to raise funds for athletic projects. The household items may be seen at the home of Mrs. Mary Burlingame of Riley Ave.

Twenty-two attended. The next meeting will be Monday night at 8 in the YMCA.

Salem Moves Into 8th; Beaver Local 19th, ELHS Is 20th

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lima Senior moved into the thick of the fight for Ohio's high school football championship today, banging into a second-place tie with Alliance's 1958 champions in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Massillon's defending champions, although held to a surprisingly low-scoring 16-6 victory over Mansfield's thrice-beaten Tigers not only clung to the top spot but increased their poll-point spread over the challengers.

A week ago the Tigers led Alliance by only 78 points, but it was up to 115 today as Leo Strang's powerhouse threatened to make a runaway of the race for the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy and the state title.

Lima Senior, with a rousing 34-14 win over rugged Middletown, went into the deadlock with Alliance after being 107 poll points back of the Aviators a week ago. Alliance handed Springfield South its second straight setback after 17 wins in a row to knock the Wildcats into tenth place.

Sandusky, grabbing a hatful of votes from the northwestern sector, picked up 51 poll points over last week's total to hold fourth place. The Sandusky club won 12 of the 41 first place votes, matching Massillon in that department. Sandusky whipped Lorain 44-0 last week.

Canton McKinley's Bulldogs ran into a 30-16 snag at the hands of Steubenville's Big Red and skidded out of the elite list. Salem's unbeaten Quakers, handing Wellsville its first loss by 10-0, jumped into the vacancy and took the ninth spot.

Marion Harding, 40-0 winner over Findlay, leaped over Cincinnati Roger Bacon to take fifth place, and Dayton Chaminade (35-0 over Dayton Belmont) and Niles McKinley (46-15 over Akron South) moved up a notch into seventh and eighth. Roger Bacon dropped Cincinnati Central 39-0.

From here and there: Charlie King scored all the points for Alliance in the 24-14 win over Springfield ... Dayton Colonel White has scored 870 points in six games, an average of 61.7, which could be tops in the state.

Martins Ferry now has 17 in a row, and hasn't been beaten in the last 20 ... Parma's 20-odd game winning streak ended 8-0 at the hands of East Cleveland Shaw.

Niles McKinley scored three touchdowns in three minutes against Akron South in a big second quarter ... Morris Gullion of Portsmouth East scored five touchdowns for the second straight week as the river city team made it seven straight by 81-0 over Piketon.

Mike Woloshak, Jackson-Milton junior tackle, booted a 45-yard field goal against West Branch ... Lowellville, after blanking five foes in a row, gave up a touchdown in the 24-8 win over McDonald.

Rutland of Meigs County, under 1959 Class A coach of the year Jim Vennari, was beaten 24-14 by McArthur to end a 21-game winning streak. Crooksville of the Muskingum Valley League finally surrendered a touchdown in the 46-7 win over Maysville, but leads the opposition 218.7. Unbeaten Athens (6-0) has matched the 218 total, but has allowed 20.

Kenton, unbeaten in six games, played once-tied St. Marys for the Western Buckeye title Friday night. When it was over Kenton had lost it 50-6.

Lima Senior's Tom Barrington, who failed to score in the first four games, has nine touchdowns in the last three — including four against Middletown. Marion Harding's 140-pound Bob Holmes gained 162 yards rushing and scored twice against Findlay.

Massillon's Bob Baker grabbed Mansfield's first punt and rambled 80 yards to score. Three of the Tiger ball-carrying aces are out with injuries, but the team continues to roll.

Salem, winner of a dozen straight, has blanked five of its seven foes this year.

Wonder why Sandusky is getting all that recognition? In building up the seven-game winning streak the lakefront team has blanked the opposition in 21 of the last 22 quarters. Ben Espy, half of "Bruce's Gallopin' Gooses" has gained 1,031 net yards rushing, 88 more than all seven opponents, and has scored 102 points. Judge Scruggs, with 697 yards, has a 9.3 average which matches Espy. Earle Bruce, former Ohio Stater who went to Sandusky from Salem, is in his first year as coach.

Cardington won its 19th straight, 52-12 over Miami Valley, as Doug Click scored 20 to hike his year's output to 120 points.

Hamilton Catholic had trouble with Oxford Talawanda, but won 14-12 for its 18th in a row as Jim Korb, Hamilton fullback, was held scoreless for the first time in 16 contests.

Mount Vernon's Steve Speaks, a 140-pounder, had never started on offense until the Mounts met Whitehall last week. The southpaw pitcher scored on 68 and 16-yard runs, gained 107 yards in seven tries, completed five passes for 93 yards, and won the tilt 20-0.

Fredericktown and Centerburg, both with clean records, met Friday. Fredericktown was behind 6-8 and had the ball on its own 2-yard line in the fourth quarter. Coach Joe Michael ordered an intentional savety, giving Centerburg two points. After the free kick the Freddies held, took over the ball and marchd 64 yards for a 14-10 conquest.

After 296 minutes of scoreless football, Elyria finally got into the point column for a 28-8 win over Fremont Ross. Kenny Cunningham, East Liverpool quarterback, passed for three touchdowns and ran for the fourth in the win over Struthers.

Won't Go Down As Greatest . . .

The 1960 edition of the East Liverpool football team won't go down as the greatest in the school's history, but it has more scrap and desire than any Blue and White outfit we have watched on the local gridiron for some time.

It is a close-knit outfit and the harmony and morale among the players is high.

It was displayed again Friday in the Potter dressing room after ELHS had defeated Struthers, 28-0.

THREE touchdown passes Friday gave Cunningham a total of 10 for the season. His batting average for passes completed stands at a very respectable 56 per cent.

In 108 attempts, he has completed 61 and should shoot over the 1,000-yard mark Saturday against Steubenville Central.

Through his passing, East Liverpool has gained 941 yards. Craig O'Neil, Cunningham's replacement, completed a pass against Struthers for 20 yards.

Palestine Back Gains Ground . . .

RON McLAUGHLIN of Beaver Local is still the district's scoring leader, but there has been some shuffling among the other top TD makers.

McLaughlin scored one touchdown in Beaver Local's 20-14 victory over Fairfield-Waterford to give him 16 touchdowns and 14 conversion points for a total of 110.

Wellsville's Roger Ours, shut out by Salem, slipped from second place into third and Jerry Bush of East Palestine moved into the runnerup spot.

Ours has 68 points, but Bush added two touchdowns and now shows 74.

Another big jump was made by Lisbon's Rick Bowling who has been running wild on the gridiron these past two weeks.

Bowling pulled into fourth place by scoring three touchdowns in his team's victory over Louisville. This gave him 9 TD's for the season and two extra points for 56. In his last two games he has scored 8 touchdowns and 48 points.

Rounding out the top six are Ron Janovec of Salem with 52 and Larry Webber of Fairfield-Waterford with 42.

East Liverpool's Cunningham has 40 points.

McLaughlin (BL)	16	14	110
Bush (E. Palestine)	10	14	74
Ours (Wellsville)	9	14	68

BERNIE Allen had his best day passing against the top ranked Iowa Hawkeyes. In 26 attempts, the East Liverpool quarterback completed 18 for 164 yards.

He passed for one Purdue touchdown, scored one himself and booted two extra points. Although his performance was outstanding, Purdue dropped a 21-14 thriller to the Hawkeyes.

Each Pirate Gets $8,417 From Series

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, baseball's latest team of destiny, finally have reached the point where they can pocket the profit of the World Series monies. One full share of destiny was worth $8,417.94, before taxes.

That was the figure announced Monday by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick. A full share of the losers' pool amounted to $5,214.04 for the New York Yankees.

The Bucs' bucks totaled $288,-889.82 that was split into 33¼ full shares divided among 28 persons — Manager Danny Murtaugh, players, coaches, their trainer and clubhouse attendant—and 12 cash awards totaling $4,589, divided among the bat boy, clubhouse assistants, the groundkeeper part-time players and batting practice pitcher Virgil Trucks.

The Yankees split their over-all take of $191,869.95 into 25 1-3 full shares, divided 41 ways and 11 cash awards totaling $6,750.

Thirty per cent of the players' pool is divided among the first division teams in the two leagues —the runners-up getting 15 per cent, the third-place clubs collecting 10 per cent and the fourth-place finishers getting 5 per cent.

That broke down to a full share of $1,527.75 for the Milwaukee Braves, $991.39 for the St. Louis Cardinals and $501.50 for the Dodgers, who placed two-three-four behind the Pirates in the National League. In the American, the Baltimore Orioles' full share was $1,564.66, the White Sox' $935.80 and the Cleveland Indians' $494.21.

OSU's Ferguson Holds Big 10 All Games Point Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Bruising Bob Ferguson of Ohio State maintained his Big Ten all-games football scoring lead this week by making two touchdowns in the 34-7 romp over Wisconsin last Saturday.

Ferguson now has nine touchdowns for the season and a total of 54 points. The Buckeye junior has a 12-point lead over runnerup Wilburn Hollis of Iowa. Hollis has seven touchdowns.

Tied for third are Jim Tiller of Purdue and Sandy Stephens of Minnesota, each with six touchdowns for 36 points.

A pair of kicking specialists who also play and score touchdowns follow the top four. Jim Rogers of Minnesota is fifth with 32 points on three touchdowns, one field goal and 11 extra points. Purdue's Bernie Allen has 30 points on two touchdowns, two field goals and twelve conversions.

Hungarian Grid Players Told To Love Opponents

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungarian footballers were told today they should learn to love their opponents, not call them dirty names.

The newspaper Nepsport said a Communist society expected certain rules of "human togetherliving" to be honored and those who broke them should be "re-educated."

Nepsport said it was all to frequent for one player tackling another to say "How are you, you . . ."

And for the other to reply: "I'm fine, you . . ."

The paper added far too many footballers who had been fairly tackled "played the snarling toreador like third-rate actors, writhing on the ground in sham agony while watching the referee through their fingers."

Syracuse In No. 3 Spot

Iowa Remains No. 1 Team With Ole Miss In Second

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Iowa continued as the No. 1 football team in the country for the second straight week in The Associated Press ratings today—and this time the Hawkeyes won going away.

When they took over as top kick last week, they nosed out Mississippi by just two points.

This week, they compiled 458 points to 395 for the Rebels. Thirty-four members of the 48-man voting board placed the Hawkeyes first. Nine others had Mississippi in first place and five awarded the No. 1 spot to Syracuse, which finished back in third place with 355 points.

The points were figured in the usual order of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second place and so on down the line. All told, only 19 teams received votes.

There was little change from last week's ratings because only one team in that first 10 lost. Purdue, which had held down the 10th spot, fell before Iowa, 21-14, and as a result bounced out of the select company.

Michigan State, on the basis of its 35-0 victory over Indiana, elbowed its way into the No. 10 position.

The leaders with first place votes in parentheses:

1.	Iowa (34)	458
2.	Mississippi (9)	395
3.	Syracuse (5)	355
4.	Navy	299
5.	Missouri	283
6.	Minnesota	267
7.	Baylor	191
8.	Ohio State	172
9.	Washington	76
10.	Michigan State	41

Others receiving votes included: Tennessee 27, Arkansas 15, Rice 11, Auburn 10, Purdue, Duke and Oregon State, 8 each; New Mexico State 5 and Kansas 2.

Free Sub Rules Will Be Used In Gator Bowl Game

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Gator Bowl football game Dec. 31 will be played under free substitution rules.

George Olsen, general manager of the Gator Bowl Association, today announced the plan to hold the game between college teams under professional rules.

"We would expect a more wide open offensive game with the players doing their specialties," Olsen said.

Several coaches have been outspoken this fall against the so-called wild card substitution rule which permits one player to enter at any time but still generally restricts entry and makes it necessary to coach players on both defense and offense.

Quality Of Student Athlete Reaches New All-Time High

By DAVID M. NELSON
Head Football Coach
University of Delaware (Written for The Associated Press)

Football in 1960 is a better game in every respect than at any time during its history.

The regulations of the conferences and other governing bodies have made the conduct of the game and the academic and eligibility requirements commensurate with the institutional setting.

This, coupled with pressure for better scholars brought about by the great influx of students and the sputnik influence, has brought the quality of the student athlete to an all-time high.

The actual playing and conduct of football is superior to anything we have known in the past because of time, money and effort.

Great coaches and players of the past would be outstanding and successful in this era but the number of men of equal quality is far greater today.

The modern coach has more assistants, spends the entire year with the game, has a single assignment and has access to information never available to former coaches. The enormous number of periodicals, manuals, books and clinics enable the coach in the smallest school to keep in step with the latest ideas in all aspects of the game.

There was a time, before television, game movies and clinics when a coach could use an offensive or defensive idea for several years without ever changing. Today a new idea, or the remedy for it, is spread over the entire country within a year.

A successful defense, or offense, seen on television will have the minds of all the coaches in the country working on a method to break it.

Salem Moves Into 8th; Beaver Local 19th, ELHS Is 20th

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lima Senior moved into the thick of the fight for Ohio's high school football championship today, banging into a second-place tie with Alliance's 1958 champions in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Massillon's defending champions, although held to a surprisingly low-scoring 16-6 victory over Mansfield's thrice-beaten Tigers not only clung to the top spot but increased their poll-point spread over the challengers.

A week ago the Tigers led Alliance by only 78 points, but it was up to 115 today as Leo Strang's powerhouse threatened to make a runaway of the race for the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy and the state title.

Lima Senior, with a rousing 34-14 win over rugged Middletown, went into the deadlock with Alliance after being 107 poll points back of the Aviators a week ago. Alliance handed Springfield South its second straight setback after 17 wins in a row to knock the Wildcats into tenth place.

Sandusky, grabbing a hatful of votes from the northwestern sector, picked up 51 poll points over last week's total to hold fourth place. The Sandusky club won 12 of the 41 first place votes, matching Massillon in that department. Sandusky whipped Lorain 44-0 last week.

Canton McKinley's Bulldogs ran into a 20-16 snag at the hands of Steubenville's Big Red and skidded out of the elite list. Salem's unbeaten Quakers, handing Wellsville its first loss by 10-0, jumped into the vacancy and took the ninth spot.

Marion Harding, 40-0 winner over Findlay, leaped over Cincinnati Roger Bacon to take fifth place, and Dayton Chaminade (35-0 over Dayton Belmont) and Niles McKinley (46-15 over Akron South) moved up a notch into seventh and eighth. Roger Bacon dropped Cincinnati Central 20-0.

From here and there: Charlie King scored all the points for Alliance in the 24-14 win over Springfield ... Dayton Colonel White has scored 870 points in six games, an average of 61.7, which could be tops in the state.

Martins Ferry now has 17 in a row, and hasn't been beaten in the last 20 ... Parma's 20-odd game winning streak ended 8-0 at the hands of East Cleveland Shaw.

Niles McKinley scored three touchdowns in three minutes against Akron South in a big second quarter ... Morris Gullion of Portsmouth East scored five touchdowns for the second straight week as the river city team made it seven straight by 81-0 over Piketon.

Mike Weloshak, Jackson-Milton junior tackle, booted a 45-yard field goal against West Branch ... Lowellville, after blanking five foes in a row, gave up a touchdown in the 34-8 win over McDonald.

Rutland of Meigs County, under 1959 Class A coach of the year Jim Vennari, was beaten 26-14 by McArthur to end a 21-game winning streak. Crooksville of the Muskingum Valley League finally surrendered a touchdown in the 46-7 win over Maysville, but leads the opposition 210-7. Unbeaten Athens (6-0) has matched the 210 total, but has allowed 20.

Kenton, unbeaten in six games, played once-tied St. Marys for the Western Buckeye title Friday night. When it was over Kenton had lost it 30-6.

Lima Senior's Tom Barrington, who failed to score in the first four games, has nine touchdowns in the last three — including four against Middletown. Marion Harding's 180-pound Bob Holmes gained 162 yards rushing and scored twice against Findlay.

Massillon's Bob Baker grabbed Mansfield's first punt and rambled 80 yards to score. Three of the Tiger ball-carrying aces are out with injuries, but the team continues to roll.

Salem, winner of a dozen straight, has blanked five of its seven foes this year.

Wonder why Sandusky is getting all that recognition? In building up the seven-game winning streak the lakefront team has blanked the opposition in 21 of the last 22 quarters. Ben Espy, half of "Bruce's Gallopin' Gooses" has gained 1,031 net yards rushing, 88 more than all seven opponents, and has scored 102 points. Judge Scruggs, with 697 yards, has a 9.3 average which matches Espy. Earle Bruce, former Ohio Stater who went to Sandusky from Salem, is in his first year as coach.

Cardington won its 19th straight, 52-12 over Miami Valley, as Doug Click scored 20 to hike his year's output to 120 points.

Hamilton Catholic had trouble with Oxford Talawanda, but won 14-12 for its 18th in a row as Jim Korb, Hamilton fullback, was held scoreless for the first time in 16 contests.

Mount Vernon's Steve Speaks, a 140-pounder, had never started on offense until the Mounts met Whitehall last week. The southpaw pitcher scored on 68 and 16-yard runs, gained 107 yards in seven tries, completed five passes for 93 yards, and won the tilt 20-0.

Fredericktown and Centerburg, both with clean records, met Friday. Fredericktown was behind 6-0 and had the ball on its own 2-yard line in the fourth quarter. Coach Joe Michael ordered an intentional safety, giving Centerburg two points. After the free kick the Freddies held, took over the ball and marched 64 yards for a 14-10 conquest.

After 296 minutes of scoreless football, Elyria finally got into the point column for a 28-0 win over Fremont Ross. Kenny Cunningham, East Liverpool quarterback, passed for three touchdowns and ran for the fourth in the win over Struthers.

Brown Plans To Stay With Same Lineup

CLEVELAND (AP) — One loss makes the outlook a lot less rosy for the Cleveland Browns, but Coach Paul Brown has no plan to tinker with a lineup that leads 12 other National Football League clubs in points scored and is the third stingiest in yielding points to opponents.

"We know we have some problems, particularly on defense, and we're trying to correct them," Brown said as he looked back on Sunday's 31-29 loss to the Philadelphia Eagles and ahead to next Sunday's game in Washington.

"We'd probably win 99 per cent of the games, playing the way we did Sunday. Buck Shaw was right when he said the Eagles were giving it the big effort. We seem to get everybody's Sunday punch."

Now that the Redskins have Ralph Guglielmi back to handle passing, Washington is a "good football team," Brown said. The Redskins had surprising ties with Pittsburgh and New York in their last two games.

The Giants play St. Louis, Eastern Conference last-placers, and the Eagles get the league bye this Sunday. A Browns' victory over Washington would tie them with Philadelphia at 4-1 and keep them in the three-way contention for the Eastern title.

"The Giants are in the driver's seat again," Brown said. "They have that strong defensive team back, and the majority of their games left are at home."

Arkansas' Center Earns Praise In Against Ole Miss

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' Wayne Harris is small for a college lineman, but Razorback Coach Frank Broyles says, "I don't see how anybody could be a better college football player."

Harris, a center and linebacker known for his hard tackles, earned that praise last Saturday against mighty Mississippi. Though the Rebels eked out a 10-7 victory, Harris keyed a stout Arkansas defense which allowed Ole Miss to start only eight plays in Razorback territory.

The 185-pound Harris uses speed and determination, plus an uncanny ability to get in on the tackle, to make up for any lack of size.

Against Mississippi he was in on almost half the tackles. He made six unassisted. Such defensive leadership is expected from Harris. Through the first six games he had a total of 35 tackles and 68 assists.

"I just try to hit them harder than they hit me and faster," he says. "If I don't they'll run right over me."

Layne Still Doubtful For Green Bay Contest

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five Pittsburgh Steelers who suffered injuries in Sunday's game with Washington are expected to play against Green Bay Sunday, Steeler officials say.

George Tarasovic and Rudy Hayes each sprained an ankle, Dick Moegle suffered a stoved hand and Ernie Stautner wrenched his back. Will Renfro dislocated a finger on the opening kickoff but returned later in the game.

Steeler officials said Monday it was too early to determine whether Bobby Layne will be able to operate as quarterback against Green Bay. Layne, who's nursing a stoved thumb, played only as a place-kicker last Sunday.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Iowa Football Coach Forest Evashevski, whose Hawkeye teams won Rose Bowl games twice in three years in the late 50s, had a date to address a doctors' meeting. He also had a cold and a temperature of 102 degrees.

He made the speech anyhow. He could have had medical attention promptly if he had needed it. But he urged the doctors to work with high school coaches in spotting athletic injuries which could be serious while appearing to be minor.

Air Force Team Smart

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — The Air Force Academy figures it has the smartest college football team in the nation — academically, at least.

"I never try to outsmart these fellows," says Martin, who was sixth in a class of 1,045 when he was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1945.

Umpiring Pays Well

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Umpires do almost as well as the players in a World Series. Four umpires received $4,000 each and the two foul line umpires got $2,000 apiece. Each umpire also received $30 a day for hotels and meals, plus $100 for incidentals during the entire series. Not bad for a fellow who need not open his mouth and needs only hands to motion each decision. Of course, they must have good eyes.

Musial Voted 1960 Comeback Player

By CHUCK CAPALDO
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—If Stan Musial has his wish, he'll make an even bigger comeback in 1961 than the one that earned him The Associated Press' National League Comeback Player of the Year award for 1960.

"I'd like to hit over .300 next season," the St. Louis Cardinals' all-time great said today, "and possibly play a little more. I wasn't a bit tired at the end of the season."

Musial, who will be 40 on Nov. 21, beat out teammate Curt Simmons by 11 votes Monday in the AP poll of baseball writers. Musial received 55 ballots, Simmons 44. Bob Friend of Pittsburgh was third with 30 and Richie Ashburn of Chicago fourth with 11. Another Cardinal, Ernie Broglio, rounded out the top five with 7 votes.

Musial got the nod for a mid-season spurt that carried him and the Redbirds into the higher echelons of the NL. Many thought Stan was washed up following the 1959 campaign when he fell off to .255—55 points below his previous career low. He worked hard during the winter, though, and set sail into '60 like the Musial of old.

In May, however, Stan sloughed off to .250 and was benched. Manager Sollie Hemus put him back in the lineup a month later when veteran outfielder Bob Nieman was injured. The Cards won 33 of their next 47 games. Stan's average jumped 80 points to .316.

He finished with a creditable .275 average, 17 homers and 63 RBI in 116 games. "It was a good, productive year," said Stan. The Cards wound up third.

On Sept. 15 Musial put an end to speculation he would retire by announcing he will play again next season. "I still love to play," he said.

Bellino Isn't Only Answer To Grid Success Of Navy

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

It takes much more than Joe Bellino to make a good football team, and that includes players like Joe Matalavage and Hal Spooner, too.

This trio forms the nucleus of a Navy football attack that has rolled to six consecutive victories, nine straight in two seasons, is currently ranked fourth nationally, and this week tackles Notre Dame in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium. A crowd of 90,000 is expected.

But there is more to success than meets the football eye, according to Naval Academy Athletic Director Asbury (Red) Coward, and he is backed up by Coach Wayne Hardin. Both would be the last in the world to sell the team down the Severn River, but they make valid points.

Coward sums it up under the title "3800 Blue and Gold Special." Not a train mind you, but what he calls the unity and esprit of the brigade of midshipmen.

"They have the highest unity and spirit that we've seen at Annapolis in a long, long time," he said today.

Coward said the brigade spirit has rubbed off on the team, which he called "a complete surprise. We knew we had a representative team, but never expected a 6-0 rcord."

After Navy upset the University of Washington, which Coward called "the bellweather of the season," Hardin paid tribute to the team effort.

"We have somebody out there besides Joe Bellino," Hardin said. "The Washington victory proved that. In 1959, when we lost a couple of ball games we needed that little extra but it wasn't there. This year we have it. We started with a name star, Bellino, but these kids have really come on their own."

But even with the team effort, Bellino is the outstanding Navy performer. He established a single season scoring record for the academy when he scored his 68th point in Navy's 27-0 victory over Penn last Saturday.

Indiana Back Shelved For Season By Injury

By The Associated Press

Wingback Richie Bradford has been lost to the Indiana University football team for the rest of the season. The senior squad captain from Lancaster, Ohio, suffered a broken arm in the loss to Michigan State last Saturday.

Also on the Midwest injury list is Michigan State's ace fullback Carl Charon. Sidelined with a wrenched knee, he is a doubtful starter in Saturday's televised game with Ohio State.

Notre Dame end Les Traver, from Alliance, Ohio, has been out of drills this week with an injury but is expected to play in the Navy game Saturday.

Athletics Pose Problem For AL Expansion

NEW YORK (AP) — American League club owners meet here Wednesday to consider expansion to 10 teams by 1962, but the problem of possible franchise shifts could postpone an announcement on which two cities will be added.

The key problem is Kansas City, where the A's are about to be sold. The new owners may want to move the club to Los Angeles, a prime target for the AL after the National's three years of success in California.

There also may be a rehash of a possible shift of the Washington Senators and perhaps of the Cleveland Indians as well.

If, as AL owners insist publicly, there are no problems over existing franchises, then Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas-Fort Worth probably will become the American's ninth and 10th teams. Several cities have applied for AL franchises, including Oakland and Toronto, but Minneapolis-St. Paul has a new stadium—long a lure for the Senators—and Dallas-Fort Worth offers the AL a chance to avoid a shutout in Texas such as the NL accomplished in California.

Houston's Smith Holds Rush Lead

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Houston's Dave Smith, for the seventh straight week, leads the American Football League in rushing.

The 204-pound fullback from Greendale, Wis., has carried 73 times for 304 yards and a 4.2 average. Alan Miller of Boston, with 265 yards on 47 carries and a 5.7 average, is second.

George Blanda, the passing and kicking specialist for Houston, retained his scoring lead. The Oiler quarterback has racked up 69 points on four touchdowns, 21 extra points and eight field goals.

Gene Mingo of Denver is second with 55 points.

Hayes Plans To Continue 'Take It Easy' Practice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State coach Woody Hayes said he is going to continue his "take it easy" practice schedule for the Buckeyes in preparation for the Saturday football meeting with Michigan State at East Lansing.

He said a similar schedule paid off last week in the smashing 34-7 defeat of Wisconsin. He had a lazy session late Monday, plans more rugged ones today and Wednesday but practically nothing Thursday and Friday.

Riding high on Ohio State's spectacular showing Saturday against the Badgers, Hayes in a masterpiece of understatement commented on the game: "Our over-all efficiency was very satisfactory." The Bucks won going away and knocked the defending Big Ten champion Badgers out of the running for a repeat title.

But Gene Fekete, former OSU assistant who has scouted Michigan State, had this warning for the game coming up: "The Spartans are a better team than last year, they've been beaten but once, and this is their homecoming. They'll be tough, but if we play a good game we figure to win it."

Thirst for vengeance may add something to the Spartan effort, for just a year ago Ohio State rose from the depths of its poorest campaign in more than a decade to nip Michigan State in a 30-24 thriller. The loss cost the Spartans the Big Ten championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Hayes discussed the new pass defense he used to halt Wisconsin's classy air attack by Ron Miller. He had his tallest linemen rushing the passer with hands held high, and they knocked down several tosses.

"Throwing against tall linemen is like trying to pass out of a basement window," Hayes said.

Then he grinned and observed:

"Next year's opening opponent, Texas Christian, has a quarterback who is 6-5. We'll think he's throwing them out of the attic."

Brown Plans To Stay With Same Lineup

CLEVELAND (AP) — One loss makes the outlook a lot less rosy for the Cleveland Browns, but Coach Paul Brown has no plan to tinker with a lineup that leads 12 other National Football League clubs in points scored and is the third stingiest in yielding points to opponents.

"We know we have some problems, particularly on defense, and we're trying to correct them," Brown said as he looked back on Sunday's 31-29 loss to the Philadelphia Eagles and ahead to next Sunday's game in Washington.

"We'd probably win 99 per cent of the games, playing the way we did Sunday. Buck Shaw was right when he said the Eagles were giving it the big effort. We seem to get everybody's Sunday punch."

Now that the Redskins have Ralph Guglielmi back to handle passing, Washington is a "good football team," Brown said. The Redskins had surprising ties with Pittsburgh and New York in their last two games.

The Giants play St. Louis, Eastern Conference last-placers, and the Eagles get the league bye this Sunday. A Browns' victory over Washington would tie them with Philadelphia at 4-1 and keep them in the three-way contention for the Eastern title.

"The Giants are in the driver's seat again," Brown said. "They have that strong defensive team back, and the majority of their games left are at home."

Arkansas' Center Earns Praise In Against Ole Miss

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' Wayne Harris is small for a college lineman, but Razorback Coach Frank Broyles says, "I don't see how anybody could be a better college football player."

Harris, a center and linebacker known for his hard tackles, earned that praise last Saturday against mighty Mississippi. Though the Rebels eked out a 10-7 victory, Harris keyed a stout Arkansas defense which allowed Ole Miss to start only eight plays in Razorback territory.

The 185-pound Harris uses speed and determination, plus an uncanny ability to get in on the tackle, to make up for any lack of size.

Against Mississippi he was in on almost half the tackles. He made six unassisted. Such defensive leadership is expected from Harris. Through the first six games he had a total of 35 tackles and 48 assists.

"I just try to hit them harder than they hit me and faster," he says. "If I don't they'll run right over me."

Layne Still Doubtful For Green Bay Contest

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five Pittsburgh Steelers who suffered injuries in Sunday's game with Washington are expected to play against Green Bay Sunday, Steeler officials say.

George Tarasovic and Rudy Rupes each sprained an ankle. Dick Moegle suffered a stoved hand and Ernie Stautner wrenched his back. Will Renfro dislocated a finger on the opening kickoff but returned later in the game.

Steeler officials said Monday it was too early to determine whether Bobby Layne will be able to operate as quarterback against Green Bay. Layne, who's nursing a stoved thumb, played only as a placekicker last Sunday.

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Iowa Football Coach Forest Evashevski, whose Hawkeye teams won Rose Bowl games twice in three years in the late 50s, had a date to address a doctors' meeting. He also had a cold and a temperature of 102 degrees.

He made the speech anyhow. He could have had medical attention promptly if he had needed it. But he urged the doctors to work with high school coaches in spotting athletic injuries which could be serious while appearing to be minor.

Air Force Team Smart

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — The Air Force Academy figures it has the smartest college football team in the nation — academically, at least.

"I never try to outsmart these fellows," says Martin, who was sixth in a class of 1,045 when he was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1945.

Umpiring Pays Well

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Umpires do almost as well as the players in a World Series. Four umpires received $4,000 each and the two full line umpires got $2,000 apiece. Each umpire also received $80 a day for hotels and meals, plus $400 for incidentals during the entire series. Not bad for a fellow who need not open his mouth and needs only hands to motion each decision. Of course, they must have good eyes.

Hayes Plans To Continue 'Take It Easy' Practice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State coach Woody Hayes said he is going to continue his "take it easy" practice schedule for the Buckeyes in preparation for the Saturday football meeting with Michigan State at East Lansing.

He said a similar schedule paid off last week in the smashing 34-7 defeat of Wisconsin. He had a lazy session late Monday, plans more rugged ones today and Wednesday but practically nothing Thursday and Friday.

Riding high on Ohio State's spectacular showing Saturday against the Badgers, Hayes in a masterpiece of understatement commented on the game: "Our over-all efficiency was very satisfactory." The Bucks won going away and knocked the defending Big Ten champion Badgers out of the running for a repeat title.

But Gene Fekete, former OSU assistant who has scouted Michigan State, had this warning for the game coming up: "The Spartans are a better team than last year, they've been beaten but once, and this is their homecoming. They'll be tough, but if we play a good game we figure to win it."

Thirst for vengeance may add something to the Spartan effort, for just a year ago Ohio State rose from the depths of its poorest campaign in more than a decade to nip Michigan State in a 30-24 thriller. The loss cost the Spartans the Big Ten championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Hayes discussed the new pass defense he used to halt Wisconsin's classy air attack by Ron Miller. He had his tallest linemen rushing the passer with hands held high, and they knocked down several tosses.

"Throwing against tall linemen is like trying to pass out of a basement window," Hayes said.

Then he grinned and observed:

"Next year's opening opponent, Texas Christian, has a quarterback who is 6-5. We'll think he's throwing them out of the attic."

Lakers' Home Debut Big Disappointment

It was the third consecutive defeat for Los Angeles, which has yet to win a game this season.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Moderator Comes Into His Own

The emergence of the "debate" as a popular TV pastime, a trend accelerated by the Nixon-Kennedy confrontations, has created a new demand for the TV moderator —or interlocutor — or arbiter — or whatever they call the referee of an argument in TV.

Marie Torre

The rise of the "debate" being a relatively recent TV development, there are no budding moderators of promise to meet the new opportuntiies. The result is that the veterans are being recalled. One of them is John K. M. McCaffery.

ALTHOUGH McCaffery has been sitting at a local NBC news desk for some time, 10 years ago he practiced the art of moderating (and it is an art, Virginia!) on the fondly remembered "Author Meets the Critics."

McCaffery left the program, which started out as a fairly serious attempt to assess books, when its perspective had been "broadened" to the point where it examined, in addition to books, plays, movies and even comic strips.

"The books we're discussing in no way resemble literature," Mr. McCaffery complained one day, whereupon he resigned and eventually turned up as a local news announcer on NBC.

There'll be no interruption in McCaffery's news broadcasts on Nov. 12 and thereafter, when he'll hold forth as moderator of "The Nation's Future," a Saturday night series of nationwide debates on vital issues which is reminiscent of the late George Denny's old radio show, "Americas Town Meeting of the Air."

THE COMING program will revive, as did "Town Meeting," our native tradition of a free and unfettered exchange of opposing views.

On the opening show, Dr. Edward Teller and Dr. Leo Szilard, two of the world's most distinguished nuclear scientists, will discuss whether disarmament is possible or desirable.

They will debate the issue and will answer questions from other outstanding scientists and from members of the press and public gathered in NBC studios in New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles.

This is an ambitious, demanding assignment for any moderator, but McCaffery is confident he can handle the task along with the nightly news.

"THE TWO ROLES mesh so well," he said. "I think, in fact, that the news broadcasts will enhance my role as moderator, give me a measure of authority. This is important, particularly since we'll be dealing with people of towering reputation on the show."

McCaffery says he might have balked at the idea of a Saturday night assignment back in the days when his family was intact.

"But only two of my four boys are at home now, and they'll probably enjoy making the trip to the city on Saturdays. It's a long trip, you know. My home in Washington, Conn., is 100 miles away from the city. We've been there 14 years and people still ask me why I live so far away.

"We moved there to get away from 3 and 4 a.m phone calls from authors. When writers have something to say, you know, they can't wait to say it.

"Well, we wanted to discourage those phone calls. We figured that if people have to call long distance, they'd only call when they have something important to say. How right we were!"

"CANDID CAMERA," with Arthur Godfrey, would appear to be the first big rating hit of the season. Having garnered high ratings since its inception a few weeks ago, "Candid Camera" drew a 51.3 share of the TV audience a week ago — or about as many if not more viewers than saw Nixon and Kennedy in their first TV encounter. The National Arbitron breakdown: "Camera," 30.3; Loretta Young, 12.1; "The Islanders," 15.3. . . .

Jack Benny's energies must be boundless this season. In addition to taking on a weekly Sunday night show, Benny will serve as host of a special musical program, "Remember How Great," on NBC, Feb. 9.

Soviets Train Algerians At 'Spy' School

BONN, Germany (AP)—The Soviet espionage service is training a great number of Algerians in a special spy and sabotage school in East Germany, Western intelligence officials said today.

The school is located near Fuerstenwalde, 60 miles east of Berlin, and is called Camp Molkenberg.

"Algerians are going in great numbers to East Germany, ostensibly to seek employment," the intelligence men said in an interview.

"Actually, they are received by Soviet officers and are taken to Camp Molkenberg. There they receive indoctrination in Communist ideology and concentrated training in espionage and sabotage.

The officials said that when the course is over—usually in about six month —the Algerians are sent back to West Germany.

Authorities estimate that between 3,000 and 5,000 Algerians are living in West Germany.

"Many of these have no steady jobs but make their living as thieves and procurers," the intelligence men said. They added that a number of the Soviet-trained Algerians are given specific missions, but many are "sleeper" agents who are called into action only in an emergency.

Officer Wounded While Seeking To Quiz Suspects

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A policeman shot in the stomach by one of two men he and his cruiser partner sought to question in a robbery attempt at a grocery store was reported in serious condition at St. Thomas Hospital today.

His partner, Patrolman John C. Lower, described the suspects as Negroes about 40 to 42 years old.

Police said the gunmen may have been wounded by one of Goch's shots. Shortly after the shooting, a woman led officers to a trail of blood in the area.

Goch and Lower were sent to the grocery after Dan Cianciola, 27, son of the store operator, reported he was hit on the head by one of two men during a robbery attempt. Cianciola told police he threw a bucket of vinegar at the robbers, hitting one of them, when they approached him in a garage at the rear of the store.

Goch and Lower stopped two men for questioning near the grocery and were searching them when Goch was shot.

Absentee Voters Decide To Wait Little Longer

"They said they wanted to think it over a few days longer," said Mrs. McDonough.

Awarded Contract

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—A West Virginia firm—G. S. Marple of Cowen—has been awarded a contract for construction of a trash boom at the Dillon (Ohio) Reservoir project on the Licking River. The U.S. Engineers said Marple submitted a bid of $20,445 for constructing the 1,900-foot boom which will be used to remove debris from water behind the dam.

Thousands Watch Titan Fired On Record 6,100-Mile Flight

Smooth recovery of the missile's data capsule at sea crowned the last scheduled test shot of the Titan "J" series. These intercontinental missiles are slated to become operational by next summer. Meanwhile, tests will begin on an "AJ" improved version of the Titan.

Monday night's flight from Cape Canaveral was the longest a Titan has made in 18 launchings the Air Force called successful. Its tactical-type nose cone splashed into the sea 1,100 miles southeast of Ascension Island. At 7:53 p.m., 97 minutes after the launch, the Air Force missile range vessel "Coastal Crusader" hoisted aboard the data capsule which was ejected from the nose cone after re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

The Titan's after-sunset takeoff punched a weird, luminous sky trail that thrilled spectators as far distant as Key West, more than 250 miles south of Cape Canaveral, and Savannah, Ga., 350 miles north of the cap.

The Titan made its longest previous flight Sept. 29 when it traveled 6,000 miles. It was intended to fly 10,000 miles to the Indian Ocean, but fell short because of premature cutoff of its first-stage engine. The shot Monday night was programmed for the 6,100-mile distance achieved.

The Titan's planned operational range is 6,325 miles. The first of 14 Titan bases is scheduled for readiness next summer at Lowry Air Froce Base, Denver, Colo.

Lisbon Area Man, 20, Sentenced In Burglary

LISBON — Richard E. Cusick, 20, of Lisbon R. D. 2 was sentenced to 1 to 15 years at the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Monday afternoon after his request for probation on a burglary charge was refused.

Judge Buzzard found Cusick's juvenile record "very poor" and also noted he has served two terms in the Boys Industrial School.

Ex-'Wild Man' Caught After Fleeing Jail

PULASKI, Va., (AP)—Onetime "wild man" Jackie Jennings was back in the hands of the law today after a jailbreak that brought him less than 36 hours of freedom.

The 19-year-old desperado and one of his three companions in the Sunday escape were caught late Monday by police who surprised them in a summer cabin on the shore of nearby Claytor Lake.

Jennings and Glenn Burlen Montgomery, 26, were flushed from their hideaway by police who invaded the cabin while the two were frying eggs. They tried to flee on foot but were captured in woods not far away.

State trooper Blane Huff, a relative of Jennings by marriage, placed the Pulaski youth under arrest.

Huff last April had risked his life to speak with Jennings while the young laborer, armed with a shotgun, held off besieging police at the home of his father-in-law. Jennings had barricaded himself in the house with his 10-year-old sister-in-law as hostage. Tear gas finally routed him from the residence and he was hauled, screaming, to jail.

Jennings last week was sentenced to prison terms totaling 34 years for his April 11-12 escapade.

Wellsville Begins Scout Fund Drive

Solicitation in Wellsville's Boy Scout fund drive started Monday and should be completed Wednesday night, according to James Laughlin and Donald Wellington, co-chairmen.

The annual drive is held to raise the community's share of support for the Columbiana Boy Scout Council as the town does not have a Community Fund appeal in which a number of agencies join.

An organizational meeting was held Sunday afternoon at Carnegie Public Library. Pledge cards were distributed to the team leaders. The solicitation will include the Hillcrest and Russell Heights areas in addition to the city proper.

Six "majors" are heading the teams. Each one named five "captains" who in turn selected their workers.

The majors are George Schneidmiller, Paul Waite, Jack Clark, Norman Brown, Fred Baldassare and Jack Lanam.

Officer's Suspicious Of Poker-Faced People

"I stopped them for a defective red light, and when I joked with them they didn't seem to think I was funny," he said of a recent arrest of two motorists.

The two turned out to be wanted on burglary charges.

"I watch a suspect's eyes," he says.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Moderator Comes Into His Own

The emergence of the "debate" as a popular TV pastime, a trend accelerated by the Nixon-Kennedy confrontations, has created a new demand for the TV moderator —or interlocutor — or arbiter — or whatever they call the referee of an argument in TV.

Marie Torre

The rise of the "debate" being a relatively recent TV development, there are no budding moderators of promise to meet the new opportuntiies. The result is that the veterans are being recalled. One of them is John K. M. McCaffery.

ALTHOUGH McCaffery has been sitting at a local NBC news desk for some time, 10 years ago he practiced the art of moderating (and it is an art, Virginia!) on the fondly remembered "Author Meets the Critics."

McCaffery left the program, which started out as a fairly serious attempt to assess books, when its perspective had been "broadened" to the point where it examined, in addition to books, plays, movies and even comic strips.

"The books we're discussing in no way resemble literature," Mr. McCaffery complained one day, whereupon he resigned and eventually turned up as a local news announcer on NBC.

There'll be no interruption in McCaffery's news broadcasts on Nov. 12 and thereafter, when he'll hold forth as moderator of "The Nation's Future," a Saturday night series of nationwide debates on vital issues which is reminiscent of the late George Denny's old radio show, "Americas Town Meeting of the Air."

THE COMING program will revive, as did "Town Meeting," our native tradition of a free and unfettered exchange of opposing views.

On the opening show, Dr. Edward Teller and Dr. Leo Szilard, two of the world's most distinguished nuclear scientists, will discuss whether disarmament is possible or desirable.

They will debate the issue and will answer questions from other outstanding scientists and from members of the press and public gathered in NBC studios in New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles.

This is an ambitious, demanding assignment for any moderator, but McCaffery is confident he can handle the task along with the nightly news.

"THE TWO ROLES mesh so well," he said. "I think, in fact, that the news broadcasts will enhance my role as moderator, give me a measure of authority. This is important, particularly since we'll be dealing with people of towering reputation on the show."

McCaffery says he might have balked at the idea of a Saturday night assignment back, in the days when his family was intact.

"But only two of my four boys are at home now, and they'll probably enjoy making the trip to the city on Saturdays. It's a long trip, you know. My home in Washington, Conn., is 100 miles away from the city. We've been there 14 years and people still ask me why I live so far away.

"We moved there to get away from 3 and 4 a.m phone calls from authors. When writers have something to say, you know, they can't wait to say it.

"Well, we wanted to discourage those phone calls. We figured that if people have to call long distance, they'd only call when they have something important to say. How right we were!"

"CANDID CAMERA," with Arthur Godfrey, would appear to be the first big rating hit of the season. Having garnered high ratings since its inception a few weeks ago, "Candid Camera" drew a 51.3 share of the TV audience a week ago — or about as many if not more viewers than saw Nixon and Kennedy in their first TV encounter. The National Arbitron breakdown: "Camera," 30.3; Loretta Young, 12.1; "The Islanders," 15.3. . . .

Jack Benny's energies must be boundless this season. In addition to taking on a weekly Sunday night show, Benny will serve as host of a special musical program, "Remember How Great," on NBC, Feb. 9.

Soviets Train Algerians At 'Spy' School

BONN, Germany (AP)—The Soviet espionage service is training a great number of Algerians in a special spy and sabotage school in East Germany, Western intelligence officials said today.

The school is located near Fuerstenwalde, 60 miles east of Berlin, and is called Camp Molkenberg.

"Algerians are going in great numbers to East Germany, ostensibly to seek employment," the intelligence men said in an interview.

"Actually, they are received by Soviet officers and are taken to Camp Molkenberg. There they receive indoctrination in Communist ideology and concentrated training in espionage and sabotage.

The officials said that when the course is over—usually in about six month —the Algerians are sent back to West Germany.

Authorities estimate that between 3,000 and 5,000 Algerians are living in West Germany.

"Many of these have no steady jobs but make their living as thieves and procurers," the intelligence men said. They added that a number of the Soviet-trained Algerians are given specific missions, but many are "sleeper" agents who are called into action only in an emergency.

Officer Wounded While Seeking To Quiz Suspects

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A policeman shot in the stomach by one of two men he and his cruiser partner sought to question in a robbery attempt at a grocery store was reported in serious condition at St. Thomas Hospital today.

His partner, Patrolman John C. Lower, described the suspects as Negroes about 40 to 42 years old.

Police said the gunmen may have been wounded by one of Goch's shots. Shortly after the shooting, a woman led officers to a trail of blood in the area.

Goch and Lower were sent to the grocery after Dan Cianciola, 27, son of the store operator, reported he was hit on the head by one of two men during a robbery attempt. Cianciola told police he threw a bucket of vinegar at the robbers, hitting one of them, when they approached him in a garage at the rear of the store.

Goch and Lower stopped two men for questioning near the grocery and were searching them when Goch was shot.

Absentee Voters Decide To Wait Little Longer

"They said they wanted to think it over a few days longer," said Mrs. McDonough.

Awarded Contract

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—A West Virginia firm—G. S. Marple of Cowen—has been awarded a contract for construction of a trash boom at the Dillon (Ohio) Reservoir project on the Licking River. The U.S. Engineers said Marple submitted a bid of $230,645 for constructing the 1,280-foot boom which will be used to remove debris from water behind the dam.

Thousands Watch Titan Fired On Record 6,100-Mile Flight

Smooth recovery of the missile's data capsule at sea crowned the last scheduled test shot of the Titan "J" series. These intercontinental missiles are slated to become operational by next summer. Meanwhile, tests will begin on an "AJ" improved version of the Titan.

Monday night's flight from Cape Canaveral was the longest a Titan has made in 18 launchings the Air Force called successful. Its tactical-type nose cone splashed into the sea 1,100 miles southeast of Ascension Island. At 7:53 p.m., 97 minutes after the launch, the Air Force missile range vessel "Coastal Crusader" hoisted aboard the data capsule which was ejected from the nose cone after re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

The Titan's after-sunset takeoff punched a weird, luminous sky trail that thrilled spectators as far distant as Key West, more than 200 miles south of Cape Canaveral, and Savannah, Ga., 200 miles north of the cap.

The Titan made its longest previous flight Sept. 20 when it traveled 6,000 miles. It was intended to fly 10,000 miles to the Indian Ocean, but fell short because of premature cutoff of its first-stage engine. The shot Monday night was programmed for the 6,100-mile distance achieved.

The Titan's planned operational range is 6,325 miles. The first of 14 Titan bases is scheduled for readiness next summer at Lowry Air Froce Base, Denver, Colo.

Lisbon Area Man, 20, Sentenced In Burglary

LISBON — Richard E. Cusick, 20, of Lisbon R. D. 2 was sentenced to 1 to 15 years at the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Monday afternoon after his request for probation on a burglary charge was refused.

Judge Buzzard found Cusick's juvenile record "very poor" and also noted he has served two terms in the Boys Industrial School.

Ex-'Wild Man' Caught After Fleeing Jail

PULASKI, Va., (AP)—Onetime "wild man" Jackie Jennings was back in the hands of the law today after a jailbreak that brought him less than 36 hours of freedom.

The 19-year-old desperado and one of his three companions in the Sunday escape were caught late Monday by police who surprised them in a summer cabin on the shore of nearby Claytor Lake.

Jennings and Glenn Burlen Montgomery, 26, were flushed from their hideaway by police who invaded the cabin while the two were frying eggs. They tried to flee on foot but were captured in woods not far away.

State trooper Blane Huff, a relative of Jennings by marriage, placed the Pulaski youth under arrest.

Huff last April had risked his life to speak with Jennings while the young laborer, armed with a shotgun, held off besieging police at the home of his father-in-law. Jennings had barricaded himself in the house with his 10-year-old sister-in-law as hostage. Tear gas finally routed him from the residence and he was hauled, screaming, to jail.

Jennings last week was sentenced to prison terms totaling 34 years for his April 11-12 escapade.

County Draft Dates Set

LISBON — Columbiana County Draft Board 16 will send 23 men to Cleveland Tuesday, Nov. 8, for pre-induction physicals and 13 for induction on Tuesday, Nov. 15, according to Mrs. Elaine Griffith, clerk of the board.

Land

When the tract is sold, it will include all of the board's property east of the present W. 4th St. Ext. and the present roadway will be moved about 75 feet to the west, clearing the way for a ramp onto the freeway for eastbound traffic from W. 8th St.

About two weeks is required by the department before a contract is awarded. A pre-construction conference between the contractor and highway department representatives generally is held a month later when plans are reviewed, he explained.

The conference enables the contractor to learn if all needed property has been acquired, where work can be started immediately and areas where he can work without interference, he said.

Traffic

Harold Cassidy of Glenmoor was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after a mishap that damaged his 1955 four-door sedan and a 1954 sedan operated by John O'Rourke, 1118 Main St., Wellsville.

Cassidy told police he was pulling onto Pennsylvania Ave. after leaving a nearby cafe on Harker Ave. O'Rourke, headed west on Pennsylvania Ave., said he was unable to halt in time to avoid a crash.

Meanwhile, William M. Jones, 57, of 2221 Harvey Ave. was fined on 2 charges today as the aftermath of a collision early Sunday on Pennsylvania Ave. near Boyce St.

He was fined $50 and costs for operating an auto without a driver's license and $5 and costs for driving left of the center line. Jones told Acting Judge Robert A. Kapp he has not had an operator's permit for four years.

William Buzzard, 2108 Pennsylvania Ave., told police his 1952 sedan was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle about 6:15 p. m. Monday while it was parked on Pennsylvania Ave. at Oakland Ave. Buzzard said there was damage to the left front fender and headlight of his auto.

Over 30 growers from the northeast part of the state attended the discussions on growing methods. James Pendry has been doing new things in the business, such as spraying with plastic to preserve the color of Scotch pine and introducing the beautiful new douglas fir, a species hard to grow. Other subjects were selection of stock, weed and brush control, pruning and the market of the trees.

This year the harvest of trees on the Pendry planting will include all species such as Norway and Colorado blue spruce, Scotch and white pine and Douglas fir. It is expected that several thousand trees will be selected for sale. These trees are cut close to Christmas so buyers will have fresh, homegrown trees.

Home And Sport Show Slated March 15-18 By City Jaycees

The dates were set and a new name selected for the Junior chamber of Commerce home show at a committee meeting Monday night with Richard Hunsicker of Wedgewood Ave., East End.

Delmar Manning, chairman, said the spring event is being enlarged considerably and will be known as the "Home and Sport Show."

It will be held March 15-18 at the former American Paper Products Co. building. Manning said the new name was selected because the show will include boating displays, which were not in the first show.

At least 55 booths and 4 display spaces for boat and marine dealers will be operated, he said.

The booths will measure 10-x-10-feet and will have cloth backgrounds and sides. A Canton firm has been contracted to erect the booths, set up the background and provide electrical outlets for lighting.

Although the hours have not been set definitely, they probably will be the same as before, 6 to 10:30 p. m., he said.

Manning said that all area merchants who had displays previously will be given the first opportunity to secure space. He said workers will start contacting various businesses in the near future. Anyone interested in obtaining space may contact Manning or any member of the committee. If more space is needed, the show will be enlarged again, he said.

Manning said that show patrons will be presented many gifts. The Jaycees also are planning various promotions for the show.

affidavit fixed the value of the gas at about $500.

Still sought on a warrant in connection with the thefts is Robert G. Deering, 401 Elizabeth St., identified as the owner of two camouflaged pickup trucks in which the gasoline was hauled to district service stations.

After Glover's arrest, a search warrant was obtained by Sgt. R. A. Jakmas and his State Highway Patrol investigative team and police searched the Expert Radiator Service, 115 E. 2nd St., which is operated by Deering, and a brick garage he rented at Market St. and Pink Ln.

Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi said 3 Army-type, 5-gallon gasoline cans were found in the radiator shop and a 1948 pickup truck with a hidden 300-gallon tank was found parked in Crook Alley near the building.

In the rented garage, the investigators found 3 more gasoline cans and a big tank, believed to hold 300 gallons, filled with fuel. The gasoline cans were confiscated but the tank was left at the garage, Radeschi said.

Board Wonders Why X-Ray Unit Is Skipping City

Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, said today Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive secretary of the County Public Health League, has been asked to tell the Health Board in writing why the mobile X-ray unit will not make its customary fall visit to East Liverpool this year.

Dr. Kuhlman said he wrote to Miss Schroeder, acting upon instructions given him by the Health Board at its meeting last week. He said Miss Schroeder advised him earlier by phone that the unit would not be in East Liverpool this fall. Normally, it comes here for free X-ray examinations in the spring and again in the fall—generally in the last week of October.

Dr. Kuhlman said he phoned Miss Schroeder about the unit's expected visit in order that he could alert the Ohio Power Co. to hook up its lines to supply current and advise the safety department that the big trailer would be parked on the Diamond.

Precinct Crews Get Instruction

The instructions emphasize that new Ohio residents who qualify to vote only in the Presidential election will not be permitted to cast ballots at the polls, Clerk Frank R. O'Hanlon said.

The new residents must vote in person at the Election Board's office not later than noon Nov. 4, the instructions emphasize. Persons who have resided in Ohio less than a year are permitted to vote only for president and vice president, provided they obtain a certification from the state in which they formerly resided that they were qualified voters when they left that state or would have been qualified if they had remained until Nov. 8.

Meanwhile, a total of 1,077 "early" ballots has been issued for the general election. They include 692 civilian absentee voters' ballots, 364 issued to service personnel and civilians residing temporarily outside the U. S. and 21 presidential ballots issued to new Ohio residents under the new law.

When the tract is sold, it will include all of the board's property east of the present W. 4th St. Ext. and the present roadway will be moved about 75 feet to the west, clearing the way for a ramp onto the freeway for eastbound traffic from W. 8th St.

About two weeks is required by the department before a contract is awarded. A pre-construction conference between the contractor and highway department representatives generally is held a month later when plans are reviewed, he explained.

The conference enables the contractor to learn if all needed property has been acquired, where work can be started immediately and areas where he can work without interference, he said.

Home And Sport Show Slated March 15-18 By City Jaycees

The dates were set and a new name selected for the Junior chamber of Commerce home show at a committee meeting Monday night with Richard Hunsicker of Wedgewood Ave., East End.

Delmar Manning, chairman, said the spring event is being enlarged considerably and will be known as the "Home and Sport Show."

It will be held March 15-18 at the former American Paper Products Co. building. Manning said the new name was selected because the show will include boating displays, which were not in the first show.

At least 55 booths and 4 display spaces for boat and marine dealers will be operated, he said.

The booths will measure 10-x-10-feet and will have cloth backgrounds and sides. A Canton firm has been contracted to erect the booths, set up the background and provide electrical outlets for lighting.

Although the hours have not been set definitely, they probably will be the same as before, 6 to 10:30 p. m., he said.

Manning said that all area merchants who had displays previously will be given the first opportunity to secure space. He said workers will start contacting various businesses in the near future. Anyone interested in obtaining space may contact Manning or any member of the committee. If more space is needed, the show will be enlarged again, he said.

Concession stands will be operated by the Jaycees and Jayceettes.

Manning said that show patrons will be presented many gifts. The Jaycees also are planning various promotions for the show.

Board Wonders Why X-Ray Unit Is Skipping City

Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner, said today Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive secretary of the County Public Health League, has been asked to tell the Health Board in writing why the mobile X-ray unit will not make its customary fall visit to East Liverpool this year.

Dr. Kuhlman said he wrote to Miss Schroeder, acting upon instructions given him by the Health Board at its meeting last week. He said Miss Schroeder advised him earlier by phone that the unit would not be in East Liverpool this fall. Normally, it comes here for free X-ray examinations in the spring and again in the fall—generally in the last week of October.

Dr. Kuhlman said he phoned Miss Schroeder about the unit's expected visit in order that he could alert the Ohio Power Co. to hook up its lines to supply current and advise the safety department that the big trailer would be parked on the Diamond.

Gas

affidavit fixed the value of the gas at about $500.

Still sought on a warrant in connection with the thefts is Robert G. Deering, 401 Elizabeth St., identified as the owner of two camouflaged pickup trucks in which the gasoline was hauled to district service stations.

After Glover's arrest, a search warrant was obtained by Sgt. R. A. Jakmas and his State Highway Patrol investigative team and police searched the Expert Radiator Service, 115 E. 2nd St., which is operated by Deering, and a brick garage he rented at Market St. and Pink Ln.

Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi said 3 Army-type, 5-gallon gasoline cans were found in the radiator shop and a 1948 pickup truck with a hidden 300-gallon tank was found parked in Crook Alley near the building.

In the rented garage, the investigators found 3 more gasoline cans and a big tank, believed to hold 300 gallons, filled with fuel. The gasoline cans were confiscated but the tank was left at the garage, Radeschi said.

Precinct Crews Get Instruction

The Columbiana County Election Board today mailed detailed instructions to the 912 appointees who will staff precincts at the Nov. 8 general election.

The instructions emphasize that new Ohio residents who qualify to vote only in the Presidential election will not be permitted to cast ballots at the polls, Clerk Frank R. O'Hanlon said.

The new residents must vote in person at the Election Board's office not later than noon Nov. 4, the instructions emphasize. Persons who have resided in Ohio less than a year are permitted to vote only for president and vice president, provided they obtain a certification from the state in which they formerly resided that they were qualified voters when they left that state or would have been qualified if they had remained until Nov. 8.

Meanwhile, a total of 1,077 "early" ballots has been issued for the general election. They include 682 civilian absentee voters' ballots, 364 issued to service personnel and civilians residing temporarily outside the U. S. and 21 presidential ballots issued to new Ohio residents under the new law.

West Virginia Named Site Of A-Coal Plant

CHARLESTON — West Virginia will be the site of a plant born of the nuclear age and perhaps just the shot in the arm the state's coal industry has been seeking.

The announcement was made Monday night by Gov. Cecil Underwood at a dinner of the Solid Fuels Conference here.

No specific location was cited, but the governor quoted a letter from Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton that the logical place would be in connection with the U.S. Bureau of Mines Appalachian Experiment Station in Morgantown.

The plant will gasify coal through the use of nuclear energy and will be a part of a federal government project known as "Turret."

The experiments, Underwood explained, has "led scientists to conclude that such a process can become practically possible and commercially feasible."

Underwood, in discussing the impact such a plant might have on West Virginia's depressed economy, said the gasification process "has implications for both new uses of coal and for the application of nuclear energy integrated with other fuels."

The process, he continued, would affect the coal industry, chemical and synthetic manufactures, "the economy of mining areas, the prosperity of West Virginia, the national fuels picture and even national survival."

Underwood said work toward getting project "Turret" started in West Virginia is underway but "the implications are too far-reaching to consider in one speech."

He said he would in the next few weeks make a series of speeches in which "Turret" would be considered as an overall program for the future of West Virginia.

Teen-Age Tall Girls Offered Secret

"If I stand up it makes me so tall," bemoaned a teen-age girl who is 5 feet 9 tall at age 15. Tall girls, tune in.

By Ida Jean Kain

First, let me pass along some assurance from tall girls who now glory in their height. "Tell your young teen-agers the only time they will mind being taller than average is in their early teens. In a couple of years, they'll like being tall."

Perhaps you won't believe a word of that promise. Here are some comforting statistics. Height-age charts reveal that girls between 11 and 14 are taller than boys their same age. But mark this, by the time the boys are 15 and 16, they are taller again. After 16, girls do not grow much taller. Boys grow in height until their early twenties. Your growth rate may vary from the average by one to three years.

IN THE IN-BETWEEN years, stand tall! Remember the story of the Ugly Duckling of Anderson's Fairy Tales? One duckling, being quite unlike the others in the brook, got a frightful inferiority complex and slunked away.

Finally he found out he was a swan, very beautiful and graceful, and then he came into his own and was happy.

Girls, you won't find out that your are beautiful and graceful, if you get an inferiority complex about your height. A wise grandmother gave her tall granddaughter a needed lift by suggesting that she say to herself ... "Somebody loves me, I'm beautiful, and I've got a secret!"

Hold that bump of self-esteem on the top of your head very high! You are a swan, not an Ugly Duckling.

Try an experiment. For one full week, act the part of a tall beauty. Think of yourself as being a tall, willowy model in the making. Sit, stand, walk, and move as if being tall were the very nicest thing that could have happened to you.

A movie starlet confided that she never knew the exciting difference confident posture could make until an eye - opening incident brought it to her attention. One evening she had gone into a restaurant in a tired, indifferent posture — and she didn't rate a glance.

The next day a director said to her, "You would be lovely if you stood up!" With that in mind, she walked into the restaurant beautifully erect, with her head high—and to her amusement, all eyes followed her.

THIS STARLET wore the same dress and had the same hair style on both occasions. The only change was her posture. "I knew then I would never slump again," she confided later to the director.

Girls, make up your mind never to slump again! To get on the beam, pull up-and-in with abdominal muscles and tuck the buttocks muscles down and under. Practice walking beautifully ... turn on the music and move to the strains of a Strauss waltz.

Council Airs Lisbon's Need Of 3-Mill Levy

LISBON — The village's need for a proposed 3 - mill levy on the Nov. 8 ballot was discussed by Council at a meeting Monday night.

Council said the some $18,000 which would be obtained annually under the 3-year measure would help provide operating funds to offset the average $23,000 the village formerly received from the mayors court before State Highway Patrol cases were switched to county courts.

The proposed levy would cost the average property owner between $1 and $1.20 a year, councilman said. The village had an operating levy at one time, but it was permitted to expire when receipts from the mayor's court grew from patrol cases.

In other action, Council authorized construction of a storm sewer and catch basin between W. Chestnut St. and W. High St. to eliminate a drainage problem caused at the rear of the St. George's Parish Hall by heavy rains.

The project will cost about $300. Council can obtain 12-inch pipe for $1.10 a section, and is assured of a right-of-way along the adjacent property of Tom Fife.

Council also made a public recommendation that children be permitted "trick or treat" forays for Halloween only on Friday, Saturday and Monday nights.

The request of Fire Chief Thirl Flugan for a ventilating fan for the fire department was turned down by Council, which explained no funds are available.

Council granted tentative approval to Carl N. Turk of Signal to cut curbing on W. Lincoln Way and N. Jefferson St. for driveways into a new supermarket building he is constructing. He was asked to put the request into writing.

The return of the village to Eastern Standard Time Sunday was authorized. The next meeting is Nov. 14.

Bringing Up A Family

Parents Warned Against Excess Giving

Over the years that I have written this column, often I have entreated parents not to give children all the things they want but don't necessarily need. I have said that no child can grow up with a strong character who is given practically everything he desires. This I have rarely emphasized in print or heard at PTA or teachers' conventions. So when I recently saw the headline in my paper, "Parents Warned on Excess Giving", I eagerly read the news item under it. It began: "The youngster who gets everything he wants was cited today as an example of what was called the nation's over-emphasis on materialism."

THE STORY reported a speech before the executive council session by Miss Sophie Jaffe, a sixth grade teacher from New Britain,, Connecticut, preceding the opening of the Convention of the American Federation of Teachers at Dayton, Ohio.

Miss Jaffe said that we have gone overboard on the idea that, by giving our children the best and the most, we are making of them happy, well-rounded, individuals who will grow up to be good adaptable citizens.

"After Christmas," she said "today's children want to tell about the presents they got. On school field trips, they brag about the money they spend. Even four-year-olds in nursery school are concerned with 'how much my dress cost' and 'my things are nicer than yours'."

SHE REMINDED us that children today have television sets in their bedrooms and carry transistor radios to school.

"Children must learn," she insisted, "as children, that one cannot have everything one wants; that money and material abundance are not the acme of American democracy."

Best of all, she implored teachers and other adults to shift back to "what is right and wrong", and to teach children proper values.

It's good to hear this coming from a teacher. I wish ever so many more teachers would say the like to parents whom they meet on the street, at social affairs, at church or PTA. Parents, especially young ones, usually listen with great respect to such advice from teachers.

My bulletins, "The Very Selfish Child and "Allowances", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

American Section Of Seaway To Close Nov. 30 For Winter

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — The American section of the St. Lawrence Seaway will close on Nov. 30 for the winter, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. said today.

The section was scheduled to close Nov. 30 last year, but remained in operation until Dec. 5.

The Welland Canal is scheduled to close Dec. 15 and the Sault Ste. Marie Canal on Dec. 12.

By the end of September, traffic on the seaway was up 11 per cent over 1959 figures.

In Hamilton, Ont., however, the president of the Great Lakes Waterways Development Association predicted that tonnage passing through the Welland Canal would be about 30 per cent below estimates.

Gen Howard D. Graham said tonnage passing through the canal last year was about 30 per cent below estimates and "it will be about the same again this year."

He told a National Planning Association conference Monday night that tolls on the canal would have to be increased if recent improvements were to be paid for during the next 50 years.

Any increase, he said, will be reflected in higher costs for steel, iron ore, coal, wheat, pulp and papers.

Cold Reduces Attendance At U.N. Parade

A chilled crowd estimated at 2,000 lined the center of the business district Monday night for a parade that highlighted East Liverpool's observance of United Nations Day—15th anniversary of the formation of the "world government" body.

Although the temperature was 38, gusty winds helped drive a chill through the crowd. Some spectators took refuge in their cars, as parking was not banned on the route. The parade required 11 minutes to pass a given point as it moved from Broadway west along E. and W. 5th Sts., north on Jefferson St. and then east on E. and W. 6th Sts. to disband.

Non-appearance of many listed entries cut into the parade's length. Their absence was replaced in part by many autos carrying placards of political candidates.

There were three musical units—the East Liverpool and Beaver Local High School Bands and the Shriners' Oriental Band. Marching units included a veterans' color guard and the drill team of the Job's Daughters Bethel.

A police escort led the parade, followed by members of the city administration and councilmen in autos. Civil Defense units entered a water rescue service DUKW, a police service station wagon and a rescue service panel truck.

Groups riding in autos included the East Liverpool Men's Republican Club, the local Men's and Women's Democratic Clubs and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. County Republican candidates rode on a placarded float. Asst. Chief James Pelley drove the fire department's station wagon.

Change In State Route Cleared For Car Show

Council enacted a resolution at a special session Monday night asking the State Highway Department to approve a temporary change in Route 39's path through downtown East Liverpool in connection with an auto show Nov. 3-5 in which a section of E. 5th St. will be closed to traffic.

Under the plan, westbound Route 39 traffic will be re-routed via Broadway, E. and W. 4th St. and Jefferson St. The westbound traffic normally follows E. and W. 5th St. Eastbound Route 39 traffic will not be affected, as it follows E. and W. 6th Sts.

Council approved the resolution unanimously. It will be forwarded to the Highway Department, which already has indicated its approval. The car show will be sponsored by the East Liverpool Merchants Association and franchised new car dealers, with about 75 new models on display on E. 5th between Market and Broadway.

Thieves Get Cash, Milk, Accessories In Car Lootings

A city man told police milk and cash was stolen from his car over the weekend while two other motorists reported the theft of accessories and a fourth said his rear window was shattered by an irate relative.

Worthy Varner, 626 Riley Ave., told police $22.70 in cash was stolen after a thief broke the lock on the glove compartment of his car while it was parked at the Buckeye Diner on E. 3rd St. early Sunday.

The thief also took four quarts of milk, he said.

Richard L. Nelson of Carnegie said he returned to his car parked on Minerva St. early Sunday after attending a wedding and found two fender skirts had been stolen.

Arthur Eccleston, 847 Baxter St., reported a disc-type hubcap was stolen from his car Sunday night while it was parked at Northside Ave. and Ceramic St.

Bill Legg, 137 W. 4th St., told officers the rear window of his 1950 sedan was shattered and the right rear fender dented by a rock hurled by his brother-in-law early Sunday.

New Breakdown Hits Bulldozer At City Dump

Another in a series of breakdowns has idled the bulldozer used to cover trash and garbage at the city's landfill dump in St. Clair Township, Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver reported to Council at its special session Monday night.

The director told council he has obtained estimates which show that $407 will be required for parts alone to put the machine back into operation. He called the bulldozer's function "a must," as the city is required by both county and state health regulations to cover the refuse regularly.

Copenhaver said the bulldozer has broken down on three or four previous occasions this year. He said the cost of repair parts this time may go as high as $600, as the bulldozer's tracks also need repair or replacement. He said city officials have thought of replacing the machine with an Army surplus bulldozer, but have been unable to locate one in any government depot. Council took the question under advisement.

One Of Ex-Most Wanted Killed In Jail Escape Bid

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Clarence Leon Raby, who became one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals after he shot and killed two men, was shot to death Monday night as he tried to shoot his way out of jail.

Raby, 27, was being held in Knox County Jail pending trial at nearby Clinton, Tenn., on two murder charges and two robbery charges.

Police said Raby called officers to his fourth floor cell on the pretense he wanted to make a statement in connection with another death in his case.

He pulled a gun on the unarmed pair and forced them and the jailer to get on an elevator—the only way out of the building.

Raby was shot down on the front lawn.

After 28 Years, New Probe Opens In Producer's Death

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After 28 years, the district attorney's office is again investigating the death of writer - producer Paul Bern, husband of the late Jean Harlow.

Bern's death in 1932 was listed officially as suicide. Miss Harlow died five years later, at 26, of uremic poisoning.

Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson said Monday a fresh inquiry is being made because writer Ben Hecht said in a recent magazine article that a suicide note reputedly left by the 42-year-old Bern was a forgery. Hecht charged that Bern was murdered by another woman, whom he did not name.

Hecht's article said film studio officials decided it was better that the public believe Bern killed himself than to let it be known that Miss Harlow could not keep her husband.

Bern and the actress were married July 2, 1932. Two months later Bern was found shot to death just outside the door of his bedroom in their Benedict Canyon home.

"When a writer of Ben Hecht's stature puts in public print without qualification that a murder has been committed, it is up to the district attorney's office to investigate the case, no matter how long ago it occurred," McKesson said.

At the time of Bern's death, Miss Harlow could give police no motive for suicide. The next day she tried to throw herself off a balcony, officers reported.

It was then discovered, police said, that Bern had for 10 years supported a woman whose maiden name was Dorothy Millette. A few days after Bern's death her body was found in a slough of the Sacramento River, officers said.

He said he would in the next few weeks make a series of speeches in which "Turret" would be considered as an overall program for the future of West Virginia.

Try an experiment. For one full week, act the part of a tall beauty. Think of yourself as being a tall, willowy model in the making. Sit, stand, walk, and move as if being tall were the very nicest thing that could have happened to you.

A movie starlet confided that she never knew the exciting difference confident posture could make until an eye - opening incident brought it to her attention. One evening she had gone into a restaurant in a tired, indifferent posture — and she didn't rate a glance.

The next day a director said to her, "You would be lovely if you stood up!" With that in mind, she walked into the restaurant beautifully erect, with her head high—and to her amusement, all eyes followed her.

THIS STARLET wore the same dress and had the same hair style on both occasions. The only change was her posture. "I knew then I would never slump again," she confided later to the director.

Girls, make up your mind never to slump again! To get on the beam, pull up-and-in with abdominal muscles and tuck the buttocks muscles down and under. Practice walking beautifully ... turn on the music and move to the strains of a Strauss waltz.

Council Airs Lisbon's Need Of 3-Mill Levy

LISBON — The village's need for a proposed 3 - mill levy on the Nov. 8 ballot was discussed by Council at a meeting Monday night.

Council said the some $18,000 which would be obtained annually under the 3-year measure would help provide operating funds to offset the average $23,000 the village formerly received from the mayors court before State Highway Patrol cases were switched to county courts.

The proposed levy would cost the average property owner between $1 and $1.20 a year, councilman said. The village had an operating levy at one time, but it was permitted to expire when receipts from the mayor's court grew from patrol cases.

In other action, Council authorized construction of a storm sewer and catch basin between W. Chestnut St. and W. High St. to eliminate a drainage problem caused at the rear of the St. George's Parish Hall by heavy rains.

The project will cost about $300. Council can obtain 12-inch pipe for $1.10 a section, and is assured of a right-of-way along the adjacent property of Tom Fife.

The transfer of $175 from the general fund to the swimming pool fund was authorized.

Council also made a public recommendation that children be permitted "trick or treat" forays for Halloween only on Friday, Saturday and Monday nights.

The request of Fire Chief Thirl Flugan for a ventilating fan for the fire department was turned down by Council, which explained no funds are available.

Council granted tentative approval to Carl N. Turk of Signal to cut curbing on W. Lincoln Way and N. Jefferson St. for driveways into a new supermarket building he is constructing. He was asked to put the request into writing.

The return of the village to Eastern Standard Time Sunday was authorized. The next meeting is Nov. 14.

Bringing Up A Family

Parents Warned Against Excess Giving

Over the years that I have written this column, often I have entreated parents not to give children all the things they want but don't necessarily need. I have said that no child can grow up with a strong character who is given practically everything he desires. This I have rarely emphasized in print or heard at PTA or teachers' conventions. So when I recently saw the headline in my paper, "Parents Warned on Excess Giving", I eagerly read the news item under it. It began: "The youngster who gets everything he wants was cited today as an example of what was called the nation's over-emphasis on materialism."

THE STORY reported a speech before the executive council session by Miss Sophie Jaffe, a sixth grade teacher from New Britain, Connecticut, preceding the opening of the Convention of the American Federation of Teachers at Dayton, Ohio.

Miss Jaffe said that we have gone overboard on the idea that, by giving our children the best and the most, we are making of them happy, well-rounded, individuals who will grow up to be good adaptable citizens.

"After Christmas," she said "today's children want to tell about the presents they got. On school field trips, they brag about the money they spend. Even four-year-olds in nursery school are concerned with 'how much my dress cost' and 'my things are nicer than yours'."

SHE REMINDED us that children today have television sets in their bedrooms and carry transistor radios to school.

"Children must learn," she insisted, "as children, that one cannot have everything one wants; that money and material abundance are not the acme of American democracy."

Best of all, she implored teachers and other adults to shift back to "what is right and wrong", and to teach children proper values.

It's good to hear this coming from a teacher. I wish ever so many more teachers would say the like to parents whom they meet on the street, at social affairs, at church or PTA. Parents, especially young ones, usually listen with great respect to such advice from teachers.

My bulletins, "The Very Selfish Child and "Allowances", may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Youngstown Man Cited In Fugitive Complaint

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Frank J. Karcher, 31, of Youngstown, Ohio, has been ordered held on $3,000 bond after he admitted in court that he is the person named in a fugitive complaint issued in Green Bay, Wis. A hearing has been set for Nov. 9.

Police said Karcher is wanted in Green Bay for violating terms of his parole. He had been convicted of taking a car without the owner's consent. Police said they learned Karcher was wanted in Green Bay after they arrested him for driving a car without a license.

After 28 Years, New Probe Opens In Producer's Death

LOS ANGELES (AP)—After 28 years, the district attorney's office is again investigating the death of writer - producer Paul Bern, husband of the late Jean Harlow.

Bern's death in 1932 was listed officially as suicide. Miss Harlow died five years later, at 26, of uremic poisoning.

Dist. Atty. William B. McKesson said Monday a fresh inquiry is being made because writer Ben Hecht said in a recent magazine article that a suicide note reputedly left by the 42-year-old Bern was a forgery. Hecht charged that Bern was murdered by another woman, whom he did not name.

Hecht's article said film studio officials decided it was better that the public believe Bern killed himself than to let it be known that Miss Harlow could not keep her husband.

Bern and the actress were married July 2, 1932. Two months later Bern was found shot to death just outside the door of his bedroom in their Benedict Canyon home.

"When a writer of Ben Hecht's stature puts in public print without qualification that a murder has been committed, it is up to the district attorney's office to investigate the case, no matter how long ago it occurred," McKesson said.

At the time of Bern's death, Miss Harlow could give police no motive for suicide. The next day she tried to throw herself off a balcony, officers reported.

It was then discovered, police said, that Bern had for 10 years supported a woman whose maiden name was Dorothy Millette. A few days after Bern's death her body was found in a slough of the Sacramento River, officers said.

American Section Of Seaway To Close Nov. 30 For Winter

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — The American section of the St. Lawrence Seaway will close on Nov. 30 for the winter, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. said today.

The section was scheduled to close Nov. 30 last year, but remained in operation until Dec. 5.

Willis Crosswhite, traffic service officer for the corporation, said the American section would close on time this year.

The Welland Canal is scheduled to close Dec. 15 and the Sault Ste. Marie Canal on Dec. 12.

Seaway officials anticipate an increase of possibly 15 per cent in tonnage carried through the inland waterway this year.

By the end of September, traffic on the seaway was up 11 per cent over 1959 figures.

In Hamilton, Ont., however, the president of the Great Lakes Waterways Development Association predicted that tonnage passing through the Welland Canal would be about 30 per cent below estimates.

Gen Howard D. Graham said tonnage passing through the canal last year was about 30 per cent below estimates and "it will be about the same again this year."

He told a National Planning Association conference Monday night that tolls on the canal would have to be increased if recent improvements were to be paid for during the next 30 years.

Any increase, he said, will be reflected in higher costs for steel, iron ore, coal, wheat, pulp and papers.

Cold Reduces Attendance At U.N. Parade

A chilled crowd estimated at 2,000 lined the center of the business district Monday night for a parade that highlighted East Liverpool's observance of United Nations Day—15th anniversary of the formation of the "world government" body.

Although the temperature was 50, gusty winds helped drive a chill through the crowd. Some spectators took refuge in their cars, as parking was not banned on the route. The parade required 11 minutes to pass a given point as it moved from Broadway west along E. and W. 5th Sts., north on Jefferson St. and then east on E. and W. 6th Sts. to disband.

Non-appearance of many listed entries cut into the parade's length. Their absence was replaced in part by many autos carrying placards of political candidates.

There were three musical units—the East Liverpool and Beaver Local High School Bands and the Shriners' Oriental Band. Marching units included a veterans' color guard and the drill team of the Job's Daughters Bethel.

A police escort led the parade, followed by members of the city administration and councilmen in autos. Civil Defense units entered a water rescue service DUKW, a police service station wagon and a rescue service panel truck.

Groups riding in autos included the East Liverpool Men's Republican Club, the local Men's and Women's Democratic Clubs and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. County Republican candidates rode on a placarded float. Asst. Chief James Pelley drove the fire department's station wagon.

One Of Ex-Most Wanted Killed In Jail Escape Bid

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Clarence Leon Raby, who became one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals after he shot and killed two men, was shot to death Monday night as he tried to shoot his way out of jail.

A deputy, Kenneth Milligan, was wounded as he shot it out with Raby in the jail's corridor.

Police were holding two women for investigation in connection with the break attempt.

Raby, 27, was being held in Knox County Jail pending trial at nearby Clinton, Tenn., on two murder charges and two robbery charges.

Police said Raby called officers to his fourth floor cell on the pretense he wanted to make a statement in connection with another death in his case.

He pulled a gun on the unarmed pair and forced them and the jailer to get on an elevator—the only way out of the building.

On the first floor, Raby got off the elevator, fired at other officers through the glass-partitioned jailer's office and ran toward the front of the building.

Raby was shot down on the front lawn.

Ex-U.S. Treasurer Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—H. Theodore Tate, 86, who served briefly as treasurer of the United States, died Sunday of injuries suffered in a fall Oct. 13. He was appointed treasurer on June 1, 1928 and resigned Jan. 17, 1929.

Atty. McCorkhill, 31, New Salem Solicitor

A Democrat, he succeeds Atty. James B. Primm, 34, Republican, who resigned under pressure last Thursday after the mayor charged him with gross neglect of duty.

Claims 2nd Victim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A two-car collision here Oct. 2 claimed its second victim Monday with the death in Grant Hospital of Miss Eloise Maynard, 21, of Columbus. The driver of the car in which she was riding, Merle W. Casebolt, 29, of Columbus, was killed in the crash.

Thieves Get Cash, Milk, Accessories In Car Lootings

A city man told police milk and cash was stolen from his car over the weekend while two other motorists reported the theft of accessories and a fourth said his rear window was shattered by an irate relative.

Worthy Varner, 626 Riley Ave., told police $22.70 in cash was stolen after a thief broke the lock on the glove compartment of his car while it was parked at the Buckeye Diner on E. 3rd St. early Sunday.

The thief also took four quarts of milk, he said.

Richard L. Nelson of Carnegie said he returned to his car parked on Minerva St. early Sunday after attending a wedding and found two fender skirts had been stolen.

Arthur Eccleston, 847 Baxter St., reported a disc-type hubcap was stolen from his car Sunday night while it was parked at Northside Ave. and Ceramic St.

Bill Legg, 137 W. 4th St., told officers the rear window of his 1950 sedan was shattered and the right rear fender dented by a rock hurled by his brother-in-law early Sunday.

Nurses Set Meeting

LISBON — County school and public health nurses will meet Wednesday at 1:45 p. m. at the County Health Department office at the Courthouse to hear a talk by Donald Campbell, health education director of the State Health Department in Columbus.

New Breakdown Hits Bulldozer At City Dump

Another in a series of breakdowns has idled the bulldozer used to cover trash and garbage at the city's landfill dump in St. Clair Township, Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver reported to Council at its special session Monday night.

The director told council he has obtained estimates which show that $497 will be required for parts alone to put the machine back into operation. He called the bulldozer's function "a must," as the city is required by both county and state health regulations to cover the refuse regularly.

Copenhaver said the bulldozer has broken down on three or four previous occasions this year. He said the cost of repair parts this time may go as high as $600, as the bulldozer's tracks also need repair or replacement. He said city officials have thought of replacing the machine with an Army surplus bulldozer, but have been unable to locate one in any government depot. Council took the question under advisement.

It is not know just how or when the Golden Rule in the Bible was first so-called. It is found in the English language as early as 1674, when it was cited in Murray's Oxford Dictionary.

Change In State Route Cleared For Car Show

Council enacted a resolution at a special session Monday night asking the State Highway Department to approve a temporary change in Route 39's path through downtown East Liverpool in connection with an auto show Nov. 3-5 in which a section of E. 5th St. will be closed to traffic.

Under the plan, westbound Route 39 traffic will be re-routed via Broadway, E. and W. 4th St. and Jefferson St. The westbound traffic normally follows E. and W. 5th St. Eastbound Route 39 traffic will not be affected, as it follows E. and W. 6th Sts.

Council approved the resolution unanimously. It will be forwarded to the Highway Department, which already has indicated its approval. The car show will be sponsored by the East Liverpool Merchants Association and franchised new car dealers, with about 75 new models on display on E. 5th between Market and Broadway.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

3 IN MEMORIAM

IN memory of our Dear Mother, Mrs. Lillie Mae Smith who died 3 years ago today Oct. 25, 1957. We did not know the pain you had or hear your final sigh. We only know you passed away without a last goodbye. Gone, Gone, forever. Now we miss your smiling face. But you left up to remember none on earth could take your place. A happy home we once enjoyed, how great the memory still, but death has left loneliness the world can never fill.
Sadly missed by Dad, Sons, and Daughters.

3 CARD OF THANKS

WE would like to thank all of those who aided and comforted us during the tragic loss of our husband and father, Willard Stephens. Special thanks to the Waugh Funeral Home, Rev. Hewitt and Rev. Johnston, and the many friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful.
Esther Stephens, sons and daughter.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm male, 30, educated, good-looking and successful in an interesting profession. I have a nice apartment, a sports car and a boat.

I dress well and do everything the ads say is important if one is to be accepted in polite society.

Dear No Luck: Some people are incapable of falling in love because they are already in love — with themselves

I am not being facetious. It's true — particularly with eligible males. Bachelors often get so wrapped up in themselves that no outsider can make a serious dent.

They have no sincere interest in loving, because loving means giving — and they are too selfish to give.

Sick, Sick, Sick

Dear Ann: My husband thinks he has a sharp sense of humor. I think he's nuts. Please tell me what to do about a 56-year-old man who behaves like an eighth-grade kid.

This is what he 's done in the past couple of years. I could go back to 1940 but it would take up the whole paper.

He put a fake spider down the front of a 200-pound woman at a cocktail party. She fainted dead away and they had to call an ambulance and take her to the hospital because she could not be revived at home.

This cost us $60 in ambulance fees, plus the doctor bill and hospitalization for one night. Needless to say we are no longer friends.

On our anniversary he got very plastered and gave his boss an exploding cigar. When the cigar went off the man's hands blew up, breaking his eyeglasses. This "hilarious joke" cost us $30. He was lucky not to lose his job, I might add.

Last night this big baby bought a rubber snake and put it in my mother's bed. She's not a well woman to begin with. We had to call the doctor to come over and give her a shot to quiet her nerves.

I am plenty fed up on his stunts. Why does he act so foolish and what can I do? — MARRIED TO A NUT.

Dear Married: Your husband is a childish character who knows of no better way to call attention to himself than by making someone the butt of a "joke."

Causing people pain and humiliation is not humor, it's an act of cruelty. His adult body is housing a sick mind. He needs professional help.

Burning Question

Dear Ann: I'm a 16-year-old girl whose parents won't let me grow up. I would like a simple answer to a simple question. You can skip the morality lecture. It doesn't enter into this problem.

All the girls in our crowd smoke. Do you think I should smoke in front of my parents even though they don't like it — or should I sidestep a lot of trouble by hiding the cigarettes and smoking behind their backs? — OVER - PROTECTED.

Dear Over-Protected: I don't think a 16-year-old girl should be smoking either in front of her parents or behind their backs. It adds nothing and it could be harmful. (Millions of very nice people don't smoke.)

I'm leaving morality out of this —as you suggested. From the physical point of view it's just not smart.

Heel With Spikes

Dear Ann: It's late to be getting into the high-heeled-pointed - shoe rhubarb but I, for one, would like to know who is the woman-hating sadist who invented high heels? — MR. ?

Dear Mr. ?: According to Christopher Morley, high heels were invented by a woman—who was kissed on the forehead.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Youth, Boy Hurt Playing Football

John Gallagher, 20, of 1025 Hazel St. suffered an injury to the knee, and John Zubay, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zubay of Shadyside Ave., received a rib injury.

Edward Brown, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown of Wellsville R. D. 1, was treated for a laceration of the scalp received in a fall at home.

2 To Attend Convention

WEIRTON — Mrs. Howard Lydick, president, and Mrs. M. R. Marsh, treasurer, of the Hancock County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., will attend the state convention Friday and Saturday at Wilson Lodge at Oglebay Park in Wheeling. They were named delegates last month.

Memorable Birthday Observed By Girl, 12

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) — Young Margaret Rowell of Methuen won't forget her 12th birthday party.

Margaret was thrown from her bicycle when a piece of wood got tangled in the spokes. X-rays indicated a broken jaw, so Margaret went on a liquid diet.

Home's Children To Be Guests Of Church Members

Interested families may contact Larry Barker, Box 307, Zelienople.

Rev. Servey said new members will be received into the church late in November or early December.

Arrangements have been made for fire drill practices to be held during Sunday school due to crowded conditions. William Wentz, superintendent, will time the drills. Rev. Servey today attended sessions of the West Conference of the Pittsburgh Synod in the Oak Grove church in South Zelienople.

"Revenue Agents," plus another action film, will be shown from 6:45 to 10 Friday night in the Fellowship Hall.

Church members will attend the Reformation Rally to be held Sunday at 8 p. m. in the Grace church in Rochester.

The Church Council will meet Tuesday. Nov. 1, at 8 p. m. in the pastor's study. Choir rehearsal will be held Wednesday night at 8 and the Confirmation Class will meet Thursday night at 6:30.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm male, 30, educated, good-looking and successful in an interesting profession. I have a nice apartment, a sports car and a boat.

I dress well and do everything the ads say is important if one is to be accepted in polite society.

Dear No Luck: Some people are incapable of falling in love because they are already in love — with themselves

I am not being facetious. It's true — particularly with eligible males. Bachelors often get so wrapped up in themselves that no outsider can make a serious dent.

They have no sincere interest in loving, because loving means giving — and they are too selfish to give.

Sick, Sick, Sick

Dear Ann: My husband thinks he has a sharp sense of humor. I think he's nuts. Please tell me what to do about a 56-year-old man who behaves like an eighth-grade kid.

This is what he 's done in the past couple of years. I could go back to 1940 but it would take up the whole paper.

He put a fake spider down the front of a 200-pound woman at a cocktail party. She fainted dead away and they had to call an ambulance and take her to the hospital because she could not be revived at home.

This cost us $80 in ambulance fees, plus the doctor bill and hospitalization for one night. Needless to say we are no longer friends.

On our anniversary he got very plastered and gave his boss an exploding cigar. When the cigar went off the man's hands blew up, breaking his eyeglasses. This "hilarious joke" cost us $30. He was lucky not to lose his job, I might add.

Last night this big baby bought a rubber snake and put it in my mother's bed. She's not a well woman to begin with. We had to call the doctor to come over and give her a shot to quiet her nerves.

I am plenty fed up on his stunts. Why does he act so foolish and what can I do? — MARRIED TO A NUT.

Dear Married: Your husband is a childish character who knows of no better way to call attention to himself than by making someone the butt of a "joke."

Causing people pain and humiliation is not humor. It's an act of cruelty. His adult body is housing a sick mind. He needs professional help.

Burning Question

Dear Ann: I'm a 16-year-old girl whose parents won't let me grow up. I would like a simple answer to a simple question. You can skip the morality lecture. It doesn't enter into this problem.

All the girls in our crowd smoke. Do you think I should smoke in front of my parents even though they don't like it — or should I sidestep a lot of trouble by hiding the cigarettes and smoking behind their backs? — OVER - PROTECTED.

Dear Over-Protected: I don't think a 16-year-old girl should be smoking either in front of her parents or behind their backs. It adds nothing and it could be harmful. (Millions of very nice people don't smoke.)

I'm leaving morality out of this —as you suggested. From the physical point of view it's just not smart.

Heel With Spikes

Dear Ann: It's late to be getting into the high-heeled-pointed - shoe rhubarb but I, for one, would like to know who is the woman-hating sadist who invented high heels? — MR. ?

Dear Mr. ?: According to Christopher Morley, high heels were invented by a woman—who was kissed on the forehead.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Youth, Boy Hurt Playing Football

John Gallagher, 20, of 1025 Hazel St. suffered an injury to the knee, and John Zubay, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zubay of Shadyside Ave., received a rib injury.

Edward Brown, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown of Wellsville R. D. 1, was treated for a laceration of the scalp received in a fall at home.

2 To Attend Convention

WEIRTON — Mrs. Howard Lydick, president, and Mrs. M. R. Marsh, treasurer, of the Hancock County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., will attend the state convention Friday and Saturday at Wilson Lodge at Oglebay Park in Wheeling. They were named delegates last month.

Memorable Birthday Observed By Girl, 12

Margaret was thrown from her bicycle when a piece of wood got tangled in the spokes. X-rays indicated a broken jaw, so Margaret went on a liquid diet.

Home's Children To Be Guests Of Church Members

Youngsters of the Lutheran Children's Home at Zelienople will be weekend guests at homes of members of the Onio View Lutheran Church in a long-range program to give them an experience of private home atmosphere, the Rev. James N. Servey, pastor, announced.

Interested families may contact Larry Barker, Box 307, Zelienople.

Rev. Servey said new members will be received into the church late in November or early December.

Arrangements have been made for fire drill practices to be held during Sunday school due to crowded conditions. William Wentz, superintendent, will time the drills. Rev. Servey today attended sessions of the West Conference of the Pittsburgh Synod in the Oak Grove church in South Zelienople.

"Revenue Agents," plus another action film, will be shown from 6:45 to 10 Friday night in the Fellowship Hall.

Church members will attend the Reformation Rally to be held Sunday at 8 p. m. in the Grace church in Rochester.

The Church Council will meet Tuesday, Nov. 1, at 8 p. m. in the pastor's study. Choir rehearsal will be held Wednesday night at 8 and the Confirmation Class will meet Thursday night at 6:30.
